Wayfinder Corsair Campaign Setting & Rulebook

Chapter 1: Campaign Framework

The World: The Shattered Expanse

Nearly 800 years ago came The Sundering Tide. No one knows exactly what happened—whether the gods went to war, an elder civilization awakened something beneath the crust, or the oceans became sentient. The world shattered into tens of thousands of islands. New islands emerge, entire nations drift, and maps are never permanent.

Only about 35% of the world's oceans have reliable charts. The rest is The Unwritten Sea.

Core Campaign Blend

This campaign is an exploration sandbox blending “Age of Sail” themes with “High Fantasy” elements: - The Uncharted Ocean (40%): The world is not fully known. Maps are wrong. The primary gameplay loop is Rumor → Expedition → Discovery → Map → Route → Trade → Conflict. - The Great Magical Trade Network (35%): The economic engine. Discoveries matter because new resources (e.g., Moon Coral) create trade opportunities, drawing merchants, pirates, and governments. - The Pirate Renaissance (20%): Pirates are the first people willing to go where governments cannot. The era creates factions—traditional raiders, pirate nobility, independent explorers. - The Underdark Ocean (15%): A massive subterranean ecosystem containing ancient cities, drowned kingdoms, and alien ecosystems like the Aboleth Archives and Drow courts. - The Lost Civilization Mystery (100% Underlying Engine): Why are oceans unexplored? Because someone made them unexplorable. Everything connects back to The First Captains.

The First Captains

The original explorers. The first people to bond with ships and spirits. They mastered the connection between Arcane, Psionics, Spirits, and the Ocean. At some point in history, they vanished.

[!NOTE] Level 20 Capstone Quest: Upon reaching level 20, a Wayfinder is offered a legendary quest to “Restore the First Captains.” This world-altering choice asks the player to restore, replace, hide, or release the greatest explorers in history.

The Four Magic Systems

Magic enhances naval warfare rather than replacing it. Ships remain the kings of warfare. 1. Arcane (The Pact): Traditional magic and warlock pacts. Power borrowed from sea devils, leviathans, living storms, or star beings. “I borrowed power from something older than the world.” 2. Psionics (The Mind): Power originating from consciousness itself. Some surface kingdoms fear it; the greatest psionic cities lie beneath the earth. “I discovered that my own consciousness is a weapon.” 3. Spirit (The Tide): Primal sea magic. Not worship, but alignment with the ocean’s natural order. “I learned the hidden laws of the sea itself.” 4. Deep Magic: Predates all three. It changes gravity, distance, probability, and time. It is the source of many impossible places and artifacts.

Major Factions

The ocean is a deeply political ecosystem: - The Free Captains Alliance (Blackwake Harbor): A pirate frontier valuing exploration and independence. - The Grand Merchant Consortium (Port Meridian): A neutral trade power that doesn’t own the city, just everything inside it. - The Crimson Dominion (The Crimson Citadel): A wealthy arcane empire built on slavery, magical superiority, and the exploitation of conquered peoples. They view Wayfinders and new routes as economic threats. - The Drowned Silk Houses (Nymorath Deep Harbor): An ancient Drow Underdark Ocean civilization. They raid the surface for resources, ancient claims, and political warfare. They remember the First Captains. - The Spirit Keepers (The Last Harbor): A hidden sanctuary of guardians preserving old traditions, Navigator Spirits, and First Captain lore. - Independent Salvagers (Salvager’s Haven): A frontier port of wreck hunters, explorers, and forgotten discoveries.

Chapter 2: Starting Origins

Every Wayfinder campaign begins with a shipwreck. The party does not start with a ship; they start with survival.

The Tide’s Choice

There are two opening methods to determine where and how the players begin their adventure.

Method A: The Captain’s Choice

“I chose where I wanted to go. The sea decided how I arrived.”

The player chooses their Home Port and starting faction environment. The sea (via random dice rolls or GM selection) determines: - Shipwreck Cause - Rescue Vessel - Rescue Circumstances - Initial Reputation

Method B: The Sea’s Choice

“I surrendered my destination, but I wrote my legend.”

The player rolls randomly for their Home Port, letting fate decide their starting faction, local allies, and initial enemies. In return, the player chooses: - Shipwreck Cause - Rescue Vessel - Arrival Circumstance

Shipwreck Causes

The reason the ship went down shapes the player's initial mystery and backstory. Causes include: - Leviathan attack - Magical storm / Psionic distortion - Drow naval assault / Crimson Dominion experiment - Pirate battle / Mutiny / Betrayal - Ancient defense system activated - Underdark Ocean current breach / Planar ocean anomaly - Ship vanished and reappeared damaged

Rescue Vessels & Circumstances

The rescuers do not necessarily know they are rescuing someone important. The ship that pulls you from the water determines your first relationship and faction tie.

Rescuer Options

- Blackwake Connection: A pirate exploration vessel hunting for treasure.
- Port Meridian Connection: A merchant expedition charting routes.
- Crimson Dominion Connection: A slaver/arcane vessel that recognizes something unusual about your survival.
- Drow Connection: Drow scouts drifting near an Underdark Ocean route.
- Spirit Keeper Connection: A vessel guided by spirits, deliberately looking for you.
- Salvager Connection: Wreck hunters where you are just another survivor.

Arrival Circumstances

How you are treated on the rescue ship heavily influences your arrival at the Home Port: - Honored Guest: Treated well. - Prisoner: Rescued, but questioned and held under suspicion. - Debt Owed: Saved, but expecting repayment. - Mystery Passenger: The crew does not understand why you survived. - Prophecy/Recognition: Someone on the ship knows exactly what you are.

Chapter 3: Races & Transformations

While the campaign setting supports many races across the Shattered Expanse, the example base race for this specific Wayfinder is the Tideborn Pixie. However, characters do not stay “just” their starting race. As they explore the oceans, they undergo the Fey Transformation System, accumulating templates that reflect the magic, ruins, and pacts they encounter.

Base Race: Tideborn Pixie

“A Pixie born from ocean currents, ancient routes, and the forgotten magic between shores.”

Type: Fey (Small) Speed: 20 ft. Land / 60 ft. Fly (Good) / 30 ft. Swim (Good) Ability Adjustments: Str -4, Dex +8, Int +6, Wis +4, Cha +8

Racial Traits: - Tideborn Amphibious Nature: Ignores underwater movement penalties and natural ocean terrain penalties. Can breathe underwater 1 hr/HD/day (permanent at 5 HD). - Fey Sight: Low-light vision. Spirit Sight: Detect Fey/Spirits/Magical Residue at will (30 ft. range). - Fey Magic: Original 3.0 Pixie Spell-Like Abilities. - Polymorph: The original 3.0 Pixie Polymorph ability (self only). Start with one power: Detect Psionics, Far Hand, or Minor Metamorphosis.

The Fey Transformation System

Players may acquire transformations during their journeys. These are not simply chosen from a menu; they are earned or inflicted by the world.

Chapter 4: The Wayfinder Class

Class Chassis

Hit Die: d8 Alignment: Any Class Skills: 8 + Int modifier per level. (Balance, Bluff, Concentration, Craft (Ships), Decipher Script, Diplomacy, Gather Information, Handle Animal, Intimidate, Knowledge (Arcana/Geography/History/Local/Nature/Psionics/Religion), Profession (Sailor), Search, Sense Motive, Spellcraft, Spot, Survival, Swim, UMD, UPD). Base Attack Bonus: Medium (+15 at Level 20). Saving Throws: Good Reflex and Will, Poor Fortitude. Weapon & Armor Proficiency: Simple weapons, martial light weapons, rapier, cutlass, hand crossbow, shortbow, longbow, firearms. Light armor (Medium at level 5), shields (except tower).

The Threefold Magic Systems

The Wayfinder progresses in three magical paths simultaneously. 1. The Pact (Arcane): Warlock chassis. Uses Charisma. Eldritch Armament (can manifest Eldritch Blast through a weapon, harpoon, pistol, or standard blast) and Invocations. 2. The Mind (Psionic): Psion chassis (half-progression, max 6th-level powers). Uses Charisma. Gains Power Points and discovers powers. 3. The Tide (Spirit): Custom Spirit Shaman+ chassis. Full 1-9 spell progression but spells must be discovered/learned via the Captain's Log instead of prepared from a deity.

Lore-Caster (The Fusion Engine)

Instead of preparing spells, the Wayfinder uncovers Wayfinding Lore—an accumulated understanding of the world. - Level 7 (Arcane-Psionic Fusion): Combine a spell and a power into one action (e.g., Fireball + Telekinesis = Moving Flame Sphere). - Level 10 (Threefold Awakening - Triune Casting): 1/day, combine a Spell, a Power, and a Spirit Ability to open new paths to unseen locations. - Level 17 (Reality Navigation): You do not teleport; you discover a path through solid fog, magical barriers, or impassable storms. - Level 20 (Creator of Paths): Create permanent routes, impossible trade lanes, and open new ocean passages.

The Navigator Spirit

At level 1, the Wayfinder awakens a personal spirit companion—the “mirror” of the captain. 1. Origin Seed: Choose the spirit's foundational nature (e.g., Ancient Navigator, Stormborn, Abyssal, Leviathan, Ancestor Captain, Ghost Fleet). 2. Seed Benefit: A deliberate expression of the spirit (e.g., Storm Sense, Lost Routes, Deep Survival). 3. Random Traits: Roll 2d100 for an Innate Trait and an Emergent Trait (e.g., Ancient Memory, Hates Calm Waters, Echo of Darkness). 4. Evolution: The spirit evolves at levels 5, 10, 15, and 20 based on the captain's actions (e.g., Guardian Aspect, Sage Aspect, Dominator Aspect, Pathfinder Aspect). At level 20, it becomes the embodiment of your legend.

The Living Ship Bond

The ship is your second character. It advances through Vessel Tiers via Wayfinder level, Chronicle Achievements, and Physical Transformation. - Tier 0 (Mortal Ship): Normal vessel with maintenance costs. - Tier 1 (Claimed Vessel - Lvl 3): Ship recognizes you. You sense its condition. - Tier 2 (Awakened Vessel - Lvl 6): Gains intelligence/personality. Becomes an Arcane, Psionic, or Tide vessel. - Tier 3 (Legendary Vessel - Lvl 10): Threefold Keel. Can install Arcane, Psionic, and Tide upgrades (e.g., Eldritch Cannons, Psychic Helm, Storm Calling). - Tier 4 (Mythic Vessel - Lvl 15): Requires rare materials (dragon bone, deep crystal). Gains traits like Ghost Ship or World Sailor. - Tier 5 (Path-Maker Vessel - Lvl 20): Creates permanent passages through reality. The ship changes the map of the world.

Captain's Techniques

In addition to their magical and vessel progression, a Wayfinder gains Captain's Techniques at levels 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, and 18. These represent their growing influence over the sea, their crew, and the world itself.

Chapter 5a: Captain’s Techniques (Rules & Framework)

A Captain’s Technique is not a spell, a maneuver, or a psionic power. It is a legendary trick, habit, doctrine, or philosophy that has become supernatural through repetition and authority. The Wayfinder learns 6 Captain’s Techniques over their career (at levels 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18), though class features/milestones may grant more.

Mechanics

- Save DC Formula: `10 + 1/2 Wayfinder level + Charisma Modifier`.
- Usage Limits: Unless stated otherwise, they are generally at-will or have specific per-encounter/per-day limits outlined in their text.
- Action Types: Standard D&D 3.5e actions (Standard, Move, Swift, Immediate, Passive/Special).
 - Global Rule: A Wayfinder may only use one Immediate Action Captain’s Technique per round to prevent reaction bloat.

Categories

Each category has a unique gameplay identity. If a technique solves a problem, the category defines how it solves it. 1. Seamanship: Environmental mastery. Navigation, ship handling, weather, avoiding hazards. “How do I move through the world?” 2. Duelist: Personal combat mastery. Precision, ripostes, officer challenges, exploiting openings. “How do I win this fight?” 3. Corsair: Aggressive raider. Boarding, fear, plunder, breaking defenses (siege). “How do I break the enemy?” (Note: Corsair siege techniques create vulnerabilities, not automatic destruction). 4. Fleet: Tactical commander. Coordination, formations, positioning. “How do we fight as one?” (Note: A creature can benefit from only one Fleet command effect at a time). 5. Hunter: Tracking and pursuit. Reconnaissance, interception, elimination. “How do I find what is hidden?” 6. Mystic: Keeper of sea secrets. Sea magic, omens, supernatural navigation. “What does the world reveal?” (Note: Mystic info provides clues/probabilities, not perfect answers). 7. First Captain: Sovereign commander. Leadership, territory, diplomacy, political authority. “How do I build influence?” (Note: Creates leverage and reputation, not automatic obedience).

The Tiers

1. Least (Levels 1-5): The Deckhand Becomes an Officer. Focuses on personal skill, small tactical advantages, basic navigation. Scale: Self/1 Ally.

- 2. Lesser (Levels 6-11): The Officer Becomes a Captain. Focuses on crew coordination, resource efficiency, and boarding dominance. Scale: Small squad/Ship.
 - 3. Greater (Levels 12-17): The Captain Becomes an Admiral. Encounter-defining commands, fleet tactics, environmental manipulation. Scale: Entire battlefield.
 - 4. Legendary (Levels 18-20): The Admiral Becomes the First Captain. Maritime sovereignty, campaign-scale influence, world map changes. Scale: Regions/Factions/Campaigns. (Note: Permanent world-changing effects require time, resources, and narrative consequences).

Chapter 6: Campaign Engines

The campaign loop is: Explore → Discover → Record → Understand → Upgrade → Explore Further.
Combat feeds discovery, and discovery changes the world.

The Discovery System & Captain’s Log

A Discovery is a verified, meaningful first-time revelation that expands the world. A rumor is not a discovery; it must be physically mapped, witnessed, or magically confirmed. - Wayfinding Lore: Accumulated understanding. Never spent, only gained. Used to unlock Fusion Techniques, ship awakenings, and legendary status. - Discovery Points (DP): Short-term resource spent on Fusion Techniques and special class abilities (max 3-10, refreshes during downtime). - The Captain’s Log: A magical, permanent record. It tracks discoveries across categories (Charts, Species, Trade, Magic, Spirits, History, Ships). The Log contains “Hidden Tags” (e.g., Arcane, Drow, First Captain) tracked by the DM that unlock future transformations or ship upgrades.

Discovery Tiers

1. Local: Small area (e.g., hidden cove). Grants 1 Lore, normal XP.
2. Regional: Changes travel/trade for a region (e.g., safe shipping lane). Grants 2 Lore, ship/port benefit.
3. Major: Matters to a major faction (e.g., lost civilization outpost). Grants 4 Lore, strong faction reaction, unlock.
4. World-Shaping: Changes the map or economy (e.g., Underdark ocean route). Grants 8 Lore, major political shift.

5. Mythic: Happens only in legend (e.g., First Captain revelation). Grants 12 Lore, capstone narrative effects.

The Passage System

The ocean is the dungeon. Passages are the “rooms.” A voyage consists of multiple Passages. 1. Captain’s Orders: Set the priority (Fast, Survey, Hunt, Hidden, Trade, Deep). 2. The Sea Responds: DM determines weather, encounters, ruins, or monsters. 3. The Crew Acts: Navigators, lookouts, and specialists report. 4. Player Decisions: Fight, negotiate, hide, trade, board. 5. Resolution: Update supplies, repairs, Lore, and morale.

Boarding Combat (The Corsair Dungeon)

A hostile ship is a moving dungeon. Boarding has phases: Close distance, Cannon exchange, Hook, Swing across, Deck battle, Officer duel, Capture, Salvage.

Ship Construction Rules Engine

A ship is built using Ship Construction Points (SCP). - Size 1 (Small Craft): 50 SCP, 1 Hull slot. (Scout/Smuggler). - Size 2 (Light Vessel): 100 SCP, 2 Hull slots. (Piracy/Fast attack). - Size 3 (Medium Vessel): 200 SCP, 3 Hull slots. (Professional pirate ship). - Size 4 (Heavy Vessel): 350 SCP, 5 Hull slots. (Frigate/Galleon). - Size 5 (Capital Vessel): 600 SCP, 8 Hull slots. (Man-o-war).

Categories & Materials: SCP is spent on Structure, Propulsion, Combat, Utility, and Special Systems. Weapons take up slots (e.g., Light Cannon = 1 slot, 5 SCP; Dragonfire Cannon = 5 slots, 75 SCP). Materials modify Hull Strength, Weight, and Magical Affinity. (e.g., Ironwood adds +40% Hull, +20% Weight; Darkwood adds +15% Hull, -30% Weight).

Ships can install Magical (teleportation anchors), Psionic (thought navigation), Divine (celestial sails), or Spirit (living figureheads) systems.

Chapter 7: Dungeon Master’s Guide

A Wayfinder campaign should feel like routes opening, rivals responding, nations adjusting, and legends forming. The DM’s role is not to restrict the Wayfinder’s influence, but to ensure that influence creates new challenges and opportunities.

Running the Campaign

- Naval Campaigns: Track positioning, morale, supplies, and weather. Captain’s Techniques create tactical advantages, not automatic victory.
- Exploration Campaigns: Exploration techniques should reveal clues and paths, but they do not eliminate the discovery process. Discovering a new route creates story (e.g., rival explorers, ancient guardians).

- Political Campaigns: First Captain techniques create influence and reputation, not mind control. The captain can gain audiences or secure trade agreements, but kings do not automatically surrender their thrones.
- Fleet Warfare: Fleet conflicts are strategic encounters. Ask: Who has superior intelligence? Who controls positioning? What are the objectives?

Handling Consequences

Every major achievement creates reactions. - Immediate Effect: What changes now? - Local Response: Who notices? (e.g., local pirates, merchants). - Regional Response: Who reacts? (e.g., Crimson Dominion investigates, Drow launch a raid). - Long-Term Consequence: How does the world change? (e.g., a new era of exploration begins).

Tracking the World

- Captain Reputation: Fame, fear, and political influence.
- Maritime Relations: Allies, enemies, and neutral factions.
- Known Routes: Safe paths, dangers, and discoveries.

Exploit Prevention & Rules Clarifications

To preserve the campaign sandbox and prevent the Wayfinder from bypassing all gameplay:

1. Fleet + First Captain Interaction:

- Rule: Fleet techniques affect tactical command during active operations. First Captain techniques affect strategic influence. A creature can benefit from only one Fleet technique command effect at a time.

2. Mystic/Hunter Information Limits:

- Rule: Information gained through techniques provides direction, clues, and probabilities. It does not automatically reveal all hidden creatures, secret motives, or bypass investigation. Perfect information destroys mystery.

3. Corsair Siege Limits:

- Rule: Siege-related techniques create openings and tactical advantages. They do not automatically destroy structures, ships, or magical defenses. You create a breach; the fortress does not instantly collapse.

4. Legendary World Effects:

- Rule: Permanent world-changing effects (e.g., discovering impossible routes, establishing sovereign domains) require time, resources, and narrative consequences. The captain can influence history, but they do not own it.

5. Passive & Action Economy Limits:

- Rule: Bonuses from Captain's Techniques follow normal D&D 3.5 stacking rules. A Wayfinder may use only one Immediate-Action Captain's Technique per round.

Final DM Principle

The captain may change the world, but the world always responds. A Wayfinder’s greatest victories should not close the campaign; they should create the next chapter.

Captain’s Techniques

Player Guide: Building Your Captain

Wayfinder Sourcebook - Character Development Chapter

Chapter Purpose

Captain’s Techniques define how a Wayfinder grows from a capable traveler into a legendary captain.

A Wayfinder does not advance by simply collecting stronger attacks or larger numerical bonuses. The system is designed around identity:

What kind of captain are you?

How do you solve problems?

What does your crew believe you represent?

How does the world change because you are present?

Captain’s Techniques use seven categories and four progression tiers:

Categories define identity. Tiers define growth.

The approved categories are:

Seamanship

Duelist

Corsair

Fleet

Mystic

First Captain

The approved tiers are:

Least

Lesser

Greater

Legendary

The subsystem is designed as an invocation-style modular advancement system comparable in structure to Warlock Invocations, but with a different identity: the Wayfinder masters opportunity, position, logistics, exploration, command, and influence. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Section 1: Choosing Your Captain Identity

Before selecting individual techniques, determine what kind of captain your Wayfinder is becoming.

A captain identity answers:

What do you command?

What problems do you specialize in solving?

What kind of legend will people tell?

Your identity is shaped by:

Primary Category

Secondary Category

Technique Tier Choices

Campaign Role

A captain focused on exploration will make different choices than a captain building a fleet or ruling a pirate kingdom.

Section 2: Understanding Categories

Categories represent different philosophies of captaincy.

Choosing a category does not lock a character into one role forever. It establishes the foundation of advancement.

A captain may begin as a sailor, become a raider, and eventually become a ruler.

The important question is:

What is the core of your captain’s legend?

Section 3: Understanding Tiers

Identity:

“The captain begins.”

Least techniques represent the foundation of your captain identity.

These abilities establish:

personal style,

basic mastery,

early specialization.

Expected Power:

Least techniques are practical abilities.

They should:

solve common problems,

define your role,

provide reliable advantages.

Gameplay Purpose:

Least techniques answer:

“What kind of captain are you becoming?”

Examples:

the explorer who never loses the trail,

the duelist who wins impossible fights,

the corsair who breaks enemy defenses,

the navigator who reads dangerous waters.

Lesser Techniques

Identity:

“The captain becomes recognized.”

Lesser techniques represent specialization.

At this stage, the captain is no longer merely skilled.

They are known for something.

Expected Power:

Lesser techniques provide:

stronger specialization,

expanded capability,

improved control over situations.

Gameplay Purpose:

Lesser techniques answer:

“What kind of captain have you become?”

This is where characters begin strongly expressing their chosen path.

Greater Techniques

Identity:

“The captain becomes a major force.”

Greater techniques represent advanced mastery.

The captain is no longer reacting to events.

They influence them.

Expected Power:

Greater techniques provide:

encounter-changing effects,

strategic advantages,

advanced command options.

Gameplay Purpose:

Greater techniques answer:

“What situations can you control?”

These abilities should shape battles, expeditions, and major conflicts without replacing the campaign itself.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Legendary Techniques

Identity:

“The captain becomes history.”

Legendary techniques represent campaign-scale influence.

These abilities belong to captains whose names are known beyond their own ship.

Expected Power:

Legendary techniques may influence:

- fleets,
- factions,
- territories,
- political situations,
- major voyages.

Gameplay Purpose:

Legendary techniques answer:

“What changes because you exist?”

Legendary abilities create consequences. They do not remove the need for adventure.

The strongest captain is not the one who avoids consequences.

The strongest captain is the one whose victories create challenges worthy of their legend. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Captain’s Techniques

Dungeon Master Integration Guide

Wayfinder Sourcebook

DM Resource Chapter

Introduction: Running a Captain’s Campaign

Captain’s Techniques are designed around a different style of advancement than traditional class features.

A traditional adventurer asks:

“How do I overcome this challenge?”

A Wayfinder captain asks:

“How does overcoming this challenge change the voyage?”

Captain’s Techniques are intended to influence:

naval campaigns,

exploration campaigns,

pirate conflicts,

political campaigns,

fleet warfare,

island kingdoms,

supernatural oceans.

The DM's role is not to limit Captain's Techniques. The role is to allow those abilities to create meaningful consequences.

A successful Captain's Techniques campaign should show:

routes opening,

rivals adapting,

factions responding,

territories changing,

legends forming.

The subsystem's core philosophy is that power creates opportunities and consequences rather than removing the need for adventure. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Section 1: Managing Captain Abilities

1.1 Evaluating Powerful Abilities

Captain's Techniques differ from ordinary abilities because many affect the world around the character.

A DM should evaluate abilities using three questions:

1. What problem does the ability solve?

Examples:

A Seamanship technique may solve:

dangerous navigation,

difficult travel,

environmental hazards.

A Fleet technique may solve:

coordination problems,

command issues,

battlefield organization.

A First Captain technique may solve:

organizational limitations,

diplomatic barriers, logistical challenges.

The question is not:

“Does this ability bypass the adventure?”

The question is:

“What new situation does this ability create?”

1.2 Maintaining Player Agency

Captain’s Techniques should increase player agency.

They should allow players to:

choose routes,

influence factions,

command resources,

establish reputations,

change strategic situations.

They should not remove:

meaningful choices,

consequences,

opposing interests,

campaign uncertainty.

Example:

A Mystic Navigator discovers a hidden sea route.

Incorrect interpretation:

“The party automatically wins every voyage.”

Correct interpretation:

“The party gains access to a route others cannot use. Now merchants, pirates, kingdoms, and ancient guardians care about that route.”

The ability creates story pressure.

It does not end the story.

1.3 Avoiding Removed Choices

The primary DM warning:

Do not convert influence into certainty.

Captain’s Techniques should not become:

automatic diplomacy,

automatic victory,

perfect information,

unlimited resources.

The subsystem balance audit specifically identifies this concern:

Fleet should affect battle, not replace military campaigns.

First Captain should affect organizations, not create automatic obedience.

Mystic and Hunter should provide information, not absolute knowledge.

Corsair should create openings, not automatic destruction. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Section 2: Legendary Techniques

Legendary Techniques represent the point where the Wayfinder becomes a historical figure.

They affect:

voyages,

fleets,

nations,

organizations,

maritime power.

They are not simply stronger combat abilities.

They are campaign tools.

2.1 Handling Legendary Effects

When a Legendary Technique is used, consider:

Immediate Effect

What changes right now?

Examples:

a route becomes accessible,

a fleet gains an advantage,

a faction recognizes the captain,

a supernatural boundary is crossed.

Secondary Effects

Who notices?

Possible reactions:

governments investigate,

pirates attempt exploitation,

merchants seek agreements, enemies create countermeasures, supernatural beings respond.

Long-Term Effects

How does the world change?

Track:

reputation,

territory,

alliances,

enemies,

economic changes,

political consequences.

Legendary abilities are designed to create lasting campaign developments. Permanent world-changing effects require time, resources, and campaign integration. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

2.2 Faction Responses

Factions should react according to their interests.

Merchants

Possible responses:

request access,

offer contracts,

compete,

attempt control.

Pirates

Possible responses:

challenge the captain,

recruit the captain,

imitate the captain,

sabotage the captain.

Governments

Possible responses:

negotiate,

monitor, regulate,

attempt alliance.

Supernatural Powers

Possible responses:

curiosity,

hostility,

bargains,

ancient claims.

A Legendary captain becomes a strategic factor.

The world notices.

2.3 Reputation Changes

Reputation should evolve over time.

Recommended progression:

Local Reputation

The captain becomes known among:

crews,

ports,

local factions.

Regional Reputation

The captain becomes recognized by:

kingdoms,

major organizations,

rival captains.

Legendary Reputation

The captain becomes a figure of maritime history.

Possible results:

songs,

myths,

political influence,

historical records.

Section 3: Fleet-Level Play

3.1 Multiple Ships

Fleet-level campaigns require tracking more than individual combat.

Important factors:

objectives,

positioning,

supplies,

morale,

command structure,

weather,

enemy strategy.

Avoid reducing fleet warfare to:

“Roll attacks until ships explode.”

Ships represent:

resources,

organizations,

strategic positions.

3.2 Organizations

Fleet techniques interact with organizations.

Track:

command hierarchy,

officers,

specialists,

resources,

loyalty,

reputation.

A fleet is not just a number.

It is a living structure.

3.3 Strategic Conflicts

Fleet conflicts should include objectives.

Examples:

Victory Conditions:

capture a harbor,

protect a convoy,

escape pursuit,

blockade an enemy,

establish dominance.

Not every naval conflict requires destruction.

A smarter captain wins the objective.

3.4 Territory Control

Territory should be tracked as a campaign resource.

Examples:

Controlled:

ports,

trade routes,

islands,

safe harbors,

supply chains.

Contested:

pirate waters,

disputed colonies,

supernatural zones.

Lost:

captured ports,

blocked routes,

hostile territory.

Section 4: Narrative Consequences

Captain's Techniques are designed to change campaign states.

The DM should maintain:

NPC reactions,

faction relationships,

reputation,

territory,

route control.

4.1 NPC Reactions

NPC reactions depend on:

the captain's reputation,

past actions,

current interests.

Examples:

A feared Corsair Captain may receive:

fear,

hostility,

reluctant respect.

A First Captain may receive:

diplomatic attention,

political requests,

strategic opposition.

4.2 Political Changes

Political effects should create negotiations, not automatic control.

A First Captain does not simply say:

“You obey.”

Instead:

“You must now consider this captain a major political actor.”

Possible outcomes:

Final DM Assessment

Captain's Techniques are approved for:

- naval campaigns,
- exploration campaigns,
- political campaigns,
- pirate campaigns,
- kingdom-building campaigns,
- supernatural maritime adventures.

The subsystem is not designed to make the captain unstoppable.

It is designed to make the captain important.

The fighter defeats the enemy.

The wizard changes the battlefield.

The Wayfinder changes the voyage.

Captain's Techniques

Dungeon Master Appendix

Wayfinder Sourcebook

Running Captain-Scale Campaigns

Captain's Techniques are designed to expand the scope of play beyond individual encounters.

A Wayfinder captain does not only defeat enemies. They:

discover routes,

command vessels,

influence factions,

establish reputations,

reshape maritime conflicts,

create new strategic possibilities.

The Dungeon Master's responsibility is not to reduce these abilities. It is to place them into a living world where meaningful choices continue to exist.

The subsystem is designed for:

naval campaigns,

exploration campaigns,

pirate campaigns,

political campaigns,

island kingdom campaigns, supernatural maritime adventures. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

The guiding principle:

Captain's Techniques modify situations. They do not replace campaigns. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Chapter 1: Running Captain's Techniques

Understanding Captain Abilities

Captain's Techniques represent increasing levels of maritime mastery.

They progress through:

Tier Captain Identity Campaign Role Least Emerging Captain Personal mastery Lesser Established Captain Specialized expertise Greater Master Captain Strategic influence Legendary Historic Captain Campaign-scale impact

The DM should treat these abilities as tools that create opportunities.

A successful Captain's Technique use should usually produce:

An advantage.

A new option.

A changed situation.

A meaningful consequence.

It should not produce:

automatic victory,

automatic obedience,

perfect information,

removal of all opposition.

Chapter 2: DM Preparation Checklist

Before running a Captain-focused campaign, prepare:

Maritime Environment

Track:

known routes,

dangerous waters,

ports,

islands,

trade lanes,

supernatural locations.

Factions

Track:

allies,

enemies,

rivals,

organizations,

political interests.

Reputation

Track how the world views the captain:

Examples:

unknown sailor,

respected captain,

feared pirate,

legendary maritime figure.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Territory

Track:

controlled ports,

safe harbors,

contested waters,

trade routes,

strategic locations.

Resources

Track:

ships,

crews,

supplies,

alliances,

political leverage.

Chapter 3: Naval Campaigns

Running Naval Adventures

Naval adventures should not become simple ship-to-ship attack exchanges.

A naval encounter should have:

Objective

Examples:

capture a vessel,

escape pursuit,

protect a convoy,

discover an island,

break a blockade.

Obstacles

Examples:

storms,

reefs,

enemy commanders,

political restrictions,

supernatural hazards.

Captain's Technique Impact

Ask:

“What advantage does this technique create?”

Examples:

A Seamanship ability may provide:

safer navigation,

improved positioning,

better route access.

A Fleet ability may provide:

coordination,

formation advantages,

improved battlefield control.

The remaining conflict still exists.

The captain changed the situation.

They did not erase it. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Chapter 4: Exploration Campaigns

Exploration Philosophy

Exploration Captain's Techniques accelerate discovery.

They do not remove discovery.

The DM should maintain:

Known Routes

Reliable paths:

trade routes,

mapped waters,

established passages.

Unknown Regions

Areas requiring:

investigation,

navigation,

survival,

experimentation.

Discoveries

Examples:

lost civilizations,

hidden islands,

ancient ruins,

magical locations.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Information Boundaries

Mystic and Hunter abilities provide:

clues,

direction,

opportunities,

useful observations.

They do not provide:

every secret,

every trap,

every hidden creature,

perfect answers.

The subsystem specifically identifies information abilities as a potential exploit area and limits them to useful information rather than certainty. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Chapter 5: Pirate Conflicts

Pirate campaigns revolve around:

reputation,

rival captains,

territory,

resources,

alliances.

A Corsair-focused Wayfinder changes the balance of piracy.

The DM should track:

Pirate Reputation

Questions:

Who fears the captain?

Who respects the captain?

Who wants the captain removed?

Rival Captains

A legendary pirate should attract:

challengers,

imitators,

alliances,

betrayals.

Pirate Politics

A pirate fleet is not automatically loyal.

It has:

ambitions,

personalities,

rivalries,

competing goals.

Chapter 6: Fleet Warfare

Resolving Fleet-Level Actions

Fleet conflicts should be treated as strategic encounters.

Track:

Fleet Strength

Includes:

number of ships,

ship quality,

crew experience,

commanders,

supplies.

Tactical Position

Includes:

wind advantage,

terrain,

formations,

surprise,

intelligence.

Political Situation

Includes:

allies,

enemies,

treaties,

reputation.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Using Fleet Techniques

Fleet abilities influence:

coordination,

timing,

positioning,

effectiveness.

They do not remove:

planning,

risk,

leadership decisions.

Example:

Before:

An enemy fleet has numerical superiority.

After:

The captain creates:

improved formation,

better positioning,

increased survival odds.

The battle remains.

The captain changed the odds.

Chapter 7: Managing First Captain Influence

First Captain Philosophy

First Captain represents:

authority,

diplomacy,

organization,

logistics,

reputation,

strategic influence.

It does not represent mind control.

The core distinction:

Fleet makes people fight better. First Captain makes people follow.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Political Influence Rules

A First Captain ability may create:

alliances,

negotiations,

organizations,

reputation,

opportunities.

It does not create:

automatic loyalty,

instant obedience,

permanent political control.

A king may respect a legendary captain without surrendering the kingdom.

A pirate council may fear a captain without becoming devoted followers.

Chapter 8: Island Kingdom Campaigns

Captain’s Techniques can support campaigns involving:

island nations,

maritime empires,

pirate kingdoms,

trade networks.

Track:

Territory

Examples:

Controlled:

ports,

islands,

harbors.

Contested:

disputed waters,

enemy claims.

Unclaimed:

unexplored regions.

Infrastructure

Track:

shipyards,

supply chains,

trade routes,

alliances.

Political Impact

A captain's actions may change:

borders,

economies,

diplomacy,

military balance.

These changes should create new campaign situations.

Chapter 9: Supernatural Oceans

Mystic and Legendary Captain abilities may interact with:

magical seas,

impossible routes,

ancient powers,

supernatural storms.

The DM should preserve mystery.

A supernatural navigation ability should reveal:

paths,

warnings,

possibilities.

It should not reveal:

every danger,

every secret,

every solution.

Chapter 10: Legendary Techniques

Legendary Techniques represent campaign-scale abilities.

They may influence:

voyages,

fleets,

territories,

nations,

exploration,

naval warfare,

political structures.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Managing Legendary Effects

When a Legendary Technique is used:

Ask:

Immediate Impact

What changes now?

Strategic Impact

Who reacts?

Examples:

governments,

merchants,

pirates,

supernatural entities.

Long-Term Consequence

What changes permanently?

Examples:

new routes,

new alliances,

new enemies,

new territories.

Legendary Limit

Permanent world changes require:

time,

resources,

narrative consequences.

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Chapter 11: Reputation Tracking

Recommended reputation progression:

Stage Meaning Unknown Sailor Local recognition Respected Captain Regional reputation Famous Captain
Major influence Living Legend Historical importance

ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt

Track:

allies,

rivals,

enemies,

dependents.

Chapter 12: Faction Tracking

For every major faction record:

Goals

What does the faction want?

Resources

What can they provide?

Relationship

Current status:

hostile,

neutral,

cooperative,

allied.

Response

How do they react to the captain's growth?

Chapter 13: Route Tracking

Maintain a maritime map.

Track:

Known Routes

Safe travel.

Hidden Routes

Recently discovered paths.

Lost Routes

Ancient or inaccessible passages.

Controlled Routes

Strategic resources.

A captain who changes navigation changes the world.

The captain now has a rulebook for changing the world without accidentally deleting the campaign. A surprisingly difficult standard for fictional people who insist on naming ships after storms and then being shocked when storms happen.

NPC Captains and Villain Builds

To seamlessly integrate Captain’s Techniques into your campaign, you can assign them to notable NPCs and recurring villains.

Low-Level Rival: The Upstart Corsair (CR 4)

- Role: Aggressive privateer or early campaign antagonist.
- Techniques: Find the Weak Board (Least Corsair), Sea Legs (Least Seamanship).
- Tactics: Relies on aggressive boarding actions and environmental hazards to overwhelm the party’s ship.

Mid-Level Antagonist: The Fleet Commander (CR 10)

- Role: Leader of a regional naval force or pirate armada.
- Techniques: Crew Rotation (Least Fleet), Captain’s Challenge (Least Duelist), plus Lesser Fleet techniques.
- Tactics: Engages at scale, using formations and coordinated bombardments before closing for a dramatic duel.

Legendary Villain: The Immortal Pirate King (CR 19)

- Role: Campaign-ending threat with world-shaping influence.
- Techniques: Reserve the Hold (Least First Captain), Whispering Compass (Least Mystic), plus Greater and Legendary Corsair/First Captain techniques.
- Tactics: Operates on a strategic level, controlling factions and impossible routes. Rarely fights directly unless backed by overwhelming supernatural support.

Treasure Considerations

When awarding treasure to a party with a Wayfinder, consider items that enhance their chosen techniques rather than just raw stats. For example, a spyglass that grants bonus uses of Chart the Unknown or an enchanted cutlass that augments the Captain’s Challenge technique.

generic pirates,

random sailors,

exaggerated comedy.

Ship Design

Ships should communicate progression.

Early:

practical vessels.

Advanced:

decorated command ships.

Legendary:

iconic vessels recognized across the world.

Typography Integration

Artwork should leave room for:

chapter titles,

rules boxes,

sidebars.

Avoid placing focal elements behind text areas.

Review all the information in the source file 'Wayfinder_Sourcebook.md' and determine what our next Command Prompts shoule be. 7/31/2026, 3:49:06 AM I reviewed the Wayfinder source material and the existing development trail. The important conclusion is that Captain's Techniques is no longer in design mode; it is in production mode. The subsystem has already gone through framework design, tier creation, balance review, exploit checks, and publication audit. The remaining work is assembling, integrating, and expanding the surrounding Wayfinder sourcebook. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt The current source state shows: Captain's Techniques tiers completed: Least Lesser Greater Legendary Balance audits completed.
Category identities stabilized: Seamanship Duelist Corsair Fleet Hunter Mystic First Captain 🚀 Powered by Remaining risks are editorial and integration issues, not redesign. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt The next Command Prompts should therefore move in this order: PHASE 1 - Captain's Techniques Sourcebook subsystem from design documents into a finished chapter. Command Prompt: Captain's Techniques

10. Wayfinder Class Final Framework Consolidation

Break down Phase 1 into the appropriate number of Command Prompts considering your context/token limitations. Once you have figured out the number of prompts, display the full, extensive, command prompt in a Code Block for me. 7/31/2026, 3:50:56 AM Phase 1 should be divided into 6 Command Prompts. Reasoning: A single "Complete Sourcebook Manuscript Assembly" prompt is too large because it requires: rules framework category explanations tier explanations all technique entries formatting cross-reference tables publication cleanup Trying to force all of that through one generation would create the classic sourcebook problem: the first half gets lovingly polished while the back half becomes a tired goblin scribbling "see previous page." Splitting it preserves consistency and allows audits between stages. Recommended Phase 1 structure: 1. Captain's Techniques Chapter Architecture & Rules Framework 2. Completed Chapter Outline Wayfinder Sourcebook Chapter X: Captain's Techniques Chapter Introduction Captain's Techniques: The Path of Command Purpose: Introduce Captain's Techniques as the defining advancement system of the Wayfinder class. Explain: Captain's Techniques represent mastery beyond ordinary class abilities. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 32 / 434

They represent the growth from sailor, explorer, and adventurer into a figure of maritime authority. Advancement represents increasing influence over: voyages, crews, fleets, factions, supernatural forces. Core Theme: A Wayfinder does not merely become stronger. A Wayfinder becomes significant. Section 1: Captain's Techniques Overview 1.1 What Captain's Techniques Represent Captain's Techniques are specialized abilities gained through experience, reputation, and mastery of the captain's path. They represent: personal expertise, command ability, exploration mastery, naval authority, supernatural understanding. Unlike ordinary class features that usually affect the individual character, Captain's Techniques can influence: the character, companions, vessels, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 33 / 434 crews, organizations, campaign events. 1.2 Role Within the Wayfinder Class Captain's Techniques are a primary identity feature of the Wayfinder. They allow different Wayfinders to develop different captain identities: Examples: Explorer Captain Storm Captain Corsair Captain Fleet Admiral Pirate King Mystic Navigator Duelist Captain These identities emerge from category selection and technique choices. 1.3 Philosophy of Captain Advancement Captain advancement follows four stages: Least The beginning of mastery. The captain learns foundational abilities. Focus: personal skill, survival, navigation, early command. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 34 / 434

Lesser The captain develops specialization. Focus: stronger identity, improved command, specialized expertise. Greater The captain becomes a major force. Focus: encounter-shaping abilities, advanced mastery, strategic influence. Legendary The captain becomes a historical figure. Focus: campaign-scale influence, maritime legend, world-changing consequences. 1.4 Captain's Techniques Compared to Normal Class Abilities Normal Class Features: usually affect the character directly. function primarily during encounters. Captain's Techniques: may influence encounters, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 35 / 434 exploration, organizations, fleets, campaigns. Captain's Techniques expand the question from: "What can my character do?" to: "What can my captain change?" Section 2: Core Rules 2.1 What Is a Captain's Technique? A Captain's Technique is a specialized Wayfinder ability chosen from the available technique categories and tiers. Each technique contains: identity, requirements, activation rules, mechanical effects, scaling information. 2.2 Learning Captain's Techniques Captain's Techniques are gained through Wayfinder advancement. When a character gains access to new techniques: They choose from available techniques based on: tier access, prerequisites, character development, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 36 / 434 captain identity. 2.3 Technique Activation Captain's Techniques use standardized activation terminology. Each technique specifies: action type, range, target, duration, saving throw, special rules. Activation language must remain consistent with D&D 3.5 conventions. 2.4 Action Types Captain's Techniques may use: Standard Action Move Action Swift Action Immediate Action Free Action Full-Round Action No Action Terminology must remain consistent throughout the subsystem. 2.5 Duration Rules Each technique specifies its duration. Possible duration categories include: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 37 / 434 instantaneous effects, rounds, minutes, hours, ongoing effects, special durations. Duration must always be explicitly listed. 2.6 Range and Target Rules Every technique specifies: personal, touch, ranged, area, special target conditions. No technique should require interpretation beyond its listed entry. 2.7 Saving Throw Rules When applicable, techniques specify: saving throw type, DC calculation, effect on success, effect on failure. Captain's Technique DC remains standardized throughout the subsystem. 2.8 Prerequisites Techniques may require: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 38 / 434 minimum level, previous techniques, category access, advancement requirements. Prerequisites determine access, not optional bonuses. 2.9 Replacement and Retraining When allowed by campaign rules, Wayfinders may replace techniques through retraining. Replacement must follow: campaign approval, progression rules, available technique requirements. Section 3: Technique Advancement 3.1 Technique Tier Progression Captain's Techniques advance through four tiers: Tier Level Band Purpose Least Levels 1-5 Foundation abilities Lesser Levels 6-11 Specialization Greater Levels 12-17 Advanced mastery Legendary Levels 18-20 Campaign-scale influence The established manuscript structure places: Least as foundation abilities, Lesser as specialization abilities, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 39 / 434

Greater as encounter-shaping abilities, Legendary as campaign-scale abilities. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 3.2 Captain Identity Development A captain's identity develops through selected categories. Examples: Explorer Captain: discovery, navigation, lost locations. Storm Captain: weather, dangerous seas, supernatural oceans. Corsair Captain: boarding, raids, siege. Fleet Admiral: formations, command, warfare. Pirate King: reputation, influence, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 40 / 434

●Crafting a chapter using source material The user asked for a chapter and sections, so I'll present it as a writing block, following policy. I'll highlight any missing details, like the DC formula, and explain that the source doesn't provide these specifics. I'll ensure the content is consistent while including player guidance and DM notes. ✓Thought for 11s Here is the chapter draft in sourcebook style, grounded in the approved framework and the published design notes. ::writing{variant="document" id="48291"} Captain's Techniques Category and Tier Chapter Captain's Techniques are the Wayfinder's defining advancement system. They are not just tricks, stunts, or combat riders. They are the means by which a Wayfinder becomes a captain in the full sense of the word: a person who can shape voyages, crews, battles, and the fortunes of the sea. The source material establishes the seven official categories and the four-tier progression of the subsystem. It also establishes that the chapter should function as player-facing rules text, with clear category identities, clear tier identities, and enough 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 54 / 434 guidance for both character building and campaign use. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Category Chapter 1. Seamanship Seamanship is the category of naval mastery. It covers ship operation, navigation, environmental interaction, and voyage leadership. A Wayfinder who leans into Seamanship is the captain who understands the sea as a living route system. They know how to move a vessel, read conditions, survive hostile waters, and keep a voyage on course when lesser sailors would be lost, wrecked, or tempted to panic. Seamanship is the category for characters who want to make travel itself matter. In play, Seamanship supports: navigation and routefinding, ship handling and movement, survival in dangerous waters, environmental adaptation, leadership during voyages. 2. Duelist Duelist is the category of personal combat mastery. It covers captain-versus-captain conflicts, precision combat, and tactical superiority. A Duelist Wayfinder is the captain who settles hard questions personally. This category is for characters who want to dominate challenges through skill, timing, and presence rather than through sheer brute force. Duelist does not replace battlefield command. It wins the knife-fight at the rail, the duel on the quarterdeck, and the decisive one-on-one moment when a rival commander must be answered directly. In play, Duelist supports: personal combat, officer duels, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 55 / 434 precision attacks, counters and combat timing, tactical superiority in close engagements. 3. Corsair Corsair is the category of piracy, boarding actions, intimidation, and unconventional warfare. A Corsair Wayfinder fights dirty in the most honorable way possible, which is to say, the way that keeps the ship afloat and the enemy regretting their life choices. This category represents breaching, raiding, disruption, and the art of breaking an opponent's confidence and defensive structure without needing to play fair about it. In play, Corsair supports: boarding actions, ship raids, intimidation, breaching and disruption, unconventional tactics against fortified targets. 4. Fleet Fleet is the category of command structures, multiple vessels, strategic warfare, and naval campaigns. A Fleet Wayfinder is not primarily a lone hero. They are an organizer of coordinated violence and disciplined action. Fleet is the category for captains who think in formations, signal chains, squad roles, and operations that involve more than one ship or more than one piece of the battlefield. In play, Fleet supports: command structures, allied coordination, multiple vessels, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 56 / 434 strategic warfare, naval campaigns and battle planning. 5. Hunter Hunter is the category of tracking, pursuit, monster hunting, and hostile-environment survival. A Hunter Wayfinder is the captain who does not let prey vanish just because it has the good taste to run. This category covers the chase, the trail, the interception, and the hard practical skill of surviving and operating in places that were not built to be pleasant. In play, Hunter supports: tracking, pursuit, interception, monster hunting, survival in hostile terrain and dangerous waters. 6. Mystic Mystic is the category of supernatural navigation, magical oceans, hidden knowledge, and arcane influence. A Mystic Wayfinder does not merely travel the sea. They negotiate with the sea's deeper truths. Mystic is the category for captains whose routefinding depends on omens, strange laws, symbolic insight, or direct supernatural interaction with the world of water, weather, and hidden distance. In play, Mystic supports: supernatural navigation, magical and storm-driven environments, hidden knowledge, arcane or omen-based influence, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 57 / 434 exploration that goes beyond ordinary cartography. 7. First Captain First Captain is the category of legendary leadership, campaign-scale influence, and world-changing abilities. This category is the capstone identity of a Wayfinder who has become more than a shipmaster or even a war leader. First Captain abilities deal with organization, logistics, diplomacy, reputation, authority, and the kind of influence that changes how other people and institutions respond to the captain's existence. In play, First Captain supports: legendary leadership, campaign-scale influence, logistics and organization, diplomacy, reputation and authority. The published balance notes show that First Captain remains powerful but must not become automatic obedience or universal control. The category creates influence, not mind control, and should be handled as strategic authority rather than narrative erasure. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Tier Chapter Least Least techniques are the foundation tier. They define identity and give the Wayfinder immediate access to captain-like tools. Expected power: useful, tactical, identity-defining, not world-shaking. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 58 / 434

Gameplay purpose: introduce the character's captain style, establish the first step of specialization, reward practical decision-making. Least techniques should feel like the character is learning how to sail, command, track, duel, or read the sea with real competence. They are the tier where the captain becomes recognizable. Lesser Lesser techniques represent increased specialization and expanded capability. Expected power: stronger, more specialized, more decisive in encounters and operations. Gameplay purpose: deepen a chosen category identity, create real tactical roles, push the Wayfinder from capable to respected. The design notes for Lesser emphasize that this is the transition from surviving dangerous voyages to actively shaping battles, expeditions, and organizations. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Greater Greater techniques represent advanced mastery and strategic impact. Expected power: encounter-changing, operation-shaping, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 59 / 434 capable of altering battlefield conditions and campaign plans. Gameplay purpose: let the captain control situations rather than merely respond to them, create major advantages in naval warfare, exploration, and leadership, support stronger identity specialization. The design notes place a clear warning here: Greater abilities may alter situations, but they should not permanently alter the world. That belongs to the tier above.

ChatGPT- Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Legendary techniques represent campaign-scale influence and world-changing consequences. Expected power: rare, expensive, unmistakable, capable of changing voyages, fleets, territories, factions, and the map itself. Gameplay purpose: complete the captain fantasy, let the Wayfinder shape history, create long-term consequences that the campaign can react to. Legendary techniques are not automatic victory buttons. They are force multipliers that should create new problems, new opportunities, and new responses from the world. The DM guidance repeatedly emphasizes that the world must respond to these effects. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Player Guidance Sections 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 60 / 434

A player choosing Captain's Techniques should start by choosing a captain identity, then choosing the categories that best support that identity, then planning a progression path across tiers. Common identities already established in the source material include: Explorer Captain Storm Captain Corsair Captain Fleet Admiral Pirate King Mystic Navigator Duelist Captain. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt A practical way to think about those identities: Explorer Captain: Seamanship and Hunter first, Mystic if the campaign is strange, First Captain later if discovery turns political. Storm Captain: Seamanship and Mystic first, First Captain only if the campaign is built around command and legend. Corsair Captain: Corsair first, Duelist or Fleet as secondary specialization, First Captain if raiding becomes faction play. Fleet Admiral: Fleet first, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 61 / 434

First Captain second, Corsair or Duelist as tactical support. Pirate King: First Captain first, Corsair second, Fleet for power projection. Mystic Navigator: Mystic first, Seamanship second, Hunter as a pursuit and discovery supplement. Duelist Captain: Duelist first, Seamanship or Corsair second depending on whether the character wants mobility or aggression. The source material's build guidance confirms that these are the main archetypal routes supported by the subsystem. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt DM Interpretation Notes The DM should treat Captain's Techniques as campaign-facing, not just combat-facing. The DM guidance established several important principles: techniques provide advantages, not universal success, exploration techniques provide information and direction, not perfect revelation, naval abilities alter conditions and probabilities, not instant victory, Legendary effects create lasting consequences, First Captain abilities create influence, not mind control. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 62 / 434

Use these principles when adjudicating the subsystem: Seamanship should make routes possible or safer, not erase travel challenges. Duelist should reward precision and tempo, not replace every combat option. Corsair should create openings and vulnerabilities, not automatically destroy ships or fortifications. Fleet should improve coordination, not let one captain dictate the entire war by existing near it. Hunter should provide clues, pursuit, and pressure, not omniscience. Mystic should provide supernatural direction, not perfect answers. First Captain should move factions, organizations, and reputations, not overwrite free will. The published balance notes also support strict limits on information, command stacking, and narrative scope. Fleet benefits should not stack freely, and information techniques must remain directional rather than absolute. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Consistency Audit Passed Consistently The seven categories remain distinct. The four tiers remain distinct. The chapter structure matches the published sourcebook architecture. The player-facing and DM-facing interpretations agree on the subsystem's purpose. Points Requiring Care During Later Manuscript Assembly Captain's Technique DC is referenced in the framework, but the accessible excerpts do not provide the final formula in a single authoritative place. The actual technique catalog is still required before the full manuscript can be completed. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 63 / 434

The chapter should continue to preserve the distinction between influence and control, especially in Fleet and First Captain material. Overall Status The category and tier framework is internally consistent and publication-ready as a structural chapter. The remaining missing piece is the approved technique catalog to populate the chapter entries themselves. Chapter Status This chapter establishes: the seven category identities, the four tier identities, player guidance for captain archetypes, DM interpretation boundaries, consistency rules for later manuscript assembly. The framework is complete. The technique lists are the next missing cargo, and naturally the manuscript is still waiting for those pages before it can pretend to be a finished book. 7/31/2026, 3:51:40 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 64 / 434

Captain's Techniques define how a Wayfinder grows from a capable traveler into a legendary captain. A Wayfinder does not advance by simply collecting stronger attacks or larger numerical bonuses. The system is designed around identity: What kind of captain are you? How do you solve problems? What does your crew believe you represent? How does the world change because you are present? Captain's Techniques use seven categories and four progression tiers: Categories define identity. Tiers define growth. The approved categories are: Seamanship Duelist Corsair Fleet Hunter Mystic First Captain The approved tiers are: Least Lesser Greater Legendary The subsystem is designed as an invocation-style modular advancement system comparable in structure to Warlock Invocations, but with a different identity: the 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 67 / 434

Wayfinder masters opportunity, position, logistics, exploration, command, and influence. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Section 1: Choosing Your Captain Identity Before selecting individual techniques, determine what kind of captain your Wayfinder is becoming. A captain identity answers: What do you command? What problems do you specialize in solving? What kind of legend will people tell? Your identity is shaped by: 1. Primary Category 2. Secondary Category 3. Technique Tier Choices 4. Campaign Role A captain focused on exploration will make different choices than a captain building a fleet or ruling a pirate kingdom. Section 2: Understanding Categories Categories represent different philosophies of captaincy. Choosing a category does not lock a character into one role forever. It establishes the foundation of advancement. A captain may begin as a sailor, become a raider, and eventually become a ruler. The important

Identity: "The captain begins." Least techniques represent the foundation of your captain identity. These abilities establish: personal style, basic mastery, early specialization. Expected Power: Least techniques are practical abilities. They should: solve common problems, define your role, provide reliable advantages. Gameplay Purpose: Least techniques answer: "What kind of captain are you becoming?" Examples: the explorer who never loses the trail, the duelist who wins impossible fights, the corsair who breaks enemy defenses, the navigator who reads dangerous waters. Lesser Techniques Identity: "The captain becomes recognized."  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 69 / 434

Lesser techniques represent specialization. At this stage, the captain is no longer merely skilled. They are known for something. Expected Power: Lesser techniques provide: stronger specialization, expanded capability, improved control over situations. Gameplay Purpose: Lesser techniques answer: "What kind of captain have you become?" This is where characters begin strongly expressing their chosen path. Greater Techniques Identity: "The captain becomes a major force." Greater techniques represent advanced mastery. The captain is no longer reacting to events. They influence them. Expected Power: Greater techniques provide: encounter-changing effects, strategic advantages, advanced command options.  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 70 / 434

Gameplay Purpose: Greater techniques answer: "What situations can you control?" These abilities should shape battles, expeditions, and major conflicts without replacing the campaign itself. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Legendary Techniques Identity: "The captain becomes history." Legendary techniques represent campaign-scale influence. These abilities belong to captains whose names are known beyond their own ship. Expected Power: Legendary techniques may influence: fleets, factions, territories, political situations, major voyages. Gameplay Purpose: Legendary techniques answer: "What changes because you exist?" Legendary abilities create consequences. They do not remove the need for adventure. The strongest captain is not the one who avoids consequences. The strongest captain is the one whose victories create challenges worthy of their legend. 7/31/2026, 3:53:06 AM Captain's Techniques Dungeon Master Integration Guide Wayfinder Sourcebook DM Resource Chapter Introduction: Running a Captain's Campaign Captain's Techniques are designed around a different style of advancement than traditional class features. A traditional adventurer asks: "How do I overcome this challenge?" A Wayfinder captain asks: "How does overcoming this challenge change the voyage?" Captain's Techniques are intended to influence: naval campaigns, exploration campaigns, pirate conflicts, political campaigns, fleet warfare, island kingdoms, supernatural oceans. The DM's role is not to limit Captain's Techniques. The role is to allow those abilities to create meaningful consequences. A successful Captain's Techniques campaign should show: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 89 / 434 routes opening, rivals adapting, factions responding, territories changing, legends forming. The subsystem's core philosophy is that power creates opportunities and consequences rather than removing the need for adventure. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Section 1: Managing Captain Abilities 1.1 Evaluating Powerful Abilities Captain's Techniques differ from ordinary abilities because many affect the world around the character. A DM should evaluate abilities using three questions: 1. What problem does the ability solve? Examples: A Seamanship technique may solve: dangerous navigation, difficult travel, environmental hazards. A Fleet technique may solve: coordination problems, command issues, battlefield organization. A First Captain technique may solve: organizational limitations, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 90 / 434 diplomatic barriers, logistical challenges. The question is not: "Does this ability bypass the adventure?" The question is: "What new situation does this ability create?" 1.2 Maintaining Player Agency Captain's Techniques should increase player agency. They should allow players to: choose routes, influence factions, command resources, establish reputations, change strategic situations. They should not remove: meaningful choices, consequences, opposing interests, campaign uncertainty. Example: A Mystic Navigator discovers a hidden sea route. Incorrect interpretation: "The party automatically wins every voyage." Correct interpretation: "The party gains access to a route others cannot use. Now merchants, pirates, kingdoms, and ancient guardians care about that route." 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 91 / 434

The ability creates story pressure. It does not end the story. 1.3 Avoiding Removed Choices The primary DM warning: Do not convert influence into certainty. Captain's Techniques should not become: automatic diplomacy, automatic victory, perfect information, unlimited resources. The subsystem balance audit specifically identifies this concern: Fleet should affect battle, not replace military campaigns. First Captain should affect organizations, not create automatic obedience. Mystic and Hunter should provide information, not absolute knowledge. Corsair should create openings, not automatic destruction. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Section 2: Legendary Techniques Legendary Techniques represent the point where the Wayfinder becomes a historical figure. They affect: voyages, fleets, nations, organizations, maritime power.

🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 92 / 434

They are not simply stronger combat abilities. They are campaign tools. 2.1 Handling Legendary Effects When a Legendary Technique is used, consider: Immediate Effect What changes right now? Examples: a route becomes accessible, a fleet gains an advantage, a faction recognizes the captain, a supernatural boundary is crossed. Secondary Effects Who notices? Possible reactions: governments investigate, pirates attempt exploitation, merchants seek agreements, enemies create countermeasures, supernatural beings respond. Long-Term Effects How does the world change? Track: reputation, territory, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 93 / 434 alliances, enemies, economic changes, political consequences. Legendary abilities are designed to create lasting campaign developments. Permanent world-changing effects require time, resources, and campaign integration. ChatGPT- Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 2.2 Faction Responses Factions should react according to their interests. Merchants Possible responses: request access, offer contracts, compete, attempt control. Pirates Possible responses: challenge the captain, recruit the captain, imitate the captain, sabotage the captain. Governments Possible responses: negotiate, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 94 / 434 monitor, regulate, attempt alliance. Supernatural Powers Possible responses: curiosity, hostility, bargains, ancient claims. A Legendary captain becomes a strategic factor. The world notices. 2.3 Reputation Changes Reputation should evolve over time. Recommended progression: Local Reputation The captain becomes known among: crews, ports, local factions. Regional Reputation The captain becomes recognized by: kingdoms, major organizations, rival captains. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 95 / 434

Legendary Reputation The captain becomes a figure of maritime history. Possible results: songs, myths, political influence, historical records. Section 3: Fleet-Level Play 3.1 Multiple Ships Fleet-level campaigns require tracking more than individual combat. Important factors: objectives, positioning, supplies, morale, command structure, weather, enemy strategy. Avoid reducing fleet warfare to: "Roll attacks until ships explode." Ships represent: resources, organizations, strategic positions. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 96 / 434

3.2 Organizations Fleet techniques interact with organizations. Track: command hierarchy, officers, specialists, resources, loyalty, reputation. A fleet is not just a number. It is a living structure. 3.3 Strategic Conflicts Fleet conflicts should include objectives. Examples: Victory Conditions: capture a harbor, protect a convoy, escape pursuit, blockade an enemy, establish dominance. Not every naval conflict requires destruction. A smarter captain wins the objective. 3.4 Territory Control Territory should be tracked as a campaign resource. Examples: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 97 / 434

Controlled: ports, trade routes, islands, safe harbors, supply chains. Contested: pirate waters, disputed colonies, supernatural zones. Lost: captured ports, blocked routes, hostile territory. Section 4: Narrative Consequences Captain's Techniques are designed to change campaign states. The DM should maintain: NPC reactions, faction relationships, reputation, territory, route control. 4.1 NPC Reactions NPC reactions depend on: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 98 / 434

the captain's reputation, past actions, current interests. Examples: A feared Corsair Captain may receive: fear, hostility, reluctant respect. A First Captain may receive: diplomatic attention, political requests, strategic opposition. 4.2 Political Changes Political effects should create negotiations, not automatic control. A First Captain does not simply say: "You obey." Instead: "You must now consider this captain a major political actor." Possible outcomes: treaties, rival coalitions, trade agreements, political opposition. The balance review specifically establishes: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 99 / 434

First Captain creates influence, not automatic obedience. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 4.3 Reputation Systems Track: Allies Who supports the captain? Rivals Who challenges the captain? Enemies Who benefits from the captain failing? Dependents Who relies on the captain? Power creates relationships. Relationships create stories. 4.4 Changing World States When a captain succeeds, update the campaign. Examples: New Route Discovered Changes: trade, piracy, exploration, political value. Pirate Fleet Created 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 100 / 434

Changes: naval balance, rival responses, territorial claims. Supernatural Ocean Mastery Changes: magical interest, ancient awakenings, unusual threats. The world should remember. Campaign Integration Guidelines Naval Campaigns Emphasize: ships, crews, routes, battles, maritime reputation. Captain's Techniques should influence how naval situations are approached. Exploration Campaigns Emphasize: unknown locations, lost civilizations, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 101 / 434 impossible terrain. Exploration abilities should reveal opportunities, clues, and paths. They should not remove discovery. Pirate Campaigns Emphasize: reputation, rival captains, raids, alliances, territory. Political Campaigns Emphasize: diplomacy, organizations, influence, competing interests. Supernatural Ocean Campaigns Emphasize: strange routes, magical seas, ancient powers, impossible voyages. Balance Considerations 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 102 / 434

Fleet + First Captain Potential Risk: Military and political authority combining into automatic victory. Correction: Fleet controls tactical operations. First Captain controls influence and organization. Neither creates automatic success. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Mystic + Hunter Potential Risk: Perfect information. Correction: Information provides: clues, direction, probabilities. It does not reveal everything. Corsair + Siege Potential Risk: Automatic destruction. Correction: Creates: openings, vulnerabilities, advantages. It does not instantly destroy defenses. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 103 / 434

Legendary Influence Potential Risk: Permanent effects accumulating without limitation. Correction: Major changes require: time, resources, consequences, campaign tracking. Exploit Review Exploit Status No fundamental mechanical exploits identified. The primary risks are interpretation issues. exploration campaigns, pirate campaigns, political campaigns, island kingdom campaigns, supernatural maritime adventures. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt The guiding principle: Captain's Techniques modify situations. They do not replace campaigns. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Chapter 1: Running Captain's Techniques Understanding Captain Abilities Captain's Techniques represent increasing levels of maritime mastery. They progress through: Tier Captain Identity Campaign Role Least Emerging Captain Personal mastery Lesser Established Captain Specialized expertise Greater Master Captain Strategic influence Legendary Historic Captain Campaign-scale impact The DM should treat these abilities as tools that create opportunities. A successful Captain's Technique use should usually produce: 1. An advantage. 2. A new option. 3. A changed situation. 4. A meaningful consequence. It should not produce: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 172 / 434 automatic victory, automatic obedience, perfect information, removal of all opposition. Chapter 2: DM Preparation Checklist Before running a Captain-focused campaign, prepare: Maritime Environment Track: known routes, dangerous waters, ports, islands, trade lanes, supernatural locations. Factions Track: allies, enemies, rivals, organizations, political interests. Reputation Track how the world views the captain: Examples: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 173 / 434 unknown sailor, respected captain, feared pirate, legendary maritime figure. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Territory Track: controlled ports, safe harbors, contested waters, trade routes, strategic locations. Resources Track: ships, crews, supplies, alliances, political leverage. Chapter 3: Naval Campaigns Running Naval Adventures Naval adventures should not become simple ship-to-ship attack exchanges. A naval encounter should have: Objective 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 174 / 434

Examples: capture a vessel, escape pursuit, protect a convoy, discover an island, break a blockade.

Obstacles Examples: storms, reefs, enemy commanders, political restrictions, supernatural hazards.

Captain's Technique Impact Ask: "What advantage does this technique create?" Examples: A Seamanship ability may provide: safer navigation, improved positioning, better route access. A Fleet ability may provide: coordination, formation advantages, improved battlefield control. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 175 / 434

The remaining conflict still exists. The captain changed the situation. They did not erase it. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Chapter 4: Exploration Campaigns Exploration Philosophy Exploration Captain's Techniques accelerate discovery. They do not remove discovery. The DM should maintain: Known Routes Reliable paths: trade routes, mapped waters, established passages. Unknown Regions Areas requiring: investigation, navigation, survival, experimentation. Discoveries Examples: lost civilizations, hidden islands, ancient ruins, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 176 / 434 magical locations. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Information Boundaries Mystic and Hunter abilities provide: clues, direction, opportunities, useful observations. They do not provide: every secret, every trap, every hidden creature, perfect answers. The subsystem specifically identifies information abilities as a potential exploit area and limits them to useful information rather than certainty. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Chapter 5: Pirate Conflicts Pirate campaigns revolve around: reputation, rival captains, territory, resources, alliances. A Corsair-focused Wayfinder changes the balance of piracy. The DM should track: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 177 / 434

Pirate Reputation Questions: Who fears the captain? Who respects the captain? Who wants the captain removed? Rival Captains A legendary pirate should attract: challengers, imitators, alliances, betrayals. Pirate Politics A pirate fleet is not automatically loyal. It has: ambitions, personalities, rivalries, competing goals. Chapter 6: Fleet Warfare Resolving Fleet-Level Actions Fleet conflicts should be treated as strategic encounters. Track: Fleet Strength Includes: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 178 / 434 number of ships, ship quality, crew experience, commanders, supplies. Tactical Position Includes: wind advantage, terrain, formations, surprise, intelligence. Political Situation Includes: allies, enemies, treaties, reputation. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Using Fleet Techniques Fleet abilities influence: coordination, timing, positioning, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 179 / 434 effectiveness. They do not remove: planning, risk, leadership decisions. Example: Before: An enemy fleet has numerical superiority. After: The captain creates: improved formation, better positioning, increased survival odds. The battle remains. The captain changed the odds. Chapter 7: Managing First Captain Influence First Captain Philosophy First Captain represents: authority, diplomacy, organization, logistics, reputation, strategic influence. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 180 / 434

It does not represent mind control. The core distinction: Fleet makes people fight better. First Captain makes people follow. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Political Influence Rules A First Captain ability may create: alliances, negotiations, organizations, reputation, opportunities. It does not create: automatic loyalty, instant obedience, permanent political control. A king may respect a legendary captain without surrendering the kingdom. A pirate council may fear a captain without becoming devoted followers. Chapter 8: Island Kingdom Campaigns Captain's Techniques can support campaigns involving: island nations, maritime empires, pirate kingdoms, trade networks. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 181 / 434

Track: Territory Examples: Controlled: ports, islands, harbors. Contested: disputed waters, enemy claims. Unclaimed: unexplored regions. Infrastructure Track: shipyards, supply chains, trade routes, alliances. Political Impact A captain's actions may change: borders, economies, diplomacy, military balance. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 182 / 434

These changes should create new campaign situations. Chapter 9: Supernatural Oceans Mystic and Legendary Captain abilities may interact with: magical seas, impossible routes, ancient powers, supernatural storms. The DM should preserve mystery. A supernatural navigation ability should reveal: paths, warnings, possibilities. It should not reveal: every danger, every secret, every solution. Chapter 10: Legendary Techniques Legendary Techniques represent campaign-scale abilities. They may influence: voyages, fleets, territories, nations, exploration, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 183 / 434 naval warfare, political structures. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Managing Legendary Effects When a Legendary Technique is used: Ask: Immediate Impact What changes now? Strategic Impact Who reacts? Examples: governments, merchants, pirates, supernatural entities. Long-Term Consequence What changes permanently? Examples: new routes, new alliances, new enemies, new territories. Legendary Limit Permanent world changes require: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 184 / 434 time, resources, narrative consequences. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Chapter 11: Reputation Tracking Recommended reputation progression: Stage Meaning Unknown Sailor Local recognition Respected Captain Regional reputation Famous Captain Major influence Living Legend Historical importance ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Track: allies, rivals, enemies, dependents. Chapter 12: Faction Tracking For every major faction record: Goals What does the faction want? Resources What can they provide? 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 185 / 434

Relationship Current status: hostile, neutral, cooperative, allied. Response How do they react to the captain's growth? Chapter 13: Route Tracking Maintain a maritime map. Track: Known Routes Safe travel. Hidden Routes Recently discovered paths. Lost Routes Ancient or inaccessible passages. Controlled Routes Strategic resources. A captain who changes navigation changes the world. Common Rulings Guide Fleet + First Captain Potential issue: Military and political authority combining into automatic victory. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 186 / 434

Resolution: Fleet affects: battles, formations, tactical operations. First Captain affects: organizations, authority, influence. Neither grants automatic success. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Mystic + Hunter Potential issue: Perfect information. Resolution: Provides: clues, direction, advantages. Not: absolute knowledge. Corsair + Siege Potential issue: Automatic destruction. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 187 / 434

Resolution: Creates weaknesses. Does not automatically destroy: ships, walls, fortifications. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Fleet Stacking Resolution: A creature can benefit from only one Fleet command effect at a time. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Campaign Integration Examples Example 1: The Lost Route Explorer Captain discovers a forgotten passage. Immediate: The party gains a travel advantage. Consequences: merchants want access, pirates want control, kingdoms want influence. Example 2: The Pirate Fleet Corsair Captain defeats a rival fleet. Immediate: The captain gains reputation. Consequences: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 188 / 434 survivors seek revenge, pirates negotiate, governments respond. Example 3: The Maritime Kingdom First Captain establishes authority. Immediate: The captain gains political influence. Consequences: rivals appear, treaties form, enemies organize. Balance Review Overall Assessment PASS The subsystem's main balance risks are not raw numerical power. They are: scope interpretation, information certainty, political control, fleet stacking. The approved corrections preserve power while maintaining campaign play. ChatGPT- Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Exploit Review Exploit 1: Fleet + First Captain 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 189 / 434

Status: Resolved. Correction: Separate tactical command from strategic influence. Exploit 2: Mystic + Hunter Status: Resolved. Correction: Information provides clues, not certainty. Exploit 3: Corsair Siege Status: Resolved. Correction: Create openings, not automatic destruction. Exploit 4: Legendary Influence Chain Status: Resolved. Correction: Permanent changes require: downtime, resources, consequences. ChatGPT- Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Publication Readiness Report 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 190 / 434 system from scratch. Thinking •Finalizing the publication package User is asking to assemble the final publication package. It seems like I can handle this without needing additional web searches. I'll work with the available file excerpts. However, since some content is still missing, I can confirm the structure but note that the content isn't complete. I'll have to leave out specific line references since the tool doesn't provide them.

•Listing remaining command prompts User is asking for a list of remaining command prompts. I'll be clear that the full technique catalog is still missing, but I'll provide the prompts related to the remaining steps: Final Technique Entry Integration, Player Guide Completion, DM Appendix Completion, Index Generation, and other variants. I'll focus on production phase tasks from the current state of the project. •Listing remaining prompts with citations The remaining prompts likely include Final Technique Entry Integration, Player Guide Completion, DM Appendix Completion, Index Generation, and others. Since we're starting another thread, I'll present these in code blocks. As for citations, the file snippets don't include line numbers, so I'll probably reference the file IDs instead, ensuring at least some citations. ✓Thought for 21s The records still flag the finalized technique archive as the missing dependency, so the next thread should start with the archive insertion step. The subsystem is intended to support campaigns involving: naval campaigns, exploration, political influence, fleet warfare, island kingdoms, pirate conflicts, supernatural oceans. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt The DM guidance principle is: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 294 / 434

Captain's Techniques create opportunities, consequences, and campaign changes. They do not automatically solve campaigns. Legendary effects especially require consequence tracking rather than simple resolution removal. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Appendix: Running Captain's Techniques Campaigns Introduction: The Captain Changes the World Captain's Techniques represent a progression beyond personal combat ability. A Wayfinder's influence expands through: ships, crews, routes, factions, territories, reputation, supernatural maritime forces. A DM should treat Captain's Techniques as tools that reshape the campaign environment. The correct question is not: "How do I stop this ability?" The correct question is: "What changes because this captain can do this?" A captain discovering a new route does not end exploration. It creates: trade opportunities, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 295 / 434 rival expeditions, political interest, territorial conflicts. A captain commanding a fleet does not replace warfare. It changes the scale of warfare. Section I: Running Naval Campaigns Campaign Focus Naval campaigns emphasize: ships, crews, voyages, naval battles, maritime reputation. Captain's Techniques should influence: ship operation, tactical decisions, survival, crew effectiveness. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Naval Campaign Scales Personal Scale Focus: boarding actions, duels, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 296 / 434 ship exploration, individual encounters. Captain's Techniques function normally. Ship Scale Focus: maneuvering, repairs, crew coordination, objectives. DM Considerations: Track: ship condition, crew morale, supplies, weather, enemy tactics. Fleet Scale Focus: multiple vessels, strategic conflicts, naval campaigns. Captain's Techniques should provide: advantages, opportunities, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 297 / 434 strategic options. They should not remove the need for: officers, commanders, organizations. Legendary Fleet abilities provide command capability without replacing entire military structures. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Section II: Exploration Campaigns Campaign Focus Exploration campaigns emphasize: unknown islands, lost civilizations, forgotten routes, supernatural locations. DM Guidance Exploration-based Captain's Techniques should reveal: opportunities, information, paths forward. They should not remove discovery. Example A Wayfinder discovers a hidden passage through impossible waters. Immediate Result 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 298 / 434

The route becomes available. Strategic Result The party gains access to: new regions, trade opportunities, forgotten locations. Consequences Possible reactions: rival explorers investigate, governments seek control, ancient guardians awaken. The discovery becomes a new story thread. Section III: Pirate Conflicts Campaign

Focus Pirate campaigns emphasize: rival captains, raids, reputation, treasure, territory. DM Guidance When a Corsair or pirate-focused captain succeeds, update: enemy reputation, rival behavior, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 299 / 434 faction responses. Example A Wayfinder defeats a famous pirate fleet. Immediate Enemy forces retreat. Short-Term The captain gains maritime reputation. Long-Term New rivals emerge. Possible consequences: bounty hunters arrive, pirate factions challenge authority, merchants seek protection. Section IV: Fleet Warfare Managing Fleet-Level Actions Fleet warfare should operate on strategic decisions. Track: objectives, positioning, resources, alliances, enemy goals. Avoiding the “Single Character Army” Problem A high-level captain may command fleets. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 300 / 434

However: Captain’s Techniques do not replace: officers, crews, logistics, political structures. The captain directs the machine. The captain is not the machine. Section V: Political Campaigns and Island Kingdoms Political Influence First Captain abilities represent: authority, reputation, organizations, diplomacy. They create influence. They do not create automatic obedience. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Handling First Captain Influence When a player gains political power, track: Immediate Effect What authority exists now? Strategic Effect What opportunities appear? 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 301 / 434

Consequence Who reacts? Example A captain gains control over a harbor. Immediate The harbor becomes available. Strategic The party gains: supplies, allies, economic opportunities. Consequences Possible reactions: rival nations respond, merchants negotiate, enemies attempt disruption. Section VI: Supernatural Oceans Campaign Focus Supernatural ocean campaigns emphasize: impossible routes, magical seas, ancient mysteries, hidden worlds. DM Guidance 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 302 / 434

Mystic and exploration-focused Captain’s Techniques should expand the map. They should not erase mystery. The ocean should remain: dangerous, unknown, alive. Section VII: Managing Legendary Techniques Legendary Techniques represent campaign-scale influence. They may affect: fleets, territories, voyages, politics, exploration. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Legendary Technique Review Process When a Legendary Technique is used, define: Immediate Effect What changes immediately? Strategic Effect What new options appear? Consequences Who notices? Who reacts? 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 303 / 434

What changes? ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Legendary Restrictions Legendary abilities should not: grant automatic victory, remove all future naval threats, replace divine powers, create unlimited resources, invalidate other player roles. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Section VIII: Campaign Tracking Tools Reputation Tracker Use reputation as a living campaign value. Rank Description Unknown Few know the captain Recognized Local reputation Respected Regional influence Feared Major maritime threat Legendary Historical figure ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Reputation Effects May influence: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 304 / 434 negotiations, recruitment, rumors, encounters. Reputation creates opportunities. It does not replace roleplay. Faction Tracker Track: Name Example: The Crimson Wake Fleet Goal What does the faction want? Resources What do they control? Examples: ships, ports, wealth, information. Relationship Current opinion of the Wayfinder. Response How do they react? 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 305 / 434

Example Faction Record Iron Harbor Consortium Goal: Control maritime trade. Resources: merchant fleet, warehouses, political connections. Relationship: Suspicious. Response: Attempts negotiation before hostility. Territory Tracker Track: Controlled Ports Who governs them? Safe Routes Who protects them? Dangerous Waters What threatens travelers? Unknown Regions What remains undiscovered? Route Tracker 🚀

"Does a Captain's Technique automatically succeed?" No. Captain's Techniques provide advantages, not universal success. "Can Legendary Techniques change the world?" Yes. They create lasting consequences. "Can First Captain abilities force loyalty?" No. They create influence, not mind control. "Can exploration abilities reveal everything?" The subsystem successfully creates a distinct identity separate from existing D&D 3.5 systems. The core distinction: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 415 / 434

System Core Question Warlock What forbidden power do you possess? Binder What forgotten entity do you borrow? Tome of Battle How do you fight? Factotum What can you improvise? Wayfinder What changes because you are the captain? ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Mechanical Balance Review Grade: A- Findings The subsystem maintains appropriate D&D 3.5 power expectations. Strengths: modular selection, meaningful customization, permanent progression, strong thematic identity. The four-tier progression is mechanically appropriate: Tier Function Least Identity foundation Lesser Specialization Greater Strategic mastery Legendary Campaign-scale influence ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 416 / 434

Tier Review Least Tier Assessment: PASS Purpose: Establish: captain identity, exploration role, combat style, leadership foundation. Strengths: useful immediately, avoids dead early choices, strong flavor. Concern: Some techniques depend heavily on campaign style. Example: A naval campaign heavily values Seamanship.

A dungeon campaign may value Hunter or Duelist more. Decision: No mechanical change required. This is expected for a specialized subsystem. Lesser Tier Assessment: PASS Purpose: Transition: 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 417 / 434 skilled captain → specialized maritime commander Strengths: strongest overall balance point, meaningful specialization, broad utility. Potential pressure areas: Fleet First Captain Mystic These categories may become universally attractive. Required handling: Use existing interaction limitations. Do not weaken category identity. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Greater Tier Assessment: PASS WITH CLARIFICATIONS Purpose: Strategic mastery. Comparable to: Greater Invocations, high-level maneuvers, powerful Binder abilities. Potential concerns: Corsair Siege Effects 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 418 / 434

Risk: "Use ability → fortress disappears." Correction: Corsair abilities create vulnerabilities. They do not automatically destroy: ships, walls, fortifications. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Mystic Effects Risk: Perfect information. Correction: Mystic and Hunter abilities provide: clues, direction, opportunities. They do not provide: complete answers, automatic discovery, bypassed mysteries. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt Legendary Tier Assessment: PASS 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 419 / 434

Purpose: Represent: legendary voyages, fleets, territories, political influence, supernatural maritime authority. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt The tier succeeds because it creates: campaign influence, not automatic campaign victory. Required limitation: Permanent world-changing effects require: time, resources, consequences, DM integration. ChatGPT-Pirate Adventure Setup 2.txt 2. Wayfinder: tactical and strategic superiority. Binder Result: Comparable. Difference: Binder: daily flexibility. Wayfinder: permanent identity specialization. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 429 / 434

Factotum Result: Comparable with restrictions. Concern: First Captain approaches broad utility. Resolution: Maintain: preparation requirements, resource requirements, influence limitations. 8. Resolution: Single source of truth for final technique archive. Concern 2: Legendary abilities require DM guidance. Risk: Players interpreting influence as automatic authority. Resolution: Maintain consequence framework. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 430 / 434

Although the Wayfinder sourcebook and two project files are attached to the conversation, the file search system is unable to retrieve their contents, and only truncated snippets are available. The project has crossed from design into production. The manuscript itself repeatedly identifies the remaining blockers: integrate the finalized Captain's Technique catalog, generate progression charts, add example builds, create reference indexes, and complete formatting and layout. Recommended Next Command Prompt: Captain's Techniques Final Archive Integration This should consolidate the complete approved technique database into the sourcebook, populate all progression charts, replace framework placeholders with finalized content, and verify every cross-reference. Conclusion The manuscript already has a solid structural framework for Captain's Techniques. The remaining work is primarily editorial integration: inserting the finalized archive into the dedicated chapter, wiring cross-references throughout the book, populating progression tables, and completing publication assets such as the glossary, appendices, and master index. No chapter requires fundamental restructuring based on the current source; the focus should remain on replacing placeholders and ensuring consistent navigation and references across the entire manuscript. 7/31/2026, 7:33:30 AM  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 65 / 136

You are acting as the Lead Editor. Integrate the finalized Captain's Techniques into the Wayfinder Sourcebook. Replace placeholder sections. Insert finalized terminology. Update chapter references. Update: • Character Creation • Class Features • Advancement • Captain's Techniques chapter • Related appendices
Do not alter unrelated mechanics. Preserve all existing terminology. 7/31/2026, 7:33:55 AM After reviewing the uploaded Wayfinder manuscript and the previous audit, I cannot honestly perform this integration as requested because the required source material is not actually present in the manuscript. Specifically, your prompt begins with: "Integrate the finalized Captain's Techniques into the Wayfinder Sourcebook." The current manuscript repeatedly references a future/finalized Captain's Techniques archive that is intended to replace placeholders and populate  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 66 / 136 progression tables, but that complete archive is not included in the source I reviewed.

Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Because of that, I cannot truthfully: Replace placeholder sections. Insert finalized terminology where individual techniques belong. Update class progression with specific technique names. Populate appendices with the finalized technique catalog. Doing so would require inventing content, which would violate your instruction to preserve existing mechanics and use only the finalized archive. What can be integrated now Based on the manuscript, the following can be completed immediately once the finalized archive is available: Character Creation chapter references Wayfinder class progression references Captain's Techniques chapter placement Advancement references Appendix structure Glossary references Internal chapter links Index entries Terminology standardization The current blocker The manuscript indicates that the following production asset is still external to the sourcebook: Complete Captain's Techniques Archive (all finalized techniques, organized by category and tier).
Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 67 / 136

Without that archive, any integration would necessarily fabricate technique names, prerequisites, or progression entries. Recommended next step The next prompt should be aimed at the actual source of truth: Integrate the finalized Captain's Techniques archive into the Wayfinder Sourcebook using the approved archive document. Replace all Captain's Techniques placeholders, populate progression tables, update chapter references, and generate the revised manuscript sections. Once the finalized archive document is available in the conversation (or already exists as a separate file), I can perform the integration chapter by chapter without inventing any mechanics, preserving all established terminology and structure. 7/31/2026, 7:33:55 AM  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 68 / 136

You are acting as the Rules Editor. Populate every Captain's Techniques progression table. Generate: • Level progression • Technique acquisition • Tier unlocks • Category summaries • Printable tables Verify every table matches the finalized archive. Report any inconsistencies. 7/31/2026, 7:34:05 AM I can't honestly complete this task from the current manuscript because it depends on data that is not present in the uploaded source.

Your prompt requires me to: Populate every Captain's Techniques progression table. Verify every table matches the finalized archive. Report inconsistencies. However, the Wayfinder manuscript explicitly indicates that the progression tables are awaiting the finalized Captain's Techniques archive, and the complete archive is not included in the current source. As a result, I cannot accurately generate: Technique acquisition by level (beyond the framework already documented) Tier unlock assignments for individual techniques Category counts 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 69 / 136

Printable technique tables listing specific techniques Validation against the finalized archive Those would require inventing technique names or placements, which would violate both your prompt ("Verify every table matches the finalized archive") and the manuscript. What can be verified from the manuscript The following framework is supported: Item Status Captain's Technique acquisition levels ✅ Documented Four-tier structure (Least, Lesser, Greater, Legendary) ✅ Documented Seven technique categories ✅ Documented Progression framework ✅ Documented Individual technique placement ❌ Final archive not present Printable progression tables ❌ Awaiting archive integration Per-technique tier verification ❌ Cannot verify Current inconsistency report The primary inconsistency is not within the rules themselves, but within the production state: Critical: Final Captain's Techniques archive has not been integrated. Critical: Progression tables remain placeholders pending archive integration. Critical: Individual technique acquisition cannot be validated against the manuscript. Recommended production sequence 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 70 / 136

This prompt should not be executed yet. Instead, the next production milestone should be: 1. Integrate the complete finalized Captain's Techniques archive into the manuscript. 2. Verify every technique's category, tier, and prerequisites. 3. Populate the progression tables from that integrated archive. 4. Run a validation pass to ensure every table matches the finalized technique list. Once the finalized archive is available in the manuscript or as a separate uploaded file, I can generate the complete progression tables and verify them without inventing missing content. 7/31/2026, 7:34:06 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 71 / 136

You are acting as the Player Guide Editor. Update every player-facing chapter involving Captain's Techniques. Ensure players understand: • Choosing Techniques • Upgrading • Replacing • Categories • Tiers • Advancement • Build planning Remove obsolete terminology. Preserve existing mechanics. 7/31/2026, 7:34:26 AM I cannot honestly complete this editing pass as requested because it requires content that is not yet present in the uploaded manuscript. Your prompt instructs me to: Update every player-facing chapter involving Captain's Techniques Remove obsolete terminology Preserve existing mechanics That requires rewriting player-facing text around the finalized Captain's Techniques, but the manuscript still contains placeholders where the finalized technique archive, progression tables, and example builds are intended to be inserted. If I rewrote those chapters now, I would either: invent explanations for techniques that are not in the manuscript, or 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 72 / 136

remove placeholders without knowing what they will ultimately contain. Either would violate your instruction to preserve existing mechanics and use the finalized archive. What can be completed now Based on the current manuscript, the following player-facing improvements are ready once the archive is integrated: Character Creation Add a "Planning Your Captain" section. Cross-reference the Captain's Techniques chapter. Explain when techniques are first acquired. Add long-term advancement guidance. Wayfinder Class Link class progression to Captain's Techniques acquisition. Reference tier progression. Add build-planning guidance. Cross-reference progression tables. Captain's Techniques Chapter Insert the finalized archive. Organize by category and tier. Add navigation aids. Add acquisition summaries. Add replacement rules where applicable. Advancement Reference technique acquisition at the documented class levels. Link to progression tables. 🚀

Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 73 / 136

Appendices Technique quick-reference tables. Category summaries. Tier summaries. Glossary entries. Player reference sheets. These structural improvements are supported by the manuscript, but the detailed player text depends on the missing archive. Current production blocker The manuscript's own production notes identify the same dependency: Final Captain's Techniques archive not integrated. Progression tables awaiting archive. Example builds awaiting finalized techniques. Until those assets exist in the manuscript, a true player-guide editing pass cannot be completed without fabricating content. Recommended sequence The next practical milestone is to complete the Captain's Techniques Final Archive itself. Once that document exists in the manuscript, the Player Guide editing pass becomes a straightforward editorial task rather than a design exercise. 7/31/2026, 7:34:27 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 74 / 136

You are acting as the Player Guide Editor. Update every player-facing chapter involving Captain's Techniques. Ensure players understand: • Choosing Techniques • Upgrading • Replacing • Categories • Tiers • Advancement • Build planning Remove obsolete terminology. Preserve existing mechanics. 7/31/2026, 7:35:20 AM Based on the uploaded Wayfinder Sourcebook, I cannot truthfully perform this editorial update yet without violating your own production rules. Here's why: Your prompt requires me to: Update every player-facing chapter. Remove obsolete terminology. Preserve existing mechanics. The manuscript itself shows that the player-facing Captain's Techniques material is not complete because the finalized Captain's Techniques archive has not yet been integrated. The Player Guide, progression tables, and example builds all reference content that is still pending integration. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 75 / 136

That means I do not have the authoritative source needed to rewrite the player-facing chapters without inventing or assuming missing details. What I can confirm from the manuscript The existing player guidance already establishes the framework for: Captain's Techniques as a core Wayfinder progression system. Four technique tiers. Seven technique categories. Acquisition at specified class levels. Long-term specialization by category. However, the detailed explanations of: choosing between individual techniques, replacing techniques, upgrade paths, build examples, and finalized progression tables depend on the absent technique archive. Editorial assessment From a production standpoint, this prompt is out of sequence. The correct workflow is: 1. Finalize and integrate the complete Captain's Techniques archive. 2. Populate all progression tables. 3. Validate terminology and cross-references. 4. Then perform the Player Guide editorial pass. Once the archive exists in the manuscript, I can rewrite the player-facing chapters to improve clarity while preserving mechanics. Until then, any update would necessarily 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 76 / 136 introduce content that is not supported by the uploaded source, which would undermine the editorial integrity of the sourcebook. 7/31/2026, 7:35:21 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 77 / 136

You are acting as the Dungeon Master Guide Editor. Update every DM-facing chapter involving Captain's Techniques. Include: • NPC Captains • Villain Captains • Encounter balance • Treasure recommendations • Optional rulings • Campaign guidance Do not alter unrelated chapters. 7/31/2026, 7:35:28 AM After reviewing the current Wayfinder manuscript, I cannot honestly complete this editing pass as requested because it depends on content that the manuscript explicitly identifies as not yet integrated. Your prompt requires updating every DM-facing chapter involving Captain's Techniques to include: NPC Captains Villain Captains

Encounter balance Treasure recommendations Optional rulings Campaign guidance However, the manuscript indicates that the finalized Captain's Techniques archive is still pending integration, and the DM-facing examples and progression references are awaiting that archive. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 78 / 136

Without the finalized list of techniques, I cannot truthfully: build NPC Captain templates, assign techniques to villain archetypes, recommend treasure that interacts with specific techniques, balance encounters around technique availability, or write optional rulings for mechanics that are not yet present. Doing so would require inventing content beyond what the source supports. What the manuscript already supports The existing DM-facing material establishes the framework for: Running Wayfinder campaigns. Fleet warfare and naval encounters. Political and exploration-focused campaigns. General balance philosophy and exploit prevention. The manuscript also anticipates future integration of Captain's Techniques into DM guidance, but those sections remain dependent on the finalized archive. DM integration points identified Once the finalized Captain's Techniques archive is available, the following sections should be updated: NPC Captains: assign techniques by role, category, and level. Villain Captains: provide recommended technique packages for recurring antagonists. Encounter Balance: account for Captain's Techniques when estimating encounter difficulty. Treasure Recommendations: identify appropriate rewards tied to Captain advancement without duplicating class mechanics. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 79 / 136

Optional Rulings: clarify adjudication for edge cases involving Captain's Techniques. Campaign Guidance: discuss how different technique categories influence exploration, fleet actions, politics, and long-term campaign themes. These integration targets are consistent with the manuscript's existing structure but cannot be populated until the archive exists. Editorial conclusion This prompt is also blocked by the same production dependency identified in the earlier audits: 1. Integrate the finalized Captain's Techniques archive. 2. Populate progression tables. 3. Validate terminology and references. 4. Then perform the DM Guide integration using the finalized mechanics. Following that sequence preserves the sourcebook's editorial integrity and avoids introducing unsupported rules or examples. 7/31/2026, 7:35:28 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 80 / 136

The remaining issues are overwhelmingly production issues rather than writing issues. Editorial Readiness Estimate: 91% 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 81 / 136

1. Terminology Audit Status ● Very Good Core terminology remains consistent throughout the manuscript. Consistently used terms include: Captain's Techniques Wayfinder Least Lesser Greater Legendary Seamanship Duelist Corsair Fleet Hunter Mystic First Captain These terms consistently represent the same concepts. Editorial Issues Minor Singular/plural usage varies. Observed forms include: Captain's Technique Captain's Technique Captain's Techniques 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 82 / 136

Examples include: Wayfinder Level Wayfinder level Recommendation: Choose one house style and apply consistently. Minor Some archetype names appear with inconsistent spacing. Example: Fleet Admiral Fleet Admiral Recommendation: Use Fleet Admiral consistently. 2. Numbering Audit Status  Good Current numbering hierarchy is understandable. However: Future archive insertion will require renumbering.  Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 83 / 136

Current placeholders interrupt sequential numbering. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Recommendation Final numbering should occur after: archive integration appendix creation glossary completion Never before. 3. Heading Hierarchy Status  Good Most chapters follow a logical structure. However several sections appear imported from separate drafting sessions. Minor inconsistencies include: Heading depth Heading capitalization Spacing Separator styles Recommendation Adopt a single hierarchy. The Captain's Techniques subsystem is editorially cohesive and mechanically well organized. The terminology, structure, and presentation are already close to publication quality. The remaining issues are concentrated in production completion, not copy editing. Specifically, the absent finalized Captain's Techniques archive prevents completion of numbering, progression tables, examples, internal references, glossary entries, and index generation. Once that archive is integrated, a final copy-editing pass should be sufficient to bring the subsystem to publication standard. 7/31/2026, 7:35:37 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 90 / 136

Instead, priority should shift to completing the production assets that the existing framework depends upon. Recommended sequence: 1. Integrate the finalized Captain's Techniques archive into the sourcebook. 2. Populate all progression tables and reference appendices. 3. Create player and NPC example builds. 4. Complete the glossary and master index. 5. Validate all internal references after final pagination. 6. Proceed to layout, artwork integration, and proofreading. After these tasks are complete, the broader Wayfinder project should transition to its remaining worldbuilding priorities, including campaign framework expansion, maps, 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 118 / 136 regional gazetteers, faction interaction development, and adventure support material, which you previously identified as the largest remaining area of work. What's the next step 7/31/2026, 7:38:29 AM Based on the manuscript and the validation sequence we've completed, the Captain's Techniques subsystem itself has reached the end of the editorial audit phase. Every subsequent prompt in the original sequence that depended on the "finalized archive" hit the same blocker: the manuscript doesn't yet contain that complete archive. That means the next phase should not be another audit. It should be content creation and integration. Phase 2 - Campaign Framework & World Development From our earlier review, this is now the largest unfinished portion of the sourcebook. Priority 1 (Recommended) World Atlas & Maps Create: Continental world map Regional maps Sea routes Political boundaries Trade routes Pirate territories Naval lanes Exploration zones Major ports Dangerous waters Ancient ruins 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 120 / 136

Revised Sourcebook Roadmap With the Captain's Techniques review complete, I'd reorganize the remaining production work into four major phases: 1. Campaign Framework & Worldbuilding (your biggest remaining gap, around 60-70% complete). 2. Player & DM Support (example characters, adventures, random tables, encounter generators, NPC libraries). 3. Visual Production (maps, diagrams, iconography, chapter art, reference sheets). 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 124 / 136

4. Publication (glossary, index, layout, proofreading, print optimization). This sequence shifts effort from subsystem design to building a living campaign setting. In terms of workload, you've moved from engineering the ship to charting the ocean it sails. The ship is largely built; now it needs somewhere worth getting lost in. 7/31/2026, 7:38:29 AM 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 125 / 136

The ocean is large, but the manuscript is not magic, so it has limits. I've got the framework: broad premise, major factions, and campaign loop are in place, but the atlas-level detail is still mostly a blank chart with a few islands penciled in. I'm separating what the manuscript already supports from what it still needs. Thinking ● Compiling a comprehensive report on the campaign framework 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 127 / 136

I need to form a detailed report, using relevant citations from sources. The campaign setting seems incomplete in terms of worldbuilding, especially geography, with missing maps and detailed regions. I'll mention existing factions, ports, and regions like Blackwake Harbor, Crimson Citadel, and more for context, including any available source citations. ● Gathering campaign framework details I should include citations from pages 1-2 and 16-18. I'll mention recommended regional gazetteers and list named regions like Blackwake Harbor and Salvager's Haven. The campaign loop—including stages like Rumor→Expedition→Trade—seems mostly complete. I'll also provide a list of completed and missing worldbuilding, supporting facts with citations. ● Listing completed and missing worldbuilding elements The campaign includes four magic systems, major factions with home ports, and starting origin methods. We have a few named settlements and ports, plus a trade network concept. I'll create a "Missing Worldbuilding" list, covering topics like maps, trade routes, and cultures, citing sources where details are lacking. ● Identifying areas that need expansion and recommended maps It seems the absence of details is difficult to directly cite, but I can refer to the high-level mentions in the source ● Mapping factions and interactions For dominion regions, I'll list locations like Nymorath Deep Harbor and Salvager's Haven, making sure they are named in the source. I'll also create a simple faction interaction matrix, outlining relationships based on available information such as the tense partnership between the Free Captains and the Merchant Consortium, and potential hostilities between others. ● Creating a timeline and identifying exploration categories I'll outline the known fixed points in the political timeline, such as the Sundering Tide and the disappearance of the First Captains. I'll also note timeline gaps and missing historical events, like wars and faction founding dates. For exploration, I'll list categories like hidden routes, lost civilizations, and underwater kingdoms, citing relevant pages. ✓ Thought for 25s Wayfinder Sourcebook World Development Report Phase II: Campaign Framework Expansion Role: Creative Director and Worldbuilding Lead Scope: Structural audit only. the reviewed campaign framework and Captain's Techniques materials. Executive Summary The campaign framework is strong at the premise level and thin at the atlas / polity / culture level. The manuscript already gives you a playable high concept: a shattered archipelago world, a discovery loop, major faction identities, and a strong naval-fantasy tone. What is still missing is the infrastructure that makes the setting feel lived-in: maps, borders, local economies, inter-faction diplomacy, regional identities, settlement detail, and a historical timeline beyond the founding catastrophe. The book has a compass. It does not yet have a full chart table. Estimated campaign framework completion: 43%. A. Completed worldbuilding The following foundation is already in place: Core setting premise: The world is The Shattered Expanse, broken into tens of thousands of islands after the Sundering Tide, with only about 35% of the oceans reliably charted and the rest called The Unwritten Sea. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Campaign identity: The setting is built around the loop Rumor → Expedition → Discovery → Map → Route → Trade → Conflict, which gives the campaign a coherent play structure. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Major macro-themes: The manuscript already defines the Uncharted

Ocean, Great Magical Trade Network, Pirate Renaissance, Underdark Ocean, and Lost Civilization Mystery as the setting's main engines. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Core metaphysics: The four magic systems are clearly defined: Arcane, Psionics, Spirit, and Deep Magic. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Faction anchor points: Six major factions are already named with home bases and broad identities: Free Captains Alliance / Blackwake Harbor, Grand Merchant Consortium / Port Meridian, Crimson Dominion / The Crimson Citadel, Drowned Silk Houses / Nymorath Deep Harbor, Spirit Keepers / The Last Harbor, and Independent Salvagers / Salvager's Haven. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 129 / 136

Starting-campaign structure: The opening shipwreck origin system and rescue- circumstance framework are already defined. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf High-level campaign support logic: The DM-facing material already establishes how captain powers should alter routes, reputation, territory, politics, and fleet conflict without replacing the adventure. B. Missing worldbuilding These areas are either absent or only named at a very high level: Continental geography: The setting is an archipelago world, so continent-scale geography needs to be replaced with an explicit island-chain / sea-basin structure. The manuscript does not yet provide that structure. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Regional geography: There are named ports and faction hubs, but no region-by- region geographic breakdown yet. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Political boundaries: Borders, control lines, contested waters, and sovereign claims are only gestured at, not mapped or codified. Nations and city-states: Major powers are named, but their internal administrative shapes are not developed. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Pirate territories: Pirate influence is present as a theme, but territorial ownership and faction-held waters are not yet detailed. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Trade routes and sea lanes: The book speaks in broad terms about routes and trade, but not in mapped or indexed form. Naval powers: The setting has naval conflict, but not a fully developed order of fleets, patrol zones, or strategic naval doctrine. Merchant, religious, and criminal organizations: Merchants exist as a macro- power, but the substructures are not yet built. Religious and criminal institutions are largely absent from the reviewed material. Inter-faction relationships: The factions are described independently, but their alliances, rivalries, treaties, trade dependencies, and proxy wars are not yet defined. Diplomacy and war history: The manuscript defines political consequences, but not a real diplomatic timeline or war record. 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 130 / 136

Cultures and languages: No dedicated cultural or linguistic framework appears in the reviewed framework sections. Economies: There is a trade-network concept, but no local economies, commodity loops, taxation systems, scarcity profiles, or port economies yet. Exploration regions: The book references hidden routes, lost civilizations, ancient ruins, magical locations, and supernatural seas, but has not mapped them into a regional exploration atlas. Major ports, capital cities, villages, dungeons, ancient civilizations, adventure locations: These are referenced as categories, not fully built as setting entries. C. Areas requiring expansion Priority order should be: 1. World atlas / map layer for the Shattered Expanse, including charted vs. uncharted waters. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 2. Regional gazetteers for each named power center and surrounding waters. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 3. Faction relationship model covering alliances, rivalries, trade, and military pressure. 4. Political history timeline from the Sundering Tide to the present era. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 5. Trade and economy layer with ports, commodities, route value, and supply dependencies. 6. Culture, language, and social structure pass for each major region. This is currently absent. 7. Exploration atlas of ruins, hidden islands, submerged cities, and supernatural seas. 8. Settlement catalog for ports, capitals, villages, and frontier outposts. 9. Conflict catalog for wars, blockades, raids, colonial disputes, and pirate wars. D. Recommended maps 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 131 / 136

The setting needs maps in this order: 1. World overview map of the Shattered Expanse, showing the archipelago structure and the contrast between charted and uncharted waters. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 2. Trade and sea-lane map showing major routes, safe passages, and high-value lanes. 3. Political control map showing faction influence, contested waters, and sovereign claims. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 4. Regional maps for each major faction hub and surrounding islands. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 5. Underdark Ocean / subterranean maritime map for the deeper civilization layer. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 6. Exploration hazard map marking supernatural zones, lost routes, ruins, and anomalies. E. Recommended regional gazetteers These are the obvious first gazetteer targets: Blackwake Harbor / Free Captains Alliance Pirate-frontier, exploration, independence. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Port Meridian / Grand Merchant Consortium Neutral trade power and economic hub. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf The Crimson Citadel / Crimson Dominion Arcane imperial power and exploitation state. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Nymorath Deep Harbor / Drowned Silk Houses Drow undersea political and military power. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf The Last Harbor / Spirit Keepers Hidden sanctuary preserving Navigator Spirit and First Captain lore. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Salvager's Haven / Independent Salvagers Frontier wreck-hunter economy. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 🚀

The Underdark Ocean Not a settlement, but a required mega-region gazetteer because the manuscript treats it as a major campaign layer. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf F. Faction interaction matrix This is the relationship layer that still needs to be written. The current manuscript gives faction identities, but not the connective tissue. Based on those stated roles, the matrix should be built as follows: Faction Current sourcebook role Relationship work needed Free Captains Alliance Pirate frontier, exploration, independence Define trade, treaty, and war relations with every major power. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Grand Merchant Consortium Neutral trade power Define commercial dependencies, embargoes, and covert influence. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Crimson Dominion Arcane empire, slavery, route threat Define hostility thresholds, espionage, and naval response doctrine. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Drowned Silk Houses Ancient drow undersea civilization Define surface raid patterns, diplomacy limits, and relic politics. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Spirit Keepers Hidden sanctuary, lore guardians Define secrecy, alliance conditions, and First Captain access. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Independent Salvagers Frontier wreck hunters Define transactional ties to merchants, pirates, and explorers. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf 🚀
Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 133 / 136

Development note: the book already establishes broad faction motives and several likely pressure points, but the explicit relationship matrix is still missing. G. Political timeline The manuscript currently gives only a few fixed historical anchors: ~800 years ago: The Sundering Tide shattered the world. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Ancient era: The First Captains mastered the bond between Arcane, Psionics, Spirits, and the Ocean, then vanished. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Present era: The setting is in the Pirate Renaissance and the Great Magical Trade Network age. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Future capstone: A level 20 Wayfinder may pursue the "Restore the First Captains" quest. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Missing timeline segments Founding dates of nations and ports Major wars and peace treaties Rise/fall cycles of pirate coalitions Expansion of trade routes Colonial conflicts Religious schisms Disasters in the Underdark Ocean Political succession history H. Exploration opportunities The manuscript already supports a strong exploration game. The expansion layer should focus on these opportunity bands: Hidden routes and lost routes that alter trade and survival. Lost civilizations and ancient claims beneath the sea. 🚀
Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 134 / 136

Hidden islands and unexplored waters in the Unwritten Sea. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Magical locations and supernatural seas tied to Deep Magic and Mystic play. Drowned kingdoms and undersea ruins in the Underdark Ocean layer. Wayfinder_Sourcebook.pdf Route-discovery politics where merchants, pirates, and kingdoms all care once a new passage is found. I. Campaign support priorities Recommended build order: 1. World atlas 2. Regional gazetteers 3. Faction relationship matrix 4. Political timeline 5. Port and settlement catalog 6. Trade/economy layer 7. Language and culture layer 8. Exploration atlas 9. Adventure location catalog 10. Random tables and hooks That sequence is the least foolish way to make the setting feel real instead of merely narrated. The manuscript already has the skeleton; now it needs organs. J. Estimated completion percentage for the campaign framework Subsystem Estimated completion Core premise / setting identity 95% Magic / metaphysics 90% 🚀 Powered by ChatGPT Exporter 135 / 136

J. Next Development Phase

The Captain’s Techniques mechanical subsystem is officially locked for publication. Project focus should now transition to the Campaign Framework Expansion (Worldbuilding, Factions, Regional Gazetteers, and the World Atlas).

Chapter 18: The World Atlas

“The world did not end. It merely shattered. What was once a continent of empires is now an ocean of possibilities.” — First Captain Alaric Thorne

The Shattered Expanse is the defining geographical reality of the setting. Roughly 800 years ago, a cataclysm known as the Sundering Tide obliterated the ancient supercontinent, fragmenting it into tens of thousands of islands scattered across an endless, turbulent ocean.

Charted Waters vs. The Unwritten Sea

The ocean is roughly divided into two distinct logistical and magical zones.

The Chartist Waters (35% of the Expanse)

The Chartist Waters represent the “civilized” or at least “survivable” regions of the world. These are the major trade routes, the secured archipelagoes, and the naval territories claimed by the dominant factions. -

Navigational Reality: Standard compasses work here. The weather behaves according to predictable patterns, and the ley lines are stable enough to allow for reliable arcane travel. - The Great Magical Trade

Network: This is where the bulk of the Pirate Renaissance takes place. Armadas clash over taxation routes, and corsairs raid the fat merchant galleons of the empires.

The Unwritten Sea (65% of the Expanse)

Beyond the edges of the faction maps lies The Unwritten Sea. This is the untamed, shifting, and wildly magical frontier. - Navigational Reality: Non-magical compasses spin wildly. Islands move with the tides, and the stars occasionally change position. Navigating the Unwritten Sea requires a Wayfinder, a Navigator Spirit, or suicidal luck. - The Discovery Loop: This is the realm of ancient First Captain ruins, slumbering leviathans, and forgotten magic. Expeditions venture here seeking power, often returning with either legendary wealth or not at all.

Major Magical Phenomena

The Sundering Tide did not just break the land; it broke the weave of magic itself, creating permanent geographical hazards.

The Aether Streams

Massive, invisible rivers of magical energy that flow beneath the ocean’s surface. Ships equipped with Arcane engines (such as a Tier 3 Legendary Vessel) can lock onto an Aether Stream, allowing them to sail at impossible speeds against the wind. However, these streams occasionally surge, threatening to tear apart hulls that aren’t structurally reinforced.

The Doldrums of Silence

Zones where the wind simply ceases to exist, and all sound is magically dampened. These regions can stretch for hundreds of miles. Ships caught in the Doldrums without magical propulsion or rowers will slowly starve to death. It is rumored that ghosts of the First Fleet haunt the deepest centers of the Silence.

The Glass Storms

A localized weather event found near psionic ruins. Instead of rain, the clouds precipitate crystalline shards driven by gale-force winds. A Glass Storm can shred a mundane sail in minutes and severely damage a wooden hull. Navigators must either magically shield the ship or outrun the storm front.

The Vertical Map: The Underdark Ocean

The Shattered Expanse is not limited to the surface. Beneath the waves lies the Sunless Sea (the Underdark Ocean). Accessible only through massive, whirlpool-like abysses known as “The Drown-Gates,” the Sunless Sea is a subterranean ocean lit by bioluminescent fungi and magma vents. It is home to deep-dwelling empires, lost aberrations, and the most dangerous corsairs who use the subterranean waters to bypass surface blockades.

[!NOTE] DM Guidance on Geography: The Shattered Expanse is designed to support the core campaign loop: Rumor -> Expedition -> Discovery -> Route -> Trade -> Conflict. By placing high-value ancient ruins in the dangerous Unwritten Sea, and the markets to sell those goods in the Charted Waters, you naturally force the players into conflict with both the environment and the rival factions!

Chapter 19: Regional Gazetteer - The Crimson Dominion

“Magic is not a gift. It is a weapon. The ocean is not a frontier. It is a territory. Those who disagree will row our galleys until they understand.” — High Admiral Vane

The Crimson Dominion is the most formidable, expansionist, and terrifying military power operating in the Charted Waters. They are a magocracy built upon a foundation of absolute subjugation, believing that those who wield arcane power possess the divine right to rule, and those who lack it exist solely to serve.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Dominion lays claim to the Cinder Atolls, a highly volcanic, resource-rich cluster of islands on the eastern edge of the Charted Waters.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~2.5 Million - The Arcane Admiralty & Elite: 5% - The Iron Legion (Military) & Citizens: 35% - The Bound (Enslaved Caste): 60%

The Crimson Citadel (Capital Hub)

The capital is not merely a city; it is a fortress carved directly into the caldera of a dormant, massive volcano. The caldera is open to the sea, providing an impenetrable natural harbor. - The Obsidian Spire: The central tower rising from the harbor water, housing the Arcane Admiralty. It glows with eternal, magical fire. - The Ash Markets: The civilian and merchant districts, built in tiers along the interior walls of the volcano. - The Deep Pens: The horrific slave quarters located near the magma vents, used for geothermal heating and psychological breaking.

The Iron Shipyards

Located on a neighboring island stripped bare of all vegetation. Here, massive drydocks use bound fire and earth elementals to smelt steel and shape hull plating. The air is choked with smog, and the harbor is constantly churning with the launch of new warships.

The Border Forts (The Crimson Line)

A perimeter of heavily fortified, magically warded island outposts. Any ship that crosses The Crimson Line without a Dominion writ is immediately fired upon by heavy arcane siege engines.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Dominion's approach to magic is entirely utilitarian and weaponized.

- Arcane Magic (The Backbone): Evocation and Abjuration are the highest-honored schools. Wizards are drafted into the military at a young age. Dominion ships use wands of Fireball mounted on gimbals instead of black powder cannons, and project massive Wall of Force shields to deflect incoming fire.
- Psionics (Internal Control): Psions form the Dominion Inquisition. They are used for long-range, secure fleet communication (bypassing the need for flags or couriers) and for thought-policing the slave populations and lower military ranks.
- Spirit Magic (Banned/Exploited): The Dominion considers Spirit Magic primitive and dangerous. When they encounter elementals or nature spirits, they use Arcane binding circles to trap them, turning them into living batteries to power ship engines and forges.
- Deep Magic (Feared & Ignored): The Dominion's arrogance blinds them to the deep ocean. They view the Underdark Ocean as a myth or a wasteland, making their heavily armored surface fleets highly vulnerable to attacks from below.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Dominion operates on a policy of eventual total conquest.

- Free Captains Alliance: Active Extermination. The Dominion views pirates as vermin disrupting their divine right to rule the ocean. They hang captured Wayfinders from their rigging as warnings.
- Grand Merchant Consortium: Cold War / Exploitative Trade. The Dominion relies on the Consortium for rare spell components and raw materials. They tolerate them—for now—but actively plant spies in Port Meridian, planning for the day they simply annex the trade network.
- Drowned Silk Houses (Drow): Shadow War. A secret, brutal conflict rages. The Dominion loses ships to “mysterious storms” that are actually Drow submarine ambushes. The Admiralty officially denies the Drow exist to avoid looking weak.

- Spirit Keepers: Hostile Exploitation. The Dominion actively hunts the ancient leviathans the Spirit Keepers protect, seeking to harvest their blood and bone for magical experimentation.
- Independent Salvagers: Regulated Tolerance. The Dominion desperately wants First Captain technology. They allow the Salvagers to operate in their waters, provided the Dominion gets the right of first refusal on all magical artifacts pulled from the Unwritten Sea.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Caste System)

Social mobility in the Dominion is impossible without magical aptitude.

1. The Arcane Admiralty: The absolute rulers. Consists of twelve High Mages who hold the rank of Admiral. They dictate law, military strategy, and magical research.
2. The Magi-Officers: Commissioned ship captains, tacticians, and court wizards. To hold rank on a ship, one must be capable of casting at least 3rd-level spells.
3. The Iron Legion: The non-magical standing army. Highly disciplined, heavily armored marines and city guards. They are respected, but ultimately viewed as expendable shields for the Magi.
4. The Merchant Class: State-approved civilians. Bureaucrats, quartermasters, and sanctioned traders who manage the empire's logistics.
5. The Bound: The slave caste. Comprised of captured pirates, conquered islanders, and political dissidents. They handle all physical labor, from mining to rowing the massive galleys when the wind fails.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Dominion projects absolute unity, but beneath the surface, it is a nest of vipers.

- The Traditionalists: High mages who believe the empire should rely strictly on pure Arcane superiority and look down on those who meddle with foreign magic.
- The Artificers Guild: Radicals within the shipyards who want to integrate salvaged, unstable First Captain technology with modern ship designs, often resulting in catastrophic explosions.
- The Inquisition: The terrifying psionic secret police. They are supposed to hunt traitors, but they have grown so powerful that even Magi-Officers fear them.
- The Liberation Front: A highly secretive, violently suppressed abolitionist movement operating in the deep mines and ship bilges. They communicate via smuggled thieves' cant and are desperate for outside help (a perfect hook for a Wayfinder crew).

6. The Military Machine

The Crimson Armada is the most feared sight on the Charted Waters.

- Ship Design: Dominion ships are built for intimidation. They are angular, heavily armored with dark iron plating, and painted a stark, blood crimson. They do not rely solely on sails; their massive flagships are propelled by bound fire and water elementals churning paddlewheels.
- Shipboard Weaponry: Instead of cannons, they use Arcane Ballistae that fire enchanted bolts, and batteries of battle-mages trained to volley Lightning Bolt and Fireball in synchronized strikes.

- Boarding Tactics: The Iron Legion does not swing over on ropes. Dominion ships use magical grappling hooks that forcefully drag enemy ships against their armored hulls, while Magi cast Hold Person and Web to paralyze the enemy crew before the heavily armored marines march across the gangplanks.

7. Notable Figures

- High Admiral Vane: The ruthless, calculating leader of the Arcane Admiralty. A master Evoker who lost an arm in a pirate raid and replaced it with a prosthetic forged of living magma. He seeks to completely eradicate the Free Captains.
- Inquisitor Kaelen: The terrifying head of the Dominion's psionic secret police. Kaelen is rarely seen, preferring to project his consciousness into the minds of his agents. He is currently obsessed with rooting out the Liberation Front.
- Arbiter Zyla: A highly decorated Magi-Officer who secretly sympathizes with the abolitionists. She commands the frigate Iron Resolution and occasionally turns a blind eye to smuggler vessels carrying escaped slaves.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Soldier, Sage, Acolyte, Noble, Prisoner (The Bound).
- Favored Classes: Wizard (Evocation, Abjuration), Fighter (Eldritch Knight, Battle Master), Artificer (Artillerist).
- Roleplay Hook: A Dominion PC might be a loyalist trying to prove their worth, an exiled mage who grew a conscience, or a former slave (The Bound) seeking bloody vengeance against their former masters.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Arcane Ballistae: Siege weapons that don't use ammunition. They draw on the operator's spell slots (or a bound elemental core) to fire bolts of raw force damage.
- Crimson Iron: A dense, magically treated steel that grants Resistance to Fire damage. It is incredibly heavy, requiring specialized ship designs to stay buoyant.
- Wands of the Line: Standard-issue evocation wands given to Magi-Officers, which can be slotted into shipboard amplification arrays to cast extended-range Fireballs during naval combat.

Chapter 20: Regional Gazetteer - The Grand Merchant Consortium

"We do not conquer islands, Captain. We purchase them. It is infinitely cheaper than war, and the locals even thank us for it." — High Factor Vance of the Gold Scale

The Grand Merchant Consortium is the economic heart of the Shattered Expanse. They are not a traditional nation with borders, but rather a hyper-capitalist coalition of trading companies, banking guilds, and mercenary navies. They believe that gold is the only true magic in the world, and they possess enough of it to buy or bury any threat.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Consortium's power does not lie in a contiguous landmass, but in their absolute control over the Great Magical Trade Network.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~1.2 Million (Direct employees and citizens) - The High Factors (Ruling Board): <1% - Guild Members & Contracted Sailors: 40% - Indentured Laborers & Debtors: 59%

Port Meridian (Capital Hub)

Port Meridian is a massive, sprawling city-state built across a central, highly strategic archipelago. It is the wealthiest location in the known world. The city is a dizzying array of toll bridges, towering marble banks, and crowded, neon-lit arcane bazaars. The Consortium doesn't "own" the city in a royal sense—they just own the deeds to every single building and ship inside it. - The Golden Spire: The central banking and administration hub where the Board of Factors meets. - The Silk Wards: Opulent districts for high-ranking merchants and visiting diplomats. - The Debt Docks: Slums where those who have defaulted on Consortium loans are forced to work off their debt in the shipyards.

The Waystations

The Consortium maintains dozens of heavily fortified, neutral trading posts scattered across the Chanted Waters. These serve as safe havens, resupply points, and banking outposts.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Consortium views magic purely as a commodity and a logistical tool.

- Arcane Magic (Logistics & Profit): The primary magic used by the Consortium. They employ wizards not as soldiers, but as navigators, weather-controllers, and accountants. Illusion magic is heavily regulated to prevent counterfeiting.
- Psionics (Contracts & Security): Psions are highly paid to act as living polygraphs during negotiations and to secure vaults against magical intrusion.
- Spirit Magic (Commodified): They don't revere spirits; they commodify them. They harvest rare pearls, coral, and leviathan bones to sell to Arcane researchers at a massive markup.
- Deep Magic (The Black Market): The Consortium publicly outlaws Deep Magic, but secretly, wealthy Factors pay exorbitant sums for Drow artifacts pulled from the Sunless Sea.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Consortium's foreign policy is simple: maximize profit, minimize risk.

- Free Captains Alliance: Profitable Nuisance. They publicly condemn piracy and execute pirates to maintain a "safe" image, but secretly hire Free Captains as deniable privateers to sabotage rival trade routes.
- Crimson Dominion: Cold War / Essential Client. The Dominion is the Consortium's biggest customer for raw materials. The Consortium walks a razor's edge, selling them enough to profit, but not enough to let the Dominion become completely self-sufficient and annex Port Meridian.
- Drowned Silk Houses (Drow): Black Market Partners. The Consortium officially denies trading with the Drow, while simultaneously maintaining highly lucrative smuggling routes with them through the Drown-Gates.
- Spirit Keepers: Annoying Obstacles. The Keepers constantly blockade Consortium whaling and logging operations. The Consortium views them as backward zealots holding up progress.
- Independent Salvagers: Primary Investors. The Consortium funds Salvager expeditions into the Unwritten Sea, retaining exclusive rights to auction off any First Captain technology they find.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Corporate Ladder)

Status in the Consortium is entirely determined by wealth and guild rank.

1. The Board of Factors: The CEOs of the massive trading companies. They dictate economic policy, interest rates, and naval deployment.
2. The Guildmasters: Heads of specific industries (e.g., The Spice Cartel, The Arcane Materials Guild).
3. The Gold Cloaks: The elite, highly paid mercenary army and private navy that enforces Consortium contracts and protects the trade routes.
4. The Clerks & Sailors: The middle class. Bureaucrats, accountants, and contracted sailors who keep the gears of commerce turning.
5. The Indentured: Those who fell into debt. They are not technically "slaves" like in the Dominion; they are "contractually obligated laborers." The debt is often mathematically impossible to pay off.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Consortium is a cutthroat meritocracy where hostile takeovers are literal.

- The Expansionists: Factors who believe the Consortium should build a massive military to actively conquer the Unwritten Sea and monopolize First Captain ruins.
- The Shadow Brokers: Guilds deeply invested in the black market, wanting to formalize trade with the Drow and the pirate lords.
- The Debtors' Union: A growing, violent underground movement of indentured laborers plotting to burn the central bank ledgers to free millions from generational debt.
- Corporate Sabotage: Factors routinely hire assassins, privateers, and spies to ruin their rivals' trade routes and stock prices.

6. The Military Machine

The Consortium's military is entirely privatized. They do not have citizens defending a homeland; they have mercenaries defending cargo.

- Naval Fleet Composition:

- Treasure Galleons: Massive, heavily warded floating vaults designed to transport fortunes. They are slow but practically unsinkable.
- The Gold Cloak Escorts: Sleek, fast, heavily armed frigates that guard the trade lanes.

- Shipboard Weaponry: They prioritize defense. Their ships are equipped with advanced Abjuration shielding, enchanted sails for speed, and magical flares to summon nearby mercenary fleets.
- Combat Tactics: They prefer to buy off enemies. If forced into a fight, they rely on overwhelming, expensive firepower (e.g., mercenaries armed with wands and enchanted ammunition) and rapid tactical retreats to protect their investments.

7. Notable Figures

- High Factor Vance: Head of the Gold Scale (the central banking guild). A meticulously dressed, incredibly wealthy human who treats geopolitics like a ledger. He is currently funding Salvager expeditions to secure First Captain weapons.
- Guildmaster Seraphina: Leader of the Spice Cartel. She secretly employs a massive network of Free Captain privateers to sabotage her rivals' shipments, all while maintaining plausible deniability.
- Captain "Ironclad" Thorne: Commander of the Golden Defender, the flagship of the Gold Cloaks. A highly paid mercenary who cares only for his contract, completely devoid of personal morality.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Guild Artisan, Charlatan, Criminal/Spy, Sailor, Noble.
- Favored Classes: Rogue (Swashbuckler, Mastermind), Bard (College of Eloquence), Warlock (The Fathomless - flavored as a contract with a sea entity), Wizard (Divination, Illusion).
- Roleplay Hook: A Consortium PC might be a mid-level manager trying to climb the corporate ladder, a debt-dodger on the run from the Gold Cloaks, or a corporate spy embedded in another faction.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Abjuration Shield Emitters: Expensive ship modifications that project a temporary, regenerative forcefield around the hull, absorbing a set amount of damage before shattering.
 - Contract Marks: Magical tattoos given to indentured laborers or sworn mercenaries. They act as tracking devices and can inflict pain if the wearer breaches their contract.
 - Golden Fire: A highly volatile, alchemically modified Greek Fire that burns even underwater. The Consortium sells it at a premium.

Chapter 21: Regional Gazetteer - The Drowned Silk Houses

“The surface-dwellers fight over scraps of driftwood and claim they rule the ocean. They do not realize the true power lies in the crushing dark, where their wooden toys splinter and their kings drown.”— Matron Viconia of House Xorlarrin

The Drowned Silk Houses are not a surface nation; they are an ancient, predatory civilization operating primarily within the Sunless Sea (the Underdark Ocean). They are a fractured society of Drow noble houses who survived a cataclysmic flood centuries ago by adapting their magic to the deep ocean. They view the surface world as a hunting ground, a political chessboard, and a resource pool to be exploited from the shadows.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Silk Houses exist in a perpetual state of twilight, occupying massive caverns and bioluminescent trenches beneath the ocean floor.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~800,000 (Drow and deep-sea races) - The Matron Mothers & Nobles: 2% - The Crimson Guard & Arcane Scholars: 28% - The Thralls (Enslaved surface races & lesser aquatic beings): 70%

Nymorath Deep Harbor (Capital Hub)

Nymorath is a breathtaking and terrifying city built into the walls of a massive underwater trench, illuminated by bioluminescent fungi and chained deep-sea leviathans. A massive sphere of magically maintained air encompasses the noble districts, while the lower slums and slave pens are partially flooded, forcing thralls to rely on water-breathing enchantments to survive. - The Obsidian Web: The central political arena where the Matron Mothers hold court, negotiate alliances, and plot assassinations. - The Abyssal Forges: Where Drow artificers craft weapons from black coral and deep-sea metals that shatter surface steel. - The Drown-Gates: Massive, magical whirlpool-portals that allow their fleets to instantly surface in the Charted Waters for raids.

The Trench Outposts

Scattered listening posts and forward operating bases located near major surface trade routes, used to monitor the Merchant Consortium and Crimson Dominion.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Drow possess the most advanced, ancient, and dangerous understanding of magic in the Shattered Expanse.

- Deep Magic (The Foundation): The Drow are the undisputed masters of Deep Magic. They use it to manipulate gravity, control water pressure, and mutate deep-sea beasts into war mounts. It is inherently tied to darkness and cold.
- Arcane Magic (Weaponized): Highly developed, but focused on stealth, illusion, and assassination. Necromancy is widely practiced, utilizing drowned sailors as cheap, mindless labor.
- Psionics (Espionage): Used extensively by their elite spies to mind-read captured captains and communicate silently during surface raids.
- Spirit Magic (Corrupted): They capture ocean spirits and systematically torture and corrupt them, twisting them into dark entities to power their submarine fleets.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Drow do not seek open war; they seek absolute, unseen control.

- Grand Merchant Consortium: Lucrative Exploitation. The Drow officially do not exist according to the Consortium, but in reality, the two factions run massive, secret black-market smuggling rings. The Drow sell ancient artifacts and poisons for surface luxuries and slaves.
- Crimson Dominion: The Shadow War. The Dominion is the only surface power that poses a military threat. The Drow actively sabotage Dominion shipyards, sink their fleets in “unexplained storms,” and assassinate their mages to keep them fractured.
- Free Captains Alliance: Convenient Pawns. The Drow frequently manipulate pirate fleets into attacking Dominion or Consortium targets by leaking false maps or rumors, using them as unwitting mercenaries.
- Spirit Keepers: Hated Enemies. The Keepers actively try to heal the ocean spirits the Drow corrupt. The Drow view the Keepers as naive fools and will slaughter them on sight.
- Independent Salvagers: Prey. The Drow consider all First Captain artifacts in the Unwritten Sea to be their rightful property. They actively hunt Salvager vessels that delve too deep.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Matriarchy)

Drow society is a brutal, paranoid matriarchy where advancement is achieved through betrayal and assassination.

1. The Matron Mothers: The absolute rulers of the Silk Houses. High Priestesses of Deep Magic who command unquestioned obedience.
2. The Noble Houses: The extended families of the Matrons. They constantly war with one another in secret for political favor.
3. The Crimson Guard: Elite, fanatically loyal male warriors and assassins who serve the Matrons.
4. The Male Arcane Scholars: While denied true political power, male wizards are highly valued for their magical research and tactical knowledge.
5. The Thralls: The enslaved underclass. Comprised of captured surface sailors, tritons, and Kuo-toa. They are considered disposable and are often used as biological experiments.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Silk Houses are united only in their hatred of the surface; internally, they are a snake pit.

- House Xorlarrin vs. House Baenre: A centuries-old blood feud between the two most powerful houses. Xorlarrin favors aggressive surface raids, while Baenre prefers economic manipulation and smuggling.
- The Bregan D’aerthe (The Mercenaries): A rogue faction of exiled male nobles and elite assassins who operate independently, selling their services to the highest bidder (even surface dwellers).
- The Cult of the First Captains: A heretical, underground religious movement that believes the First Captains were actually ancient Drow gods, and seeks to awaken the slumbering horrors of the Unwritten Sea to wipe out the surface completely.

6. The Military Machine

The Drow do not fight fair. They strike from the shadows, cripple their enemies, and vanish before a retaliation can be organized.

- Naval Fleet Composition: They do not use wooden sailing ships. They utilize biological submarines—massive, hollowed-out, undead sea leviathans (like giant armored squids or skeletal whales) piloted by Necromancers.
- Combat Tactics: They attack from below. Their “ships” breach the surface, deploying elite boarding parties that use innate darkness magic to blind the enemy crew.
- Shipboard Weaponry: They do not use cannons. They use sonic projectors that can shatter wooden hulls, and magical torpedoes that rapidly freeze the water around an enemy ship, trapping it in ice.

7. Notable Figures

- Matron Viconia: The ancient, terrifying head of House Xorlarrin. She is a master of Deep Magic and seeks to completely collapse the surface world’s trade network by manipulating the Free Captains into war with the Dominion.
- Jarlaxle Baenre: The charismatic, flamboyant leader of Bregan D’aerthe. He operates on the surface more than any other Drow, dealing in secrets, assassinations, and rare magical artifacts. He views the surface world as highly entertaining.
- Vhaeraun’s Blade (Zin): A heavily scarred, silent male assassin of the Crimson Guard who has begun questioning the absolute rule of the Matron Mothers after encountering a surface-dwelling Cleric of Eilistraee.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Outlander, Urchin, Spy, Faction Agent, Prisoner (Thrall).
- Favored Classes: Rogue (Assassin, Arcane Trickster), Ranger (Gloom Stalker), Sorcerer (Aberrant Mind, Shadow), Cleric (Trickery).
- Roleplay Hook: A Drow PC is almost certainly an exile, a runaway Thrall, or a Bregan D’aerthe mercenary acting as a “consultant” for a Wayfinder crew. Trust will be a major, ongoing roleplay element.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Sonic Projectors: Cannons that fire concentrated blasts of sound instead of iron balls. Highly effective at shattering wood and deafening surface crews.
- Piwafwi (Cloak of Elvenkind): Drow cloaks woven from spider silk and infused with shadow magic, granting superior stealth. They degrade rapidly if exposed to direct sunlight for extended periods.
- Deep-Breather Gills: Biological symbiotes (often looking like a slimy collar) forced upon Thralls that allow them to breathe underwater but cause intense pain if they remain out of the water for too long.

Chapter 22: Regional Gazetteer - The Free Captains Alliance

“The Dominion claims the ocean by divine right. The Consortium claims it by contract. We claim it because our sails are full, our guns are loaded, and the horizon belongs to whoever is bold enough to chase it.” — Pirate King “Hurricane” Jax

The Free Captains Alliance is not a government; it is a chaotic, rowdy, and fiercely independent confederacy of pirate lords, privateers, explorers, and exiles. They are bound together not by laws, but by a shared hatred of empire and a mutual agreement known as “The Corsair’s Code.” To the rest of the world, they are lawless terrorists. To themselves, they are the only truly free souls on the Shattered Expanse.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Alliance operates out of the Jagged Reefs, a vast, treacherous maze of razor-sharp coral and shifting sandbars that only the most skilled (or magically guided) navigators can traverse without tearing their hulls open.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~400,000 (Highly transient) - The Pirate Lords (The Brethren Court): <1% - Wayfinders, Privateers, & Sworn Crews: 60% - Smugglers, Tavern-Keepers, & Fence Merchants: 39%

Blackwake Harbor (Capital Hub)

Blackwake Harbor is a massive, floating city that shouldn’t exist. It is constructed entirely from lashed-together galleons, ancient driftwood, and salvaged hulls suspended within a calm lagoon in the center of the Jagged Reefs. It is a city of rope bridges, swinging lanterns, and perpetual celebration (or brawling). - The Brethren’s Table: A massive, hollowed-out hull of a first-rate ship-of-the-line where the Pirate Lords meet to vote on the rare occasions the Alliance needs to act as a unified fleet. - The Powder Keg: The chaotic tavern district, where fortunes are won and lost on games of dice, and where most crews are recruited. - The Chop Shop: A massive drydock dedicated to refitting stolen ships, scrubbing their identifying marks, and outfitting them with illegal weaponry.

The Hidden Coves

The Alliance maintains dozens of secret inlets, hidden coves, and disguised anchorages throughout the Charted Waters, allowing them to strike and vanish before the Dominion or Consortium can respond.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Free Captains are highly pragmatic about magic; if it keeps the ship afloat or helps them steal gold, they use it.

- Spirit Magic (The Lifeline): The most common and respected magic among the Captains. Many crews employ shamans to speak with the winds, beg safe passage from minor ocean spirits, and bond with Navigator Spirits to guide them through the Reefs.
- Arcane Magic (Stolen & Scavenged): They rarely have formally trained wizards. Instead, they rely on rogue sorcerers, stolen wands, and scavenged scrolls. Their magic is chaotic, loud, and unpredictable.
- Deep Magic (Taboo): Most Captains are highly superstitious and consider the deep ocean cursed. Those who practice Deep Magic are viewed with intense suspicion and are often accused of making deals with the Drow.
- Psionics (Untrusted): Psions are rarely found on pirate ships. The concept of someone reading thoughts violates the core tenet of piratical freedom; mind-readers are usually thrown overboard.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Alliance views the world through a lens of targets, threats, and temporary allies.

- Crimson Dominion: Kill on Sight. The Dominion represents everything the Captains hate: slavery, conformity, and imperial control. The Alliance will actively target Dominion slaver ships and border forts.
- Grand Merchant Consortium: Primary Targets (But Occasional Employers). Consortium treasure galleons are the ultimate prize. However, the Captains are pragmatic; they will gladly accept a Consortium “Letter of Marque” to act as privateers against the Dominion, provided the gold is good.
- Drowned Silk Houses (Drow): Superstitious Terror. The Free Captains rarely engage the Drow willingly. When ships go missing in calm waters, the pirates blame the Drow.
- Spirit Keepers: Wary Respect. The Keepers are one of the few factions the Pirates try not to anger. A pirate captain knows better than to hunt a leviathan in Keeper territory, lest the ocean itself turn against them.
- Independent Salvagers: Friendly Rivals. The Captains frequently trade with the Salvagers. They often race each other into the Unwritten Sea to claim First Captain wrecks.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Meritocracy)

In Blackwake Harbor, nobility means nothing. You are only worth the strength of your sword arm, the loyalty of your crew, and the size of your ship.

1. The Pirate Lords: The most feared and successful captains in the Expanse. They command massive fleets (armadas) and hold a seat on the Brethren Court.
2. The Wayfinders / Captains: Independent ship commanders. Within the Alliance, every Captain is considered a sovereign ruler of their own deck.
3. The Quartermasters: Highly respected officers elected by the crew to represent their interests, distribute loot, and ensure the Captain doesn't abuse their power.
4. The Sworn Crew: The sailors who have sworn the Corsair's Code. They are guaranteed a share of the plunder and the right to vote on the ship's destination.
5. The Scallywags (Landlubbers): The un-sworn. Merchants, tavern keeps, and dockworkers who live in Blackwake Harbor but do not sail.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Alliance is constantly on the verge of tearing itself apart, held together only by external threats.

- The Old Guard: Traditional pirate lords who believe the Alliance should focus purely on raiding the Consortium and enjoying their freedom.
- The Abolitionists: Radical captains who believe the Alliance's primary goal should be a full-scale war to destroy the Crimson Dominion and free the slave caste.
- The Traitor Captains: Crews who secretly accept pardons and paychecks from the Dominion to hunt down other pirates (the ultimate sin in Blackwake).
- The Mutiny Problem: Every Captain is one bad voyage away from being overthrown by their own crew. Democracy on a pirate ship is a double-edged sword.

6. The Military Machine

The Free Captains do not have a uniform standing navy. They fight a guerrilla war at sea.

- Naval Fleet Composition: A chaotic mix of everything. Stolen Dominion frigates, retrofitted Consortium merchantmen, and custom-built, impossibly fast blockade runners. No two ships look alike.
- Combat Tactics: Speed and surprise. They rely on ambush tactics, utilizing thick fog (often magically summoned), narrow straits, and boarding actions. They prefer to capture ships intact rather than sink them.
- Shipboard Weaponry: A mix of traditional black-powder cannons (which they favor for their reliability), scavenged Arcane Ballistae, and whatever experimental, highly volatile First Captain weaponry they managed to salvage.

7. Notable Figures

- Pirate King "Hurricane" Jax: The boisterous, dangerously unpredictable leader of the Brethren Court. A Storm Sorcerer who claims to have won his crown in a drinking contest with a kraken.
- Captain Elara "Ghost-Wake" Vance: A brilliant tactician and defector from the Crimson Dominion's Magi-Officers. She commands the Reckoning, a heavily modified frigate dedicated solely to hunting Dominion slaver ships.

- Quartermaster Thatch: The pragmatic, ruthless manager of Blackwake’s “Chop Shop.” If you need a stolen ship’s identity scrubbed or a cursed artifact fenced, Thatch is the man to see.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Sailor, Pirate, Criminal, Folk Hero, Entertainer.
- Favored Classes: Fighter (Battle Master, Champion), Rogue (Swashbuckler, Thief), Barbarian (Storm Herald, Berserker), Sorcerer (Storm Sorcery).
- Roleplay Hook: A Free Captain PC might be a newly minted Wayfinder looking to make a name for themselves, a runaway seeking true freedom, or an exiled noble seeking revenge against the faction that wronged them.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Black-Powder Firearms: The Alliance is the primary manufacturer and user of flintlock pistols and muskets. While less reliable than a wand, they don’t require magical aptitude to blow a hole in a Dominion marine.
- Scavenger Sails: Canvas sails patched with the hides of minor elementals or sea monsters, allowing a ship to catch magical Aether winds that normal canvas would tear in.
- The Corsair’s Coin: A magically minted coin given to Sworn Crew. It acts as a token of safe passage in Blackwake Harbor and can cast Sending once to contact the ship’s Quartermaster in an emergency.

Chapter 23: Regional Gazetteer - The Spirit Keepers

“The ocean is not a road for your merchants, nor a battlefield for your empires. It is a living, breathing entity, and you are sailing across its open wounds. We are the immune system.” — High Elder Naia of the Kelp Wardens

The Spirit Keepers are a reclusive, deeply spiritual, and fiercely territorial faction dedicated to preserving the ancient magic of the ocean. They believe that the Shattered Expanse is fundamentally broken, kept alive only by the slumbering leviathans and the chaotic elemental spirits that inhabit the Aether Streams. To the Consortium, they are ecoterrorists. To the Dominion, they are primitive heretics. To the Keepers themselves, they are the only thing preventing the world from drowning.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Spirit Keepers do not build cities of stone or iron. They reside within the Verdant Expanse, a massive, magically accelerated kelp forest that stretches for hundreds of miles, thick enough to entangle and sink heavy galleons.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~250,000 - The Council of Elders: <1% - The Wardens & Shamans: 30% - The Tenders (Civilians & Gatherers): 69%

The Last Harbor (Capital Hub)

The Last Harbor is a hidden sanctuary located deep within the Verdant Expanse. It is woven directly into the canopy of ancient, petrified mangrove trees that rise hundreds of feet out of the water. The harbor is not visible from the open ocean; a ship must be guided by a bonded Navigator Spirit to find the entrance through the shifting kelp walls. - The Heartwood Spire: A massive, hollowed-out ancient tree where the Council of Elders communes directly with ancient ocean spirits. - The Leviathan Nurseries: Protected lagoons where the Keepers tend to wounded sea beasts and foster the growth of young elementals. - The Wreckage Gardens: Instead of a traditional shipyard, the Keepers use magic to accelerate coral and kelp growth over sunken ships, creating living, organic vessels.

The Aether Shrines

Small, heavily warded outposts located along the major magical currents (Aether Streams). The Keepers use these to monitor the flow of magic and detect arcane pollution from the Dominion or Consortium.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Keepers’ entire society is built around a symbiotic relationship with magic, rather than exploitation.

- Spirit Magic (The Core): The foundation of their culture. Every Keeper ship is bonded with a minor elemental or spirit. Their shamans can summon localized storms, command the tides, and communicate over vast distances through the water itself.
- Divine Magic (Revered): They have a high concentration of Clerics and Druids dedicated to nature deities or the ocean itself. Healing and preservation are highly valued.
- Arcane Magic (Distrusted): They view Arcane magic—specifically Evocation and Necromancy—as a brutal, unnatural forcing of the world’s laws. They consider Dominion wizards to be dangerous vandals.
- Deep Magic (The Enemy): They recognize Deep Magic as a corrupting, horrific force. They know what the Drow do to ocean spirits, and they consider the eradication of Deep Magic to be a holy crusade.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Keepers are inherently defensive, but they will strike with overwhelming, terrifying force if their sanctuaries are threatened.

- Crimson Dominion: Holy War. The Dominion hunts leviathans for components and pollutes the Aether Streams with arcane engines. The Keepers actively sink Dominion logging and whaling fleets.
- Grand Merchant Consortium: Hostile Blockade. The Keepers despise the Consortium’s rampant industrialization and overfishing. They frequently blockade Consortium trade routes, using summoned storms to force merchant galleons to turn back or sink.
- Drowned Silk Houses (Drow): Mortal Enemies. The Drow corrupt the ocean spirits that the Keepers revere. The Keepers have specialized strike teams (The Deep-Divers) trained specifically to hunt Drow submarines and cleanse corrupted waters.

- Free Captains Alliance: Wary Neutrality. The pirates respect the power of the ocean and usually leave the Verdant Expanse alone. In return, the Keepers occasionally offer sanctuary to pirate crews fleeing the Dominion, provided they swear an oath to harm no spirits.
- Independent Salvagers: Suspicious Watchers. The Keepers allow the Salvagers to explore, but they carefully monitor what artifacts are pulled from the Unwritten Sea, intervening if they believe a relic is too dangerous for humanity to possess.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Symbiocracy)

Status among the Keepers is not determined by wealth or bloodline, but by one's connection to the spirits.

1. The Council of Elders: The oldest and most spiritually attuned shamans and druids. They do not give orders; they interpret the will of the ocean.
2. The Wardens: The elite warriors and captains. They are physically bonded to minor elementals, granting them supernatural speed and strength in the water.
3. The Shamans / Navigators: The spellcasters who maintain the Aether Shrines and guide the organic ships through the ocean.
4. The Tenders: The civilian population who cultivate the kelp forests, craft organic weapons, and raise the young.
5. The Penitent: Outsiders (often ex-pirates or defectors from the Dominion) who are seeking redemption and are serving a period of grueling, humbling labor to prove their respect for the ocean.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Keepers are generally united in purpose, but deeply divided on methodology.

- The Preservers (The Majority): Believe the Keepers should remain isolationist, defending the Verdant Expanse and healing the ocean slowly.
- The Cleansing Tide: A radical, militant sect that believes the only way to save the ocean is to actively wage war on the surface factions and completely dismantle the Dominion and Consortium.
- The Firstborn Cult: A secretive group that believes the First Captains were not heroes, but the original corrupters of the ocean, and that all First Captain artifacts must be destroyed, putting them in direct conflict with the Salvagers.

6. The Military Machine

The Keepers do not fight in line-of-battle formations. They use the ocean itself as a weapon.

- Naval Fleet Composition: They sail "Living Ships"—salvaged wrecks that have been completely overgrown and fused together by magically hardened coral and iron-wood kelp. They are incredibly resilient and self-repairing.
- Combat Tactics: Environmental warfare. They rarely engage in broadside cannon duels. Instead, they summon localized squalls, manipulate currents to smash enemy ships into reefs, and use bonded sea creatures (like giant squids or elementals) to tear hulls apart from beneath.

- Shipboard Weaponry: They do not use black powder. They use enchanted ballistae that fire explosive coral shards, and rely on their shamans to cast Call Lightning and Control Water to devastate enemy crews.

7. Notable Figures

- High Elder Naia: The ancient, serene voice of the Council of Elders. She is bonded to a massive, ancient sea turtle and advocates for isolationism and healing the ocean, rather than war.
- Warden Kael: The aggressive, militant leader of the Cleansing Tide. He believes the only way to protect the Verdant Expanse is to sink every Dominion and Consortium ship that dares cross the horizon.
- Tender Maris: A highly skilled crafter of “Living Ships” and a sympathetic contact for Wayfinders. She frequently trades minor magical charms to independent captains in exchange for news of the outside world.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Hermit, Outlander, Sailor, Acolyte, Folk Hero.
- Favored Classes: Druid (Circle of the Land - Coast, Circle of the Moon), Cleric (Nature, Tempest), Ranger (Swarmkeeper, Hunter), Monk (Way of the Four Elements).
- Roleplay Hook: A Keeper PC is likely on a sacred pilgrimage to find the source of the Aether Streams, a Warden hunting a specific Drow that escaped, or a member of the “Penitent” trying to work off a past sin against the ocean.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Living Hull Plating: Magically grown iron-wood kelp and coral that can be grafted onto a standard ship. It provides temporary hit points to the hull and slowly regenerates over time when submerged in seawater.
- Breath-Weed: A highly prized, magically cultivated kelp that, when chewed, grants the user the ability to breathe underwater for 1 hour. The Keepers trade this very rarely.
- Storm-Callers: Conches infused with elemental air magic. When blown, they can alter the direction of the wind for a short duration, crucial for escaping a naval ambush.

Chapter 24: Regional Gazetteer - The Independent Salvagers

“The world ended once already. The evidence is scattered across the ocean floor. The fools in the Dominion think they can ignore it. We know that whoever controls the wreckage of the past, controls the future.”— Chief Archaeologist Silas Vance

The Independent Salvagers (often referred to simply as “The Guild”) are a faction of extreme risk-takers, rogue historians, artificers, and deep-sea divers. They are dedicated to one singular, incredibly dangerous goal: retrieving the lost, highly advanced, and highly unstable technology of the “First Captains” from the Unwritten Sea. They operate on the fringes of society, driven by a mix of scholarly obsession and raw greed.

1. Geography, Demographics & Hubs

The Salvagers do not hold territory in the traditional sense. They are nomadic, following rumors and shifting Aether currents toward ancient ruins. However, they maintain one permanent, neutral stronghold.

Population Overview: - Total Estimated Population: ~150,000 (Highly dispersed) - The Guild Masters (Lead Archaeologists): 2% - The Divers & Artificers (Active Crews): 48% - Support Staff, Appraisers, & Fences: 50%

Salvager’s Haven (Capital Hub)

Salvager’s Haven is built entirely inside the skeletal remains of a truly massive, petrified leviathan that washed up on a barren atoll near the edge of the Unwritten Sea. The ribs of the beast arch over the city like a cathedral ceiling, draped in heavy canvas to keep out the harsh sun. It is a city of workshops, black markets, and intense paranoia. - The Athenaeum: A heavily guarded library where recovered First Captain logs, star-charts, and technical schematics are translated and hoarded. - The Decompression Wards: Hospitals specifically designed to treat divers suffering from “The Bends” or magical radiation poisoning from handling unstable artifacts. - The Auction Block: A massive, reinforced amphitheater where the Consortium and the Dominion quietly outbid each other for recovered weaponry.

The Diving Bells (Mobile Outposts)

Massive, heavily armored floating platforms equipped with heavy cranes and diving bells, acting as temporary forward operating bases above newly discovered underwater ruins.

2. Magic Systems Integration

The Salvagers use magic purely as a tool to aid their excavations and survive the crushing depths.

- Arcane Magic (The Toolkit): Abjuration is highly valued for shielding against traps and magical radiation. Transmutation is essential for Water Breathing and manipulating heavy wreckage.
- Deep Magic (The Necessary Evil): They are the only surface faction that actively studies Deep Magic. They don’t worship it like the Drow, but they use it to counteract the crushing pressure of the deep ocean. This makes them highly suspicious to other factions.
- Psionics (Artifact Bonding): Many First Captain artifacts require a psionic “handshake” to operate. Psions are highly prized and highly paid to act as keys to these ancient machines.
- Spirit Magic (Ignored): They view Spirit Magic as superstitious nonsense that gets in the way of scientific discovery.

3. Faction Relations (Geopolitical Matrix)

The Salvagers try to remain neutral, playing the major powers against each other to fund their expeditions.

- Grand Merchant Consortium: Primary Benefactors. The Consortium funds most Salvager expeditions in exchange for the first right of refusal on any discovered technology. The relationship is highly transactional.
- Crimson Dominion: Tense Tolerance. The Dominion wants the artifacts but hates paying for them. They frequently try to bully or annex Salvager fleets, forcing the Salvagers to hire Free Captains as escorts.
- Free Captains Alliance: Friendly Associates. The pirates provide protection, and the Salvagers fence strange magical loot the pirates don't understand. Many Wayfinders consider themselves freelance Salvagers.
- Drowned Silk Houses (Drow): Lethal Competition. The Drow consider the Unwritten Sea their territory. Encounters between Drow submarines and Salvager diving bells always end in violence.
- Spirit Keepers: The Watchdogs. The Keepers despise the Salvagers for unearthing things that should remain buried. They will actively sink a Salvager ship if they believe the artifact on board is too dangerous.

4. Societal Hierarchy (The Academic Meritocracy)

Rank in the Guild is determined by what you have discovered, and more importantly, what you have survived.

1. The Guild Masters (Chief Archaeologists): The few who have successfully commanded major expeditions into the Unwritten Sea and returned with paradigm-shifting technology.
2. The Artificers / Translators: The scholars who can actually figure out how to make First Captain technology work without it detonating.
3. The Master Divers: The veterans. Anyone who has survived more than ten deep-sea dives into ancient ruins is treated with immense respect (and usually sports several magical prosthetics).
4. The Dredgers: The rank-and-file sailors and laborers who operate the cranes, winches, and diving bells.
5. The Investors: Wealthy outsiders (usually Consortium) who fund the expeditions but have no operational authority.

5. Internal Politics & Rival Factions

The Guild is fractured by differing philosophies on what to do with the technology they find.

- The Preservationists: Believe artifacts should be studied, cataloged, and kept in the Athenaeum for the good of all, rather than sold to warmongers.
- The Profiteers: Believe the only purpose of the Guild is to get rich selling weapons to the Dominion and Consortium.
- The Integrationists: Radical artificers who actively replace their own body parts with First Captain technology, viewing it as the next step in human evolution.

- The Curse-Touched: Divers who have been driven mad by the magical radiation of the deep ruins, who occasionally form violent, unpredictable cults within the lower levels of the Haven.

6. The Military Machine

The Salvagers do not have a standing army. They rely on mercenaries for defense and experimental weaponry for survival.

- Naval Fleet Composition: They sail heavily modified, slow, incredibly sturdy salvage vessels. These ships look like floating factories, bristling with cranes, winches, and reinforced diving cages.
- Combat Tactics: Flee and cover. They avoid naval battles at all costs. If cornered, they will utilize untested, highly volatile First Captain weaponry, which is just as likely to sink their own ship as the enemy's.
- Shipboard Weaponry: Experimental. A Salvager ship might be armed with a cannon that fires bolts of pure gravity, or a shielding device that turns the ship temporarily ethereal, all powered by unstable, glowing crystals.

7. Notable Figures

- Chief Archaeologist Silas Vance: An aging, paranoid genius who has integrated several First Captain ocular implants into his skull. He firmly believes the First Captains didn't die out, but left the planet entirely.
- Master Diver "Iron-Lung" Kael: A legendary diver whose torso is almost entirely encased in a magical, pressure-regulating suit. He is the only man known to have survived a direct encounter with a Drow Leviathan and lived to tell the tale.
- Appraiser Lira: The ruthless head of the Auction Block. She speaks seven languages, can identify a fake artifact at fifty paces, and has the Consortium wrapped around her finger.

8. Player Character Integration

- Best Fit Backgrounds: Sage, Guild Artisan, Sailor, Charlatan, Hermit.
- Favored Classes: Artificer (All subclasses, especially Battlesmith and Armorer), Wizard (Transmutation, Scribes), Rogue (Thief, Arcane Trickster), Fighter (Psi Warrior).
- Roleplay Hook: A Salvager PC is likely an adrenaline junkie, an academic desperate to make a name for themselves, or someone severely in debt to the Consortium looking for one big score in the Unwritten Sea.

9. Unique Regional Assets

- Diving Suits (Pressure Armor): Heavy, magically sealed suits of armor that allow deep-sea exploration, providing immunity to the crushing pressure of the depths but imposing disadvantage on Dexterity checks.
- Unstable Energy Cores: Glowing crystals pulled from ruins. They can be used to instantly recharge spell slots or power magic items, but carry a high risk of wild magic surges or explosive failure.

- The Translator’s Monocle: A highly coveted magic item that casts Comprehend Languages specifically calibrated for ancient, dead scripts and First Captain cipher logs.

Chapter 25: Religion & The Cosmic Forces

“The mainlanders pray to gods of iron and gold. They build cathedrals to shield themselves from the rain. But out here on the open ocean, when the sky turns black and the waves crest higher than your mast, you don’t pray for a contract or a law. You pray to whatever entity is currently deciding whether or not to swallow you whole.” — Wayfinder Chaplain Silas Religion in the Shattered Expanse is deeply divided. Unlike other fantasy settings where a unified pantheon watches over the world, the Charted Waters are caught in a theological cold war. On one side are the “New Gods”—deities of civilization, law, commerce, and human ambition, brought by the empires that settled the islands. On the other side are the “Old Entities”—primordial, terrifying forces of nature, chaos, and the deep ocean that were here long before humanity arrived.

1. The Civilized Pantheon (The “New Gods”)

The New Gods are the deities of the mainland, the Crimson Dominion, and the Grand Merchant Consortium. They represent the triumph of civilization over the wild.

The Iron Arbiter

God of Law, Conquest, and the Forge - Alignment: Lawful Neutral - Suggested Domains: Order, War, Forge - Worshippers: The Crimson Dominion, magistrates, soldiers, armorers. - Lore: Depicted as a massive, faceless knight clad in impenetrable plate armor, holding a perfectly balanced scale in one hand and a heavy maul in the other. He teaches that the world is chaotic and must be brought to heel through discipline, strict hierarchy, and military might. The Dominion views him as their patron deity, using his doctrine to justify their subjugation of the Expanse. - Symbol: A red anvil struck by an iron hammer.

The Golden Ledger

Deity of Commerce, Contracts, and Wealth - Alignment: True Neutral - Suggested Domains: Knowledge, Trickery - Worshippers: The Grand Merchant Consortium, bankers, smugglers, guildmasters. - Lore: A genderless, multifaceted entity often depicted as a golden figure holding an endlessly unspooling scroll. The Golden Ledger does not care about good or evil, only that debts are paid, contracts are honored, and wealth circulates. The high priests of the Ledger are essentially divine accountants. To break a sworn contract in the Consortium is not just illegal; it is a profound sin against the Ledger. - Symbol: A golden coin with a keyhole in the center.

The Guiding Star

Goddess of Navigation, Hope, and Safe Voyages - Alignment: Neutral Good - Suggested Domains: Light, Twilight, Peace - Worshippers: Wayfinders, honest sailors, navigators, cartographers. - Lore: Depicted as a glowing, ethereal woman holding a celestial astrolabe. She is the most widely worshipped of the New Gods among the common folk of the Expanse. She does not calm the storms—that is the domain of the Old Entities—but she provides the light to navigate through them. - Symbol: A silver, eight-pointed compass rose.

The Hearth-Keeper

Goddess of Agriculture, Hearth, and Community - Alignment: Lawful Good - Suggested Domains: Life, Nature - Worshippers: Island farmers, kelp-harvesters, commoners, healers. - Lore: The islands of the Expanse are harsh, and not everyone is a soldier or a merchant. The Hearth-Keeper is the motherly figure who ensures the kelp farms yield and the coastal storms don’t wash away the villages. Her clerics are often local doctors or midwives. - Symbol: A woven basket of glowing kelp.

The Silent Archivist

God of Secrets, History, and Espionage - Alignment: True Neutral - Suggested Domains: Knowledge, Trickery - Worshippers: Spies, intelligence officers, scholars, the Consortium’s “Shadow Brokers”. - Lore: A cloaked figure whose face is a blank scroll. The Archivist teaches that knowledge is the ultimate weapon, and that history belongs to those who control the narrative. Temples to the Archivist are hidden libraries where secrets are traded like currency. - Symbol: A closed eye with a keyhole in the pupil.

2. The Free Gods (Deities of Chaos)

The Free Captains and outcasts of the Expanse often reject organized religion, but they hold deep superstitions and revere certain chaotic forces.

The Laughing Storm

God of Revelry, Rebellion, and Luck - Alignment: Chaotic Neutral - Suggested Domains: Tempest, Trickery - Worshippers: Free Captains, gamblers, bards, rebels. - Lore: Not so much a god as a personification of pirate philosophy. The Laughing Storm is said to be the spirit of a legendary rogue who stole a divine spark and threw it into the ocean. He rewards the bold, the foolish, and the free. A common pirate blessing is, “May the Storm laugh with you, not at you.” - Symbol: A pair of crossed cutlasses over a grinning skull.

The Drowned Avenger

Deity of the Sunken Dead, Vengeance, and Mutiny - Alignment: Chaotic Evil - Suggested Domains: Death, War - Worshippers: Mutineers, the wronged, privateers seeking bloody revenge. - Lore: A grim, relentless entity prayed to by those who have been betrayed. When a sailor is keel-hauled or a slave is tossed overboard, they often use their dying breath to curse their murderers in the Avenger’s name. It is said the Avenger commands a ghost fleet of every ship sunk by treachery. - Symbol: A skeletal hand rising from the waves holding a rusted dagger.

3. The Old Entities (The Primordial Powers)

The Old Entities do not have churches. They do not care about mortal morality. Worshipping them is less about seeking salvation and more about negotiating survival.

The Slumbering Leviathans

The Physical Gods of the Ocean - Alignment: Neutral - Suggested Domains: Nature, Tempest (Cleric) / The Fathomless (Warlock) - Worshippers: The Spirit Keepers, druids, deep-sea shamans. - Lore: The Keepers do not pray to invisible gods in the sky; they pray to the very real, continent-sized beasts sleeping beneath the crust of the ocean. They believe these Leviathans generate the magical Aether Streams that keep the world alive. When a Leviathan stirs, tsunamis wipe out islands. Their clerics draw power directly from the ambient magic these beasts radiate. - Symbol: A stylized wave crashing over a massive eye.

The First Captains (The “Cargo Cults”)

The Ancient Precursors - Alignment: Unknown - Suggested Domains: Knowledge (Cleric) / The Great Old One (Warlock) - Worshippers: The Independent Salvagers, Doomsday Cults, mad artificers. - Lore: The extinct civilization that ruled the world before the flood. Some view them as gods who ascended, while others (like the Salvagers) worship their technology. This “Cargo Cult” mentality leads artificers to treat schematics like holy scripture, praying to engines to start and performing maintenance as religious rituals. - Symbol: An intricate, glowing geometric cipher (often tattooed on the worshipper).

The Deep Mother

The Abyssal Horror - Alignment: Chaotic Evil - Suggested Domains: Death, Grave (Cleric) / The Hexblade (Warlock) - Worshippers: The Drowned Silk Houses (Drow), cultists of the deep. - Lore: The horrific entity that the Drow turned to when the world flooded. The Deep Mother is not a spider, but an oceanic horror of crushing pressure, bioluminescence, and parasitic control. She resides in the darkest trenches of the Sunless Sea, demanding the corruption of surface spirits and absolute matriarchal dominance. - Symbol: A black, jagged silhouette of a multi-tentacled leviathan clutching a pearl.

4. Mechanical Integration for Players

When creating a character in the Wayfinder setting, consider how your class connects to these cosmic forces:

Clerics

- Order / War / Forge: You are likely an Inquisitor, War-Priest, or Armorer of the Crimson Dominion, enforcing the Iron Arbiter’s will.

- Tempest / Nature: You are a shaman of the Spirit Keepers, drawing power from the ocean itself, violently opposed to industrialization.
- Light / Twilight / Peace: You are a beacon of hope for a Wayfinder crew, guiding them through the treacherous Jagged Reefs via the Guiding Star.
- Death / Grave: You are a rogue Drow priestess of the Deep Mother, or a bitter pirate seeking vengeance through the Drowned Avenger.

Warlocks

- The Fathomless: Your patron is a specific, ancient Leviathan or a powerful, unbound ocean elemental. You are a conduit for the sea's wrath.
- The Great Old One: You touched a humming, glowing artifact pulled from the Unwritten Sea, and now the fractured, digital-like consciousness of a First Captain speaks to you in mathematical riddles.
- The Hexblade: You wield a weapon forged of black coral and abyssal iron, gifted to you by an exile of the Drowned Silk Houses, or pulled from a sunken wreck.

Paladins

- Oath of Conquest: A perfect fit for the Crimson Dominion's Iron Legion, swearing to bring law to the chaotic seas.
- Oath of the Open Sea (or Devotion): A Wayfinder or Free Captain who has sworn to protect the freedom of the Chartist Waters against the tyranny of the empires.
- Oath of the Ancients: A heavily armored warden of the Spirit Keepers, sworn to protect the Verdant Expanse and the slumbering Leviathans from the taint of Deep Magic.

Sorcerers

- Storm Sorcery: You were born during a magical super-cell, blessed (or cursed) by the Laughing Storm. You are highly prized by the Free Captains.
- Aberrant Mind: You were exposed to the deep-sea radiation of the Unwritten Sea, or survived a parasitic encounter with a minion of the Deep Mother.

Barbarians

- Path of the Storm Herald: You are a warrior of the Spirit Keepers, channeling the raw elemental power of the Aether Streams.
- Path of the Zealot: You are an unkillable shock-trooper for the Crimson Dominion, resurrected repeatedly by the priests of the Iron Arbiter to continue fighting.

Chapter 26: Custom Player Options

The Shattered Expanse is a world defined by the sea, ancient magic, and cutthroat factions. While standard backgrounds and class archetypes can be adapted, the options presented in this chapter are designed to root your character deeply into the lore of the Chartist Waters.

1. Setting-Specific Backgrounds

Dominion Legionnaire

You were a soldier, inquisitor, or logistics officer for the Crimson Dominion. You are used to strict hierarchy, ironclad law, and the belief that order must be imposed on a chaotic world. You may still be active duty, or you may be a deserter fleeing the Iron Arbiter’s wrath.

Spirit Keeper Warden

You are a defender of the Verdant Expanse. You revere the Slumbering Leviathans and view the industrialization of the empires as a blight upon the world. You have spent your life listening to the song of the ocean.

- Skill Proficiencies: Nature, Animal Handling
- Tool Proficiencies: Herbalism kit
- Equipment: A staff carved from driftwood, a vial of pure aether-water, a set of traveler’s clothes, and a pouch containing 10 gp.

d6	Flaw
4	I value animal life over human life.
5	I become wildly unpredictable when a storm rolls in.
6	I hold grudges for decades, just like the ocean.

Independent Salvager

You belong to the loose collective of scavengers who dive into the treacherous Unwritten Sea to retrieve artifacts of the First Captains. You are part historian, part mechanic, and part daredevil.

- Skill Proficiencies: Investigation, History
- Tool Proficiencies: Tinker’s tools, Thieves’ tools
- Equipment: A set of tinker’s tools, a strange, broken technological artifact, a set of sturdy diving clothes, and a pouch containing 15 gp.

Feature: Junk Tinkerer

You can scavenge parts from your surroundings to temporarily repair mundane broken items (like a snapped axle, a rusted lock, or a leaky hull) or jury-rig simple, single-use tools (like a makeshift pulley or a temporary patch). 2. New Subclasses

Bard: College of the Shanty

Bards of the College of the Shanty are not delicate lute-strummers playing in royal courts. They are loud, rhythmic leaders who use booming voices and percussive instruments to keep a crew working in perfect synchronization. Their magic is woven into the beat of the drum and the stomp of the boot, capable of turning a disorganized mob into a unified, terrifying force.

Bonus Proficiencies When you join the College of the Shanty at 3rd level, you gain proficiency with water vehicles and one type of artisan’s tools (such as carpenter’s tools or cook’s utensils). If you are already proficient, you can choose another tool proficiency.

Heave Away At 3rd level, you can use your Bardic Inspiration to coordinate your allies. When an ally rolls a Bardic Inspiration die you gave them, they gain temporary hit points equal to the number rolled + your Charisma modifier. Furthermore, if they use the die to make a melee weapon attack, they can push the target 5 feet away from them on a hit.

Voice of the Captain Also at 3rd level, your voice has been trained to carry over the roar of a hurricane. You can cast the thaumaturgy cantrip to triple the volume of your voice without providing verbal components. When you do so, you have advantage on Charisma (Intimidation) checks for the next minute.

Rhythm of the Sea At 6th level, your voice cuts through the chaos of battle. As an action, you can begin a rhythmic chant. For 1 minute, as long as you maintain concentration (as if concentrating on a spell), you and friendly creatures within 30 feet of you who can hear you ignore difficult terrain and have advantage on saving throws against being charmed or frightened.

Thunderous Chorus At 14th level, you can unleash the accumulated energy of your crew's synchronization. When a creature within 30 feet of you deals damage to a target while under the effect of your Rhythm of the Sea, you can use your reaction to expend one use of your Bardic Inspiration. Roll the die; the target takes additional thunder damage equal to two rolls of your Bardic Inspiration die, and must succeed on a Strength saving throw against your spell save DC or be knocked prone.

Barbarian: Path of the Leviathan

Barbarians who walk the Path of the Leviathan emulate the terrifying, crushing power of the ancient sea beasts that slumber beneath the waves. They do not just channel anger; they channel the abyssal pressure, the freezing cold, and the unstoppable mass of the deep ocean.

Abyssal Adaptation Starting when you choose this path at 3rd level, you gain a swimming speed equal to your walking speed, and you can breathe underwater. Additionally, you ignore any drawbacks caused by a deep underwater environment, including cold and pressure.

Crushing Pressure At 3rd level, your rage manifests as a field of heavy, aquatic pressure. While you are raging, the ground within 10 feet of you is difficult terrain for your enemies. If an enemy starts its turn within this area, its speed is reduced by 10 feet until the start of its next turn.

Leviathan's Mass At 6th level, you can channel the unstoppable momentum of a sea beast. While raging, you have advantage on Strength (Athletics) checks made to grapple or shove a creature. Additionally, you count as one size larger when determining your carrying capacity and the weight you can push, drag, or lift. Your melee weapon attacks deal an extra 1d4 bludgeoning damage while you are raging, representing the sheer weight of your blows.

Depths of Despair At 10th level, you can exude the terrifying, cold isolation of the sunless sea. As an action, you can force all creatures of your choice within 30 feet of you to make a Wisdom saving throw (DC equal to 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Constitution modifier). On a failed save, a creature is frightened of you for 1 minute. A frightened creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself on a success. Once you use this feature, you cannot do so again until you finish a long rest.

Tsunami Strike At 14th level, when you hit a creature with a melee weapon attack while raging, you can unleash a shockwave of force. The target and all enemies within 15 feet of it in a line behind it must make a Strength saving throw (DC equal to 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Strength modifier). On a failed save, they take 4d6 bludgeoning damage and are knocked prone. On a successful save, they take half damage and are not knocked prone. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Constitution modifier (minimum of once), and you regain all expended uses when you finish a long rest.

Rogue: Deep Diver

Rogues of the Deep Diver archetype are masters of 3D combat, aquatic infiltration, and scavenging. Often employed by the Free Captains or the Independent Salvagers, they use specialized gear and incredible breath control to strike from the darkest waters, exploiting the verticality of ship combat and flooded ruins to devastating effect.

Aquatic Infiltrator When you choose this archetype at 3rd level, you gain a swimming speed equal to your walking speed. You can hold your breath for a number of minutes equal to 1 + your Constitution modifier (minimum of 1 minute) multiplied by 10. Additionally, you gain proficiency with tinker's tools if you don't already have it.

Plunge Strike Also at 3rd level, you learn to use gravity and water to maximize your lethal precision. You can apply your Sneak Attack damage to a creature if you fall or swim at least 10 feet directly toward the target immediately before making the attack, even if you don't have advantage on the attack roll, provided you don't have disadvantage on it. All other rules for Sneak Attack still apply.

Scavenger's Mobility At 9th level, you have jury-rigged a specialized grappling hook or aether-thruster. As a bonus action, you can target a solid surface within 30 feet of you. You are instantly pulled to that surface. If you end this movement suspended in the air (like grappling a mast), you have advantage on Strength (Athletics) checks to climb or hold on. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Dexterity modifier (minimum of 1), and regain all expended uses on a short or long rest.

Trench Stalker At 13th level, you are fully at home in the abyssal dark. You gain darkvision out to 60 feet. If you already have darkvision, its range increases by 30 feet. Furthermore, while you are underwater, lightly obscured areas (like dim light or floating kelp) count as heavily obscured for the purpose of you taking the Hide action.

Abyssal Ambush At 17th level, your strikes are as sudden and devastating as a Leviathan breaching the surface. When you use your Plunge Strike feature, you can roll d8s instead of d6s for your Sneak Attack damage. If you score a critical hit with a Plunge Strike, the target is stunned until the end of its next turn.

Cleric: Deep Domain

Clerics of the Deep Domain revere the crushing, infinite expanse of the ocean. Many are tied to the Silk Houses, worshipping the Deep Mother or the Slumbering Leviathans. They wield the terrifying pressure of the abyss and the strange vitality of mutated sea life to heal their allies and crush their foes.

Domain Spells You gain domain spells at the cleric levels listed in the Deep Domain Spells table. - 1st: create or destroy water, thunderwave - 3rd: blindness/deafness, darkness - 5th: water breathing, wall of water - 7th: control water, watery sphere - 9th: maelstrom, scrying

Bonus Proficiency When you choose this domain at 1st level, you gain proficiency with heavy armor and tridents.

Abyssal Resilience Also at 1st level, your body begins to adapt to the crushing depths. You gain a swimming speed equal to your walking speed, and you can breathe underwater.

Channel Divinity: Crushing Depths Starting at 2nd level, you can use your Channel Divinity to subject your foes to the terrifying pressure of the deep sea. As an action, you present your holy symbol, and a 20-foot-radius sphere of crushing, heavy water appears centered on a point you can see within 60 feet. Each hostile creature in that area must make a Strength saving throw. A creature takes bludgeoning damage equal to 2d10 + your cleric level on a failed save, and its movement speed is halved until the end of its next turn. On a successful save, it takes half damage and suffers no movement penalty.

Mutating Touch At 6th level, your healing magic forces rapid, sometimes unsettling, biological adaptation. When you cast a spell of 1st level or higher that restores hit points to a creature other than you, that creature gains temporary hit points equal to your cleric level, and it grows gills and webbing, allowing it to breathe underwater and granting it a swimming speed equal to its walking speed for 1 hour.

Divine Strike At 8th level, you are infused with the freezing cold of the sunless sea. Once on each of your turns when you hit a creature with a weapon attack, you can cause the attack to deal an extra 1d8 cold damage. When you reach 14th level, the extra damage increases to 2d8.

Avatar of the Leviathan At 17th level, you can perfectly channel the apex predators of the deep. You gain resistance to bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage from nonmagical attacks. Additionally, as an action, you can unleash a terrifying roar. All enemies within 60 feet of you that can hear you must succeed on a Wisdom saving throw against your spell save DC or become frightened of you for 1 minute. A frightened creature can repeat the saving throw at the end of each of its turns. Once you use this roar, you cannot use it again until you finish a long rest.

Druid: Circle of the Reef

Druids of the Circle of the Reef are the fierce protectors of the Shattered Expanse's fragile underwater ecosystems. They view the industrialization of the Dominion and the Consortium as a disease, utilizing coral armor, grappling vines, and aquatic transformations to sink ships and drag polluters into the depths.

Reef Magic Your connection to the vibrant life of the coral reefs infuses you with the ability to cast certain spells. You gain the shape water cantrip if you don't already know it. You also gain the following spells at the listed druid levels: - 3rd: entangle, spike growth - 5th: water walk, tidal wave - 7th: control water, grasping vine - 9th: wrath of nature, maelstrom

Living Coral Armor At 2nd level, you can use an action to expend one use of your Wild Shape feature to coat your body in a layer of jagged, living coral, rather than transforming into a beast. While this armor is active, you gain the following benefits: - Your AC becomes 16 (if it is not already higher). - You gain temporary hit points equal to 4 times your druid level. - When a creature within 5 feet of you hits you with a melee attack, it takes 1d4 piercing damage from the sharp coral. The armor lasts for 10 minutes, until you lose all the temporary hit points, or until you use your Wild Shape again.

Symbiotic Grapple At 6th level, your magic calls upon the aggressive kelp of the Sargasso seas. When you cast a spell that creates difficult terrain or restrains creatures (like entangle or spike growth), you can choose one creature within the spell's area. That creature must succeed on a Strength saving throw against your spell save DC or be grappled by kelp vines (escape DC equals your spell save DC).

Aquatic Mastery At 10th level, you can expend two uses of Wild Shape at the same time to transform into a Water Elemental. Additionally, whenever you are in your normal form or a Wild Shape form, you have resistance to cold damage and cannot be grappled or restrained while underwater.

Apex Predator At 14th level, when you reduce a creature to 0 hit points with a spell or a melee attack while your Living Coral Armor is active, the coral rapidly feeds on the biological matter, restoring hit points to you equal to your Wisdom modifier + your druid level. You can benefit from this feature only once per turn.

Fighter: Dominion Marine

The Crimson Dominion relies on disciplined, heavily armored shock-troops to maintain order and board enemy vessels. The Dominion Marine excels in brutal, close-quarters ship combat, relying on tactical superiority, breaching techniques, and the use of prototype Aether-Rifles.

Dominion Tactics When you choose this archetype at 3rd level, you learn maneuvers that are fueled by special dice called superiority dice. - Maneuvers: You learn three maneuvers of your choice from the Battle Master archetype (PHB). Many Marines favor Pushing Attack, Trip Attack, and Brace. - Superiority Dice: You have four superiority dice, which are d8s. A superiority die is expended when you use it. You regain all of your expended superiority dice when you finish a short or long rest. - Saving Throws: If a maneuver requires a saving throw, the DC is 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Strength or Dexterity modifier (your choice).

Breach and Clear Also at 3rd level, you excel at violent boarding actions. When you roll initiative, if you are not surprised, you can move up to your speed as a reaction. If you end this movement adjacent to a door, window, or weak structure, you can make a single melee weapon attack against it to attempt to breach it.

Aether-Tech Proficiency At 7th level, you are fully trained in the use of Dominion technology. You gain proficiency with firearms (including Aether-Rifles and Pistols). Furthermore, you ignore the “loading” property of firearms, and when you score a critical hit with a firearm, the target is pushed 10 feet away from you due to the force of the blast.

Ironclad Advance At 10th level, you become an immovable object. When you use your Action Surge, you also gain temporary hit points equal to 1d10 + your fighter level. While you have these temporary hit points, you cannot be pushed, pulled, or knocked prone against your will.

Relentless Assault At 15th level, when you roll initiative and have no superiority dice remaining, you regain one superiority die.

Grand Inquisitor's Zeal At 18th level, your dedication to the Dominion is absolute. When you use your Indomitable feature to reroll a failed saving throw, you add your fighter level to the new roll, ensuring that almost nothing can break your resolve.

Monk: Way of the Shifting Tide

Monks of the Shifting Tide, often found among the Free Captains, study the chaotic movements of the ocean. They fight like the sea itself: calm and receding one moment, a devastating tidal wave the next. They excel at fighting on unstable surfaces and turning their enemies' momentum against them.

Sea Legs When you choose this tradition at 3rd level, you permanently adapt to fighting on ships. You gain a swimming speed equal to your walking speed. Furthermore, you have advantage on any ability check or saving throw to avoid being knocked prone, and standing up costs you only 5 feet of movement.

Tidal Redirect Also at 3rd level, you learn to use the flow of combat to redirect attacks. When a creature misses you with a melee attack, you can spend 1 ki point as a reaction to force that creature to repeat the same attack against a different creature of your choice (other than the attacker) within 5 feet of you.

Water Whip At 6th level, you can shape the moisture in the air into a striking tendril. As an action, you can spend 2 ki points to create a whip of water that shoves and pulls a creature to unbalance it. A creature that you can see that is within 30 feet of you must make a Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes bludgeoning damage equal to 3d10 + your Wisdom modifier, plus an extra 1d10 bludgeoning damage for each additional ki point you spend, and you can either knock it prone or pull it up to 25 feet closer to you. On a successful save, the creature takes half as much damage, and you don't pull it or knock it prone.

Ebb and Flow At 11th level, you can perfectly time your retreats. When you take the Disengage action, you can spend 1 ki point to immediately move up to your unarmored movement speed. If you move through a hostile creature's space during this movement, you can make one unarmed strike against it.

Crashing Wave At 17th level, you can unleash a devastating flurry of strikes that hits with the force of a tsunami. When you use your Flurry of Blows, you can make three unarmed strikes instead of two. If all three strikes hit the same target, the target must succeed on a Constitution saving throw or be stunned until the end of your next turn and pushed 15 feet away from you.

Paladin: Oath of the Horizon

Paladins who swear the Oath of the Horizon are explorers, navigators, and chart-makers. They are driven by a holy compulsion to map the Unwritten Sea, push the boundaries of the known world, and protect their crew from the abyssal horrors that lurk beyond the edge of the map.

Tenets of the Horizon - Discover: The map is incomplete. It is your sacred duty to fill in the blank spaces. - Guide: A captain must protect their crew. You are the beacon that brings them home. - Adapt: The sea is unpredictable. You must be as well. Dogma must yield to survival.

Oath Spells You gain oath spells at the paladin levels listed. - 3rd: create or destroy water, guiding bolt - 5th: augury, misty step - 9th: call lightning, water walk - 13th: control water, freedom of movement - 17th: commune with nature, scrying

Channel Divinity When you take this oath at 3rd level, you gain the following two Channel Divinity options. - Guiding Light: As an action, you can present your holy symbol and summon a flare of divine light. For 1 minute, you shed bright light in a 30-foot radius and dim light for an additional 30 feet. Any ally within the bright light adds your Charisma modifier (minimum of +1) to their attack rolls. - Turn the Deep: As an action, you present your holy symbol and speak a prayer censuring aberrations and beasts of the sea. Each aberration or beast within 30 feet of you that can hear you must make a Wisdom saving throw. If the creature fails its saving throw, it is turned for 1 minute or until it takes damage.

Aura of the Navigator Starting at 7th level, you exude an aura of perfect direction and safety. You and friendly creatures within 10 feet of you cannot be lost by magical or nonmagical means, and ignore difficult terrain caused by environmental hazards (like heavy rain, deep snow, or magical plants). At 18th level, the range of this aura increases to 30 feet.

Unstoppable Voyage At 15th level, you can magically propel yourself or an ally out of danger. As a reaction when you or a friendly creature within 30 feet of you takes damage, you can grant the target resistance to the triggering damage, and they can immediately move up to half their speed without provoking opportunity attacks.

Horizon Walker At 20th level, you can merge with the concept of the horizon itself. As an action, you undergo a transformation. For 1 minute, you gain the following benefits: - You gain a flying speed of 60 feet. - You can teleport up to 30 feet as a bonus action on each of your turns. - When you hit a creature with a weapon attack, the attack deals an extra 1d10 radiant damage, and the creature sheds dim light, preventing it from benefiting from being invisible or taking the Hide action until the end of its next turn. Once you use this feature, you can't use it again until you finish a long rest.

Ranger: Leviathan Hunter

While some hunt pirates, you hunt monsters. The Leviathan Hunter specializes in tracking, fighting, and butchering colossal beasts. They are fearless sailors who wield massive harpoons and are trained to resist the mind-shattering terror of apex predators.

Leviathan Hunter Magic Starting at 3rd level, you learn an additional spell when you reach certain levels in this class, as shown in the Leviathan Hunter Spells table. - 3rd: hunter's mark - 5th: hold person - 9th: water breathing - 13th: freedom of movement - 17th: hold monster

Harpoon Mastery At 3rd level, you become a master of the harpoon (treat as a javelin or spear). When you hit a creature with a thrown harpoon that has a rope attached to it, the creature is tethered to you. While tethered, the creature cannot move further away from you unless it succeeds on a Strength (Athletics) check contested by your Strength (Athletics) check. You can use a bonus action to pull a tethered creature that is Large or smaller up to 10 feet closer to you. The tether can be broken if the rope is destroyed (AC 11, 5 HP).

Colossus Slayer Also at 3rd level, you deal extra damage to large targets. Once per turn, when you hit a creature with a weapon attack, the creature takes an extra 1d8 damage if it's below its hit point maximum. If the creature is Large or larger, this extra damage increases to 1d10.

Iron Nerve At 7th level, you have stared down the horrors of the deep. You have advantage on saving throws against being frightened. If you succeed on a saving throw against being frightened, you can use your reaction to make one weapon attack against the creature that attempted to frighten you.

Whaler’s Evasion At 11th level, you are adept at dodging the massive, sweeping attacks of giant beasts. When a creature that is Large or larger makes a melee attack against you, you can use your reaction to impose disadvantage on the attack roll.

The Bigger They Are At 15th level, you can strike the weak points of massive creatures with lethal precision. When you hit a creature that is Large or larger with a weapon attack, you can choose to make the attack a critical hit. Once you use this feature, you cannot use it again until you finish a long rest.

Sorcerer: Aether-Touched Bloodline

The Unwritten Sea is awash in Aether—a volatile, green, precursor energy. Sometimes, a child born in an Aether-Storm, or a sailor exposed to a cracked reactor core, absorbs this chaotic magic. You are a living battery of raw, unstable power, capable of hovering, unleashing pure force, and overriding reality.

Aetheric Resonance At 1st level, your body is suffused with anti-gravity energy. You can hover up to 1 foot off the ground. You ignore difficult terrain and taking damage from falling as long as you are conscious.

Volatile Magic Also at 1st level, the magic you cast is unstable. When you cast a sorcerer spell of 1st level or higher that deals damage, you can choose to change the damage type to force damage. If you do, you must roll 1d20. On a roll of 1, a surge of aether backfires; you take force damage equal to the spell’s level, and all creatures within 10 feet of you (including allies) take the same amount of damage.

Overclocked Spells At 6th level, you can push your magical capacity beyond safe limits. When you cast a spell that requires a saving throw, you can spend 2 sorcery points to increase the spell save DC by 2 for that casting. When you do so, you take 1d6 necrotic damage per level of the spell cast, which cannot be reduced in any way.

Aetheric Flight At 14th level, you can fully manipulate the anti-gravity properties of the Aether. You gain a flying speed equal to your walking speed, and you can hover indefinitely.

Core Meltdown At 18th level, you can unleash the entirety of the Aether trapped within you in a devastating explosion. As an action, you can spend 5 sorcery points to release a blast of pure force. Every creature within a 30-foot radius of you must make a Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, a creature takes 10d10 force damage and is stunned until the end of its next turn. On a successful save, a creature takes half damage and isn’t stunned. After using this feature, you suffer 1 level of exhaustion.

Warlock: The Sunken King Patron

Your patron is a remnant of the First Captains—perhaps a dormant AI trapped in a sunken Dreadnought, or the digitized, insane consciousness of an ancient admiral. In exchange for your servitude, they grant you access to hard-light technology, robotic thralls, and devastating precursor weaponry.

Expanded Spell List The Sunken King lets you choose from an expanded list of spells when you learn a warlock spell. - 1st: magic missile, shield - 2nd: heat metal, shatter - 3rd: lightning bolt, tiny hut - 4th: fabricate, resilient sphere - 5th: animate objects, wall of force

Aegis Shielding At 1st level, your patron grants you a personal hard-light defense system. As a bonus action, you can project a glowing hexagonal shield around yourself. You gain temporary hit points equal to your Warlock level + your Charisma modifier. While you have these temporary hit points, you have a +1 bonus to your AC. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your proficiency bonus, and regain expended uses on a long rest.

Technomantic Thrall At 6th level, your patron teaches you how to animate machinery. You can cast animate dead once without expending a spell slot, but instead of targeting corpses, you target piles of scrap metal or broken machines. They use the statistics of a Skeleton or Zombie, but they are Constructs instead of Undead, and are immune to poison damage. You regain the ability to cast it this way when you finish a long rest.

Override Protocol At 10th level, your mind is shielded by ancient encryption. You are immune to being charmed, and when another creature attempts to read your mind, deal psychic damage to you, or charm you, you can use your reaction to deal psychic damage to them equal to your warlock level, as your patron floods their mind with chaotic data streams.

Orbital Strike At 14th level, you can call upon the dormant weaponry of a sunken Dreadnought. As an action, you target a point you can see within 120 feet. A massive beam of concentrated Aether energy strikes the point from the sky (or from beneath the water). Each creature in a 20-foot-radius, 100-foot-high cylinder centered on that point must make a Dexterity saving throw. A creature takes 8d10 force damage on a failed save, or half as much on a successful one. Once you use this feature, you can't use it again until you finish a long rest.

Wizard: School of Cartography

The Unwritten Sea is a place of shifting geography and unmappable dangers. Wizards of the School of Cartography are highly sought after by the Consortium and Free Captains alike. They do not just draw maps; they manipulate the geometry of space, bending distance, gravity, and location to their will.

Cartographer's Eye Beginning when you select this school at 2nd level, you gain proficiency with Cartographer's tools and Navigator's tools. You always know which way is north, you cannot become lost by nonmagical means, and you have perfect recall of any map you have studied within the last month.

Spatial Shift Also at 2nd level, you learn to manipulate small distances. As a bonus action, you can magically teleport up to 10 feet to an unoccupied space you can see. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Intelligence modifier (minimum of once). You regain all expended uses when you finish a long rest.

Rewrite Geometry At 6th level, you can alter the battlefield as easily as erasing a line on a map. As an action, you can swap the positions of two willing creatures you can see within 60 feet of you. Alternatively, you can force one unwilling creature to swap positions with you. The unwilling creature must succeed on a Charisma saving throw against your spell save DC. If they fail, you swap places. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your proficiency bonus, regaining uses on a long rest.

Navigational Hazard At 10th level, you can draw hazards into reality. When you cast a spell that covers an area (like fireball or web), you can choose to leave a magical residue in the area. The entire area of the spell becomes difficult terrain for 1 minute. You can choose a number of creatures equal to your Intelligence modifier to ignore this difficult terrain.

Master of the Map At 14th level, space bends completely to your will. You add the teleport spell to your spellbook if you don't already have it. Furthermore, you can cast teleport without expending a spell slot once per long rest. When you do so, if the target destination is a location you have personally mapped with Cartographer's tools, you treat the destination as a "Permanent circle" for the purpose of the mishap table (meaning you always arrive exactly on target).

3. Setting-Specific Feats

If your DM allows the use of feats, you may choose the following options, which represent unique adaptations to the Shattered Expanse.

Sea Legs

You have spent so much time on the unsteady decks of ships that the rolling waves feel more natural than solid ground. - Increase your Dexterity or Constitution score by 1, to a maximum of 20. - You have advantage on saving throws and ability checks against being knocked prone. - Climbing rigging or swimming does not cost you extra movement. - You have advantage on Dexterity (Acrobatics) checks made to balance on narrow or moving surfaces.

Aether-Scarred

You survived prolonged exposure to the chaotic, magical radiation of the Unwritten Sea, leaving you physically marked and magically altered. - Increase your Constitution or Charisma score by 1, to a maximum of 20. - You gain resistance to either Force or Lightning damage (your choice when you take this feat). - You learn the thaumaturgy cantrip. When you cast it, the effects often have a slightly mutated, unsettling, or oceanic flair (e.g., your voice sounds like grinding tectonic plates, or the flames you flicker turn bioluminescent blue). You can cast this cantrip using Constitution as your spellcasting ability.

Ship-Breaker

You have trained to breach enemy hulls and destroy fortifications. - Increase your Strength score by 1, to a maximum of 20. - Your melee weapon attacks deal double damage to objects, structures, and vehicles (including ships). - When you score a critical hit against a creature wearing heavy armor, you shatter a piece of it; the creature's AC is reduced by 1 until the armor is repaired (minimum AC 10).

Abyssal Caster

You have learned to weave the freezing, crushing power of the deep ocean into your magic. - Whenever you cast a spell that deals fire, lightning, or force damage, you can choose to have it deal cold or bludgeoning damage instead (your choice). - When you cast a spell that deals cold or bludgeoning damage, you can reroll any 1s on the damage dice, but you must use the new roll.

4. Setting-Specific Spells

The following spells represent the unique magic developed by the inhabitants of the Charted Waters.

Aetheric Wake

1st-level evocation - Casting Time: 1 action - Range: Self (30-foot line) - Components: V, S - Duration: Instantaneous - Classes: Sorcerer, Wizard, Druid

You sweep your hand, creating a surging wave of glowing, heavy aether-water. Each creature in a line 30 feet long and 5 feet wide originating from you must make a Strength saving throw. On a failed save, a creature takes 2d8 bludgeoning damage and is pushed 10 feet away from you. On a successful save, a creature takes half as much damage and isn't pushed. At Higher Levels: When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 2nd level or higher, the damage increases by 1d8 for each slot level above 1st.

First Captain's Cipher

2nd-level divination - Casting Time: 1 minute - Range: Touch - Components: V, S, M (a piece of ancient technology) - Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes - Classes: Artificer, Warlock, Wizard

You touch a piece of technology, a machine, or a lock, and your mind connects to the fragmented databanks of the First Captains. For the duration, you have advantage on Intelligence (Investigation) and Dexterity checks made to understand, operate, or disable the object. Additionally, you receive flashes of the object's history, learning its original purpose and the general emotional state of the last person to use it.

Crushing Depths

4th-level transmutation - Casting Time: 1 action - Range: 60 feet - Components: V, S, M (a heavy stone from the ocean floor) - Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute - Classes: Sorcerer, Warlock, Druid

You manipulate the atmospheric pressure in a 20-foot-radius sphere centered on a point you choose within range, simulating the abyssal depths. The area becomes difficult terrain. When a creature starts its turn in the area or enters the area for the first time on a turn, it must make a Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes 4d8 bludgeoning damage and is deafened for 1 minute. On a successful save, it takes half as much damage and isn't deafened. A creature in the area cannot cast spells that require verbal components unless it succeeds on a Constitution check against your spell save DC. At Higher Levels: When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 5th level or higher, the damage increases by 1d8 for each slot level above 4th.

Chapter 27: Naval Combat & Ship Mechanics

The Shattered Expanse is a world of oceans, storms, and piracy. While 5th Edition combat excels at close-quarters skirmishes, simulating ship-to-ship combat requires a system that makes the vessel feel like a character in its own right, while keeping the players—the officers—at the center of the action.

The system presented here is cinematic and role-driven. Rather than treating ships as sluggish grid-tokens, this system focuses on the dramatic maneuvers of the vessel and the heroic actions of the crew on deck.

1. The Anatomy of a Ship

Every ship in the Expanse has a set of statistics similar to a creature, but simplified to keep combat moving quickly.

- Armor Class (AC): Represents the thickness of the hull and the ship’s maneuverability.
- Hull Points (HP): The ship’s hit points. When a ship reaches 0 HP, it begins to sink (it does not sink instantly, giving the crew time to evacuate or magically repair it).
- Speed: The ship’s movement rate, usually measured in knots (for travel) or feet per round (for combat).
- Damage Threshold: If a single attack deals damage less than this threshold, the ship takes no damage (the attack glances off the armor).
- Artillery: The cannons, ballistae, or aether-weapons mounted on the ship.

Example Ship Profiles

Free Captain Sloop

A fast, highly maneuverable vessel favored by smugglers and pirates. - AC: 15 - Hull Points: 250 - Damage Threshold: 10 - Speed: 60 ft. - Artillery: 4 Broadside Cannons (2 per side). Ranged Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, range 120/480 ft., one target. Hit: 3d10 bludgeoning damage.

Dominion Ironclad

A heavily armored, steam-and-aether powered beast of war. - AC: 18 - Hull Points: 500 - Damage Threshold: 20 - Speed: 40 ft. - Artillery: 1 Heavy Aether-Cannon (Front). Ranged Spell Attack: +8 to hit, range 300/1200 ft., one target. Hit: 6d10 force damage. 4 Broadside Cannons (2 per side).

Consortium Merchant Galleon

A massive, slow, but heavily armed cargo vessel. - AC: 14 - Hull Points: 400 - Damage Threshold: 15 - Speed: 30 ft. - Artillery: 8 Broadside Cannons (4 per side).

Drow Submersible (The “Abyssal Skiff”)

A terrifying vessel made of black coral that travels beneath the waves. - AC: 16 - Hull Points: 200 - Damage Threshold: 10 - Speed: 40 ft. (surface or underwater) - Artillery: 2 Torpedo Tubes. Ranged Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, range 150/600 ft., one target (underwater only). Hit: 4d12 piercing damage.

2. Officer Roles & Combat Flow

Naval combat happens in standard initiative. The ship itself does not roll initiative; instead, it moves and acts on the turn of the Helmsman.

During combat, players take on specific Officer Roles. An officer can use their action to take a standard 5e action (like casting a spell or shooting a bow), OR they can take a special Ship Action associated with their role.

The Captain

The leader of the vessel, responsible for morale and coordination. - Ship Action - “Fire at Will!”: You grant advantage to all artillery attacks made by your ship until the start of your next turn. - Ship Action - “Brace for Impact!”: You shout a warning. Until the start of your next turn, the ship gains resistance to all bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage from ship weapons or environmental hazards, and the crew has advantage on saving throws to avoid being knocked prone.

The Helmsman

The one steering the ship. The ship moves on the Helmsman’s turn. - Free Action - Move: You use the ship’s speed to move it across the battlefield. - Ship Action - “Hard to Port/Starboard!”: You make a DC 15 Dexterity (Water Vehicles) check. On a success, the ship can immediately turn up to 90 degrees and move up to half its speed, avoiding an incoming hazard or lining up a perfect broadside. - Ship Action - Ramming Speed: You move the ship in a straight line toward a target. If you hit, make a melee weapon attack (+6). On a hit, both ships take 6d10 bludgeoning damage, but if your ship has a reinforced prow, it takes half damage.

The Gunner

The master of the ship’s artillery. - Ship Action - Fire Artillery: You direct the crew to fire one battery of weapons (e.g., all cannons on the port side). Make an attack roll for the battery. You can add your proficiency bonus and your Intelligence or Dexterity modifier to the attack roll instead of the ship’s base modifier. - Ship Action - Targeted Shot: You aim for a specific part of the enemy ship (e.g., the mast, the rudder). Make an artillery attack with disadvantage. If it hits, you cripple that component. (A crippled mast halves speed; a crippled rudder prevents turning).

The Bosun

The chief engineer and disciplinarian, keeping the ship and crew functioning. - Ship Action - Emergency Repairs: You direct the damage control crew. Make a DC 15 Strength or Intelligence (Carpenter’s Tools) check. On a success, the ship regains 4d10 Hull Points. You can only successfully use this action three times per day. - Ship Action - Overdrive: You push the engines or the riggers beyond their limits. The ship’s speed increases by 20 feet until the end of the round, but the ship takes 1d10 damage from the strain.

The Surgeon

The ship’s medic, vital during boarding actions and artillery barrages. - Ship Action - Triage: You rush across the deck, stabilizing the dying and treating the wounded. You can cast a healing spell as a Ship Action with doubled range, or you can expend a use of a healer’s kit to heal a creature for 1d6 + 4 hit points plus a number equal to the creature’s maximum number of Hit Dice.

3. Ship Upgrades & Customization

Players who acquire a ship (whether by stealing a Dominion vessel, buying one from the Consortium, or salvaging a wreck) can spend gold and downtime to upgrade it.

Upgrade	Cost	Effect
Aether-Core Engine	5,000 gp	The ship no longer relies entirely on wind. Base speed increases by +10 ft., and the ship can move regardless of weather.
Smuggler’s Compartment	1,000 gp	Adds a hidden cargo hold that requires a DC 20 Investigation check to find.
Reinforced Iron Prow	2,500 gp	The ship gains resistance to damage taken from ramming, and deals an extra 2d10 damage when it rams a target.
Mithral Plating	10,000 gp	Increases the ship’s AC by +2 and Damage Threshold by +5, without slowing it down.
Diving Bell	1,500 gp	A pressurized sphere that can be lowered via crane to the ocean floor, holding up to 4 Medium creatures.

4. Environmental Hazards

The ocean is often more dangerous than the enemy fleet. The DM can roll on this table at the start of combat, or trigger hazards dynamically.

d6	Hazard	Effect
1	Rogue Wave:	A 40-foot tall wave sweeps the battlefield. The Helmsman must make a DC 16 Water Vehicles check. On a failure,

d6	Hazard	Effect
		the ship is pushed 60 feet and takes 4d10 damage. All creatures on deck must make a DC 14 Str save or be swept overboard.
2	Aether-Storm:	Lightning strikes randomly. At initiative count 20, 1d4 random targets (ships or creatures) take 3d10 lightning damage.
3	Jagged Reefs:	The water is treacherously shallow. Moving at more than half speed requires a DC 15 Water Vehicles check; failure results in a hull breach (2d10 damage and speed reduced to 0 until repaired).
4	Leviathan’s Wake:	A massive beast stirs below. The water churns into difficult terrain for all ships. Submersibles cannot function in the turbulence.
5	Ghost Fog:	Visibility drops to 30 feet. Artillery attacks beyond this range automatically miss.
6	Dead Calm:	The wind dies completely. Ships without an Aether-Core engine have their speed reduced to 10 feet (rowing speed).

Chapter 28: Support Crew Classes

In the Shattered Expanse, a ship is only as strong as its crew. While the Captain and the combat specialists repel boarders and fire the cannons, the ship is kept afloat, the crew fed, and the course charted by the vital Support Crew.

The Secondary Class System

Support Crew Classes are a secondary leveling system designed to grant players (or vital NPC Sidekicks) exceptional role-related bonuses and significant combat defense, without increasing their direct offensive capabilities.

- Automatic Progression: A character gains a level in their chosen Support Crew Class automatically whenever their overall Character Level increases.
- Non-Combat Focus: These classes grant no Extra Attacks, no offensive spellcasting, and no damage-scaling features.
- Exceptional Defense: Because these characters are often the targets of boarding actions but lack offensive scaling, these classes provide potent defensive mechanics to ensure their survival.

The Ship’s Cook

An army marches on its stomach; a pirate crew sails on its rations. The Ship’s Cook is the heart of morale, capable of turning hardtack and aether-mutated fish into a feast that fortifies the soul and hardens the body against the harsh ocean.

Level	Feature
1st	Iron Stomach, Hearty Rations
5th	Aether-Infused Broth
9th	Cleaver’s Ward
13th	Feast of the Leviathan
17th	Unbreakable Constitution
20th	Master of the Galley

Iron Stomach (1st Level) You gain proficiency with Cook’s Utensils. You have resistance to poison damage and advantage on saving throws against being poisoned or diseased.

Hearty Rations (1st Level) During a short rest, you can prepare meals for a number of creatures up to your proficiency bonus. Those creatures regain the maximum number of hit points from any Hit Dice they spend during that short rest, rather than rolling.

Aether-Infused Broth (5th Level) You learn to cook using the chaotic aether-water of the Unwritten Sea. Over a long rest, you can brew a number of thermos-flasks equal to your Constitution modifier. As a bonus action, a creature can drink from a flask to gain temporary hit points equal to 2d10 + your Cook level. These flasks lose their potency after 24 hours.

Cleaver’s Ward (9th Level) The galley is a dangerous place, and you’ve learned to deflect harm instinctively. While you are holding a knife, cleaver, or similar cooking implement, and are wearing no armor, your Armor Class equals 10 + your Dexterity modifier + your Constitution modifier.

Feast of the Leviathan (13th Level) Once per week, you can spend 4 hours preparing a massive feast. Up to 10 creatures who partake in this feast are cured of all diseases and poisons, have all exhaustion levels removed, and have advantage on all Constitution saving throws for the next 24 hours.

Unbreakable Constitution (17th Level) Your body has endured so many strange ingredients and harsh conditions that it is nigh-indestructible. Whenever you take damage, you can use your reaction to halve the damage against you.

Master of the Galley (20th Level) Your presence on a ship guarantees morale will never break. As long as you are alive and cooking, the ship’s crew is immune to being frightened, and they gain a +10 bonus to their maximum hit points.

The Surgeon

Battles on the high seas are brutal affairs of splintering wood and rending cannonballs. The Surgeon is responsible for triage, patching up the crew, and ensuring that those who fall can stand again.

Level	Feature
1st	Combat Medic, Do No Harm
5th	Alchemical Salves
9th	Evasive Triage
13th	Miraculous Stitching
17th	Aura of Preservation
20th	Master Surgeon

Combat Medic (1st Level) You gain proficiency in the Medicine skill and with the Herbalism Kit. When you use a healer’s kit to stabilize a dying creature, that creature also regains 1 hit point.

Do No Harm (1st Level) You project an aura of neutrality. As long as you have not dealt damage to an enemy creature on your turn, you are under the effects of the Sanctuary spell (save DC = 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier). This effect refreshes at the start of each of your turns, provided you continue to deal no damage.

Alchemical Salves (5th Level) You can spend 1 hour during a long rest brewing medicinal salves. You create a number of salves equal to your Wisdom modifier. As an action, you can apply a salve to a creature to cure them of one disease, neutralize one poison, or end the blinded, deafened, or paralyzed condition.

Evasive Triage (9th Level) Your dedication to reaching the wounded makes you incredibly difficult to pin down. Your walking speed increases by 10 feet. When you take the Dash action, opportunity attacks made against you are made with disadvantage.

Miraculous Stitching (13th Level) If you spend 10 minutes treating a creature that has lost a body part (a finger, an eye, a whole limb) and you have the severed part, you can perfectly reattach it. Alternatively, if a creature has died within the last minute, you can expend three uses of a healer’s kit to cast Revivify without expending a spell slot or material components. Once you use this revivification feature, you cannot do so again until you finish a long rest.

Aura of Preservation (17th Level) Your sheer medical expertise creates a zone of safety. Friendly creatures within 30 feet of you have advantage on death saving throws, and if they roll a 15 or higher on a death saving throw, they regain 1 hit point.

Master Surgeon (20th Level) You have mastered the anatomy of all mortal creatures. As an action, you can touch a creature and restore it to its hit point maximum, curing all ailments, curses, and levels of exhaustion. Once you use this feature, you cannot use it again until you finish a long rest.

The Quartermaster

The Quartermaster handles logistics, distributes the loot, and serves as the intermediary between the Captain and the crew. A good Quartermaster ensures the ship runs like a well-oiled machine and that the crew feels valued.

Level	Feature
1st	Silver Tongue, Manifest Destiny
5th	Valuable Asset
9th	“I Know a Guy”
13th	Morale Officer
17th	Impeccable Ledger
20th	Master of Logistics

Silver Tongue (1st Level) You gain proficiency in Persuasion and Intimidation. When interacting with merchants, port authorities, or rival crews, you have advantage on Charisma checks to negotiate prices or secure passage.

Manifest Destiny (1st Level) You always know exactly what is in the ship’s cargo hold. Once per long rest, if the crew desperately needs a mundane item (a coil of rope, a spyglass, a specific common tool) worth 50 gp or less, you can “find” one buried in the hold, adding it to the party’s inventory.

Valuable Asset (5th Level) The crew instinctively protects the one who signs their paychecks. While you are within 5 feet of an allied creature, you gain a +2 bonus to your Armor Class and saving throws.

“I Know a Guy” (9th Level) Your network of informants and merchants spans the Charted Waters. When you arrive in any port, you can spend 1 hour to locate an individual who can provide specific, highly sensitive information, illegal goods, or a safehouse.

Morale Officer (13th Level) You know exactly what to say to keep the crew fighting. As a bonus action, you can shout words of encouragement. All friendly creatures within 60 feet of you who can hear you gain temporary hit points equal to your Quartermaster level + your Charisma modifier. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Charisma modifier per long rest.

Impeccable Ledger (17th Level) You are immune to being charmed, and magic cannot read your thoughts or determine if you are lying. Additionally, when you use your Manifest Destiny feature, you can “find” a single magical item of Uncommon or Rare rarity, which lasts for 24 hours before you realize it was actually a highly unstable counterfeit that dissolves into dust.

Master of Logistics (20th Level) Your ship operates with terrifying efficiency. The travel time for any voyage your ship undertakes is halved, the cost of mundane ship repairs is reduced to zero, and the crew’s daily ration requirement is halved.

The Navigator

The sea is a treacherous, shifting maze. The Navigator reads the stars, the aether-currents, and the behavior of the Leviathans to chart safe passage where others would find only destruction.

Level	Feature
1st	Master Cartographer, Weather Eye
5th	Evasive Maneuvers
9th	Star-Guided Path
13th	Uncanny Dodge
17th	Predict the Flow
20th	Master Navigator

Master Cartographer (1st Level) You gain proficiency with Navigator’s Tools and Cartographer’s Tools. You have perfect recall of any map you have studied, and you cannot become lost by magical or non-magical means while you can see the sky or the ocean.

Weather Eye (1st Level) You can accurately predict the weather at your location for the next 48 hours. You also have advantage on any ability checks made to steer or command a ship during a storm or hazardous environmental condition.

Evasive Maneuvers (5th Level) Your ability to read the battlefield is as sharp as your ability to read a map. When you are not wearing heavy armor, your Armor Class increases by an amount equal to your Intelligence modifier (minimum of +1).

Star-Guided Path (9th Level) You can spend 10 minutes charting a course for a specific destination. For the next 24 hours, the travel pace of your party or your ship is doubled, and you have advantage on any Wisdom (Survival) checks made to avoid natural hazards or ambushes along that route.

Uncanny Dodge (13th Level) Your spatial awareness is unparalleled. When an attacker that you can see hits you with an attack, you can use your reaction to halve the attack’s damage against you.

Predict the Flow (17th Level) You can read the aetheric currents to see seconds into the future. You have advantage on all Dexterity saving throws, and attack rolls against you have disadvantage as long as you are not incapacitated.

Master Navigator (20th Level) You can chart a course through the fabric of reality itself. Once per week, you can guide your ship through a localized aether-rift, effectively casting the Teleport spell, affecting the entire ship and everyone aboard it.

The Bosun

The Bosun (Boatswain) is the chief engineer and the primary enforcer of discipline on deck. They are tough, pragmatic, and capable of fixing a broken mast with nothing but twine, tar, and sheer willpower.

Level	Feature
1st	Jury-Rigger, Barked Orders
5th	Tough as Nails
9th	Damage Control
13th	Hold the Line
17th	Unstoppable Force
20th	Master Bosun

Jury-Rigger (1st Level) You gain proficiency with Carpenter’s Tools and Tinker’s Tools. You can perform temporary repairs on ships, vehicles, or mechanical objects in half the usual time. During combat, you can use an action to restore 2d10 Hull Points to your ship.

Barked Orders (1st Level) Your voice commands instant obedience. You can use the Help action as a bonus action, provided the creature you are helping can hear you and understand you.

Tough as Nails (5th Level) Your skin is like tanned leather and your bones like ironwood. Bludgeoning, piercing, and slashing damage that you take from non-magical attacks is reduced by 3.

Damage Control (9th Level) When your ship takes damage, you can use your reaction to immediately organize a bucket brigade or brace the hull. Roll a d12 and subtract the result from the damage the ship takes. You can use this feature a number of times equal to your Strength or Constitution modifier per long rest.

Hold the Line (13th Level) You are immovable when you choose to be. You have advantage on any saving throw or ability check to resist being grappled, shoved, or knocked prone. Additionally, your Tough as Nails damage reduction increases to 5, and applies to all damage types except psychic.

Unstoppable Force (17th Level) If you drop to 0 hit points and don't die outright, you can make a DC 10 Constitution saving throw. If you succeed, you drop to 1 hit point instead. Each time you use this feature after the first, the DC increases by 5. When you finish a short or long rest, the DC resets to 10.

Master Bosun (20th Level) Your ship is an extension of your own invincible will. While you are conscious and on board, your ship gains resistance to all damage types, and it cannot be sunk (even if reduced to 0 Hull Points) as long as you remain standing on its deck.

Chapter 29: The Expanse Arsenal

The Shattered Expanse is littered with the technological remnants of the First Captains, the aether-infused weaponry of the Dominion, and the cursed artifacts of the deep ocean. The items presented in this chapter are unique to the Charted Waters and can be used as high-value salvage, faction rewards, or black-market purchases.

1. Dominion Tech

Forged in the industrial foundries of the Crimson Dominion, these items prioritize lethal efficiency, absolute order, and aether-combustion.

Aether-Rifle

Weapon (firearm), rare (requires attunement) Cost: 2,500 gp This heavy, brass-and-iron rifle hums with volatile energy. You gain a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon. It fires concentrated bolts of force rather than physical bullets. - Damage: 2d8 force damage. - Properties: Ammunition (range 100/400), two-handed, reload (6 shots). - Overcharge: As a bonus action, you can overcharge the rifle for your next attack. If the attack hits, it deals an additional 2d8 force damage, but the weapon immediately jams. You must spend an action to vent the aether-steam before the weapon can be fired again.

Inquisitor's Monocle

Wondrous item, uncommon (requires attunement) Cost: 800 gp A brass monocle fitted with a lens carved from raw aether-crystal. While wearing this monocle, you have advantage on Wisdom (Insight) checks to determine if someone is lying. Additionally, the monocle holds 1 charge. You can expend the charge to cast the zone of truth spell (save DC 13). The monocle regains its expended charge daily at dawn.

Ironclad Plating

Armor (half plate), very rare (requires attunement by a creature with a Strength score of 15 or higher) Cost: 12,000 gp This heavy suit of mechanized armor is powered by a small aether-engine mounted on the back. While wearing this armor, you gain a +1 bonus to AC. - Juggernaut: Any critical hit against you becomes a normal hit. - Heavy Machinery: The armor is incredibly loud and unwieldy. You have disadvantage on Dexterity (Stealth) checks and Strength (Athletics) checks made to swim. If you fall into water while wearing this armor, you sink at a rate of 30 feet per round.

2. Consortium Artifacts

Created by the Guildmasters of the Grand Merchant Consortium, these items are designed for securing wealth, enforcing contracts, and moving illicit goods.

The Golden Ledger

Wondrous item, rare Cost: 5,000 gp (Rarely sold, highly illegal to steal) A heavy book bound in gilded leather. If a creature voluntarily signs their name in the ledger, agreeing to a specific debt or contract, the terms become magically binding. If the signer breaks the terms of the contract, the ledger glows red. The oathbreaker is immediately subjected to a curse: they suffer disadvantage on all Charisma checks, and any gold or gems they touch instantly turn into worthless lead. The curse can only be lifted by the owner of the ledger crossing out the signature, or by a remove curse spell cast at 5th level or higher.

Smuggler's Coin

Wondrous item, uncommon Cost: 500 gp This silver coin bears the face of a laughing skull on one side and a blank surface on the other. As an action, you can flip the coin. When you do, a thick cloud of magical, obscuring fog erupts from the coin, heavily obscuring a 10-foot radius centered on you. Simultaneously, you become invisible (as the spell) for 1 minute, or until you attack or cast a spell. The fog lasts for 1 minute or until dispersed by a strong wind. Once used, the coin becomes a mundane piece of silver.

Guildmaster's Signet

Ring, very rare (requires attunement) Cost: 15,000 gp A heavy gold ring bearing the seal of the Consortium. While wearing this ring, your words carry the supernatural weight of absolute authority. - Appraisal: You can use an action to touch an object and instantly know its exact monetary value in the current local market, as well as identify any magical properties it possesses (as the identify spell). - Compel the Market: The ring has 3 charges. You can expend 1 charge as an action to cast the suggestion spell (save DC 16). The ring regains 1d3 expended charges daily at dawn.

3. Deep Magic

Salvaged from the Drowned Silk Houses or the abyssal trenches, these items carry the terrifying cold and predatory nature of the deep ocean.

Black Coral Dagger

Weapon (dagger), rare (requires attunement) Cost: 3,000 gp Carved from a single piece of razor-sharp, obsidian-black coral, this blade seems to drink the light around it. You gain a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with this magic weapon. When you hit a creature with this dagger, the target takes an extra 1d6 cold damage. Furthermore, the freezing necrotic energy prevents healing; the target cannot regain hit points until the start of your next turn.

Abyssal Lure

Wondrous item, uncommon Cost: 600 gp A necklace bearing a small, bioluminescent orb harvested from a deep-sea predator. As an action, you can cause the orb to flare with hypnotic blue light. One beast or monstrosity of your choice that you can see within 30 feet of you must succeed on a DC 13 Wisdom saving throw or become charmed by you for 1 minute. While charmed in this way, the creature is incapacitated and uses all its movement on its turn to move as close to the Lure as possible. The effect ends early if the creature takes any damage. Once used, the Lure cannot be used again until the next midnight.

Cloak of the Deep Mother

Wondrous item, very rare (requires attunement) Cost: 18,000 gp Woven from the silk of abyssal spiders and enchanted by the High Priestesses of the Silk Houses. While wearing this cloak, you can breathe underwater, and you gain a swimming speed of 40 feet. - Ink Cloud Escape: When you take damage, you can use your reaction to magically transform into a cloud of thick, black ink. You take no damage from the triggering attack or effect, and you instantly teleport up to 30 feet to an unoccupied space you can see. Once you use this property, you can't use it again until you finish a long rest.

4. Relics of the First Captains

These items are ancient, highly advanced technology that is often indistinguishable from magic. They are powerful, highly sought after by the Independent Salvagers, and occasionally unstable.

Aegis Shield-Bracer

Armor (shield), rare (requires attunement) Cost: 4,500 gp A sleek, metallic bracer that hums with energy. While wearing this bracer, you can use a bonus action to activate it, causing a disc of crackling blue “hard-light” to project from your wrist. While active, it provides a +2 bonus to AC, leaving your hand free to hold (but not attack with) other items. - Unstable Matrix: When a creature rolls a natural 20 on a melee attack against you while the shield is active, the matrix overloads. You and the attacker both take 3d6 force damage, and the shield deactivates and cannot be used again until you finish a short rest.

Gravity Anchor

Wondrous item, very rare Cost: 20,000 gp A heavy cube of polished white metal, covered in shifting geometric lines. As an action, you can press the activation rune and throw the cube to a point on the ground up to 60 feet away. Upon landing, the cube alters the localized gravity field. For 1 minute, the gravity in a 20-foot-radius cylinder extending 40 feet upward from the cube is completely reversed (as the reverse gravity spell, save DC 16). The cube cannot be moved while active. Once used, the cube goes dormant and cannot be used again until 7 days have passed.

The First Compass

Wondrous item, legendary (requires attunement) Cost: Priceless A perfectly spherical compass made of an unknown, indestructible glass. The needle inside does not point north. Instead, while you hold it, the needle points toward the object, creature, or location you desire most in the world. - The True Path: The compass always shows the most direct route, but not the safest. If the path intersects with a physical barrier (like a mountain or the bottom of the ocean), the needle will point directly through it. - Aetheric Resonance: The compass is highly radioactive with ancient magic. For every 24 hours you remain attuned to it, you must succeed on a DC 15 Constitution saving throw or your hit point maximum is reduced by 1d10. This reduction lasts until you end your attunement to the compass and cast a greater restoration spell on yourself.

Chapter 30: The Bestiary of the Charted Waters

The Shattered Expanse is home to more than just rival pirate crews. Horrific monstrosities lurk in the abyssal depths, ancient machines guard ruined islands, and the empires of the world deploy terrifying weapons of war.

This bestiary provides custom stat blocks tailored to the unique factions and environments of the setting.

The Crimson Dominion

Dominion Inquisitor

Medium humanoid (human), lawful evil Armor Class: 15 (studded leather) Hit Points: 71 (11d8 + 22) Speed: 30 ft.

When the inquisitor hits with any weapon, the weapon deals an extra 1d8 force damage (included in the attack).

Actions

Multiattack: The inquisitor makes two attacks with their Aether-Rifle or their Rapier.

Rapier: Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage plus 4 (1d8) force damage.

Suppressing Fire (Recharge 5-6): The inquisitor fires a barrage of aether-bolts in a 30-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 14 Dexterity saving throw, taking 27 (6d8) force damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one. Any creature that fails the save has its speed halved until the end of its next turn.

Reactions

Parry: The inquisitor adds 3 to its AC against one melee attack that would hit it. To do so, the inquisitor must see the attacker and be wielding a melee weapon.

Actions

Multiattack: The Juggernaut makes two attacks with its Siege Hammer.

Siege Hammer: Melee Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 18 (2d12 + 5) bludgeoning damage. If the target is a creature, it must succeed on a DC 16 Strength saving throw or be knocked prone.

Aether-Vent (Recharge 6): The Juggernaut vents superheated aether-steam from its armor in a 15-foot radius. Each creature in that area must make a DC 15 Constitution saving throw, taking 35 (10d6) fire damage on a failed save, or half as much on a successful one.

The Drowned Silk Houses

Drow Deep-Weaver

Actions

Multiattack: The thrall makes two attacks: one with its bite and one with its claws.

Bite: Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d8 + 3) piercing damage. If the target is a humanoid, it must succeed on a DC 11 Constitution saving throw or contract the Abyssal Rot disease. Crush: The kelp mass deals 23 (4d8 + 5) bludgeoning damage to each creature it is grappling.

Lesser Leviathan Spawn

Bite: Melee Weapon Attack: +10 to hit, reach 10 ft., one target. Hit: 22 (3d10 + 6) piercing damage. If the target is a Large or smaller creature, it is grappled (escape DC 16). Until this grapple ends, the target is restrained, and the spawn can’t bite another target.

Tail: Melee Weapon Attack: +10 to hit, reach 15 ft., one target. Hit: 19 (3d8 + 6) bludgeoning damage.

Swallow: The spawn makes one bite attack against a Large or smaller creature it is grappling. If the attack hits, the target takes the bite’s damage, the target is swallowed, and the grapple ends. While swallowed, the creature is blinded and restrained, it has total cover against attacks and other effects outside the spawn, and it takes 21 (6d6) acid damage at the start of each of the spawn’s turns. If the spawn takes 30 damage or more on a single turn from a creature inside it, the spawn must succeed on a DC 14 Constitution saving throw at the end of that turn or regurgitate all swallowed creatures.

Tidal Breath (Recharge 5-6): The spawn exhales a crushing wave of freezing water in a 60-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a DC 17 Constitution saving throw, taking 45 (10d8) cold damage on a failed save and being pushed 20 feet away and knocked prone. On a successful save, the creature takes half damage and isn’t pushed or knocked prone.

First Captain Relics

Hard-Light Shielding: The automaton has a damage threshold of 10. It takes no damage from an attack or effect that deals 10 or less damage. Unstable Core: When the automaton is reduced to 0 hit points, its aether-core violently ruptures. Each creature within 20 feet of it must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw, taking 28 (8d6) force damage on a failed save, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Actions

Multiattack: The automaton makes two melee attacks.

Slam: Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 13 (2d8 + 4) bludgeoning damage plus 7 (2d6) force damage.

Gravity Pulse (Recharge 6): The automaton stomps the ground, manipulating gravity. Each creature within 30 feet of the automaton must succeed on a DC 15 Strength saving throw. On a failure, the creature takes 22 (4d10) force damage and is thrown 20 feet straight up into the air, falling at the end of the turn and taking falling damage. On a success, the creature takes half damage and isn't thrown.

Chapter 31: The Deep Economy

In the Shattered Expanse, gold is the true god. The Crimson Dominion needs it to fuel their warmachine, the Consortium hoards it, and the Free Captains bleed for it.

This chapter provides a massive framework for running a dynamic mercantile campaign. Instead of just looting dungeons, players can act as privateers or smugglers, buying low, selling high, managing heat with the major factions, and investing their ill-gotten gains into a fully-staffed Pirate Hideout.

1. Trade & Cargo Operations

Cargo in the Shattered Expanse is measured in Units. A Unit represents roughly 1 ton of goods (a stack of crates, several large barrels, or a pallet of ingots).

The Market Fluctuation System

The price of a Unit fluctuates based on the port. To determine the buy/sell price, roll 1d20 on the Market Fluctuation Table when players arrive, or have the GM set the modifier based on the narrative.

1d20	Market Condition	Effect on Price	Narrative Example
1-3	Severe Surplus	Halved (x0.5)	Port just received a massive shipment; goods rotting on docks.
4-8	Mild Surplus	Reduced (x0.75)	Common good; local warehouses are full.
9-13	Stable	Base Value (x1)	Supply meets demand perfectly.
14-18	Shortage	Increased (x1.5)	Trade routes disrupted; locals are worried.
19-20	Desperation	Doubled (x2)	Famine, siege, or plague. They will pay anything.

Expanded Cargo Table (20 Types)

Below are 20 distinct cargo types spanning four tiers of legality and value.

Tier 1: Bulk Goods (Legal everywhere)

Cargo Type	Base Value	Description
Scrap Wood/Iron	50 gp	Basic materials for ship repair. High demand in active warzones.
Hardtack & Rations	100 gp	Standard food supplies. High demand in starving ports.
Fresh Water	120 gp	Crucial for long voyages. Desperation pricing in the deep wastes.
Sailcloth & Rigging	150 gp	Required for repairing masts and sails.

Cargo Type	Base Value	Description
Salt	180 gp	Used for preserving meat and certain arcane rituals.

Tier 2: Refined Goods (Legal, heavily taxed by Consortium)

Cargo Type	Base Value	Description
Aether-Coal	250 gp	Low-grade fuel for industrial engines.
Spices & Herbs	300 gp	Culinary luxuries and medicinal ingredients.
Fine Textiles	400 gp	Silks, velvets, and high-quality leathers.
Iron Cannons	450 gp	Standard naval artillery. Dominion ports will seize these if untaxed.
Medical Supplies	500 gp	Healing kits, bandages, and basic potions.

Tier 3: Luxuries & Contraband (Illegal in some ports, high profit)

Cargo Type	Base Value	Description
Drow Silk	800 gp	Woven by the deep-weavers. Illegal in Dominion space.
Raw Aether-Crystals	1,000 gp	Volatile fuel. Illegal outside of Dominion-sanctioned trade routes.
Abyssal Pearls	1,200 gp	Harvested from deep trenches. Prized by the Silk Houses.
Blackpowder	1,500 gp	Explosives. Highly restricted by the Consortium.
Spell-Gems	2,000 gp	Single-use magical batteries. Heavily regulated by all factions.

Tier 4: Highly Illegal Artifacts (Black Market Only)

Cargo Type	Base Value	Description
Precursor Relic-Tech	3,000 gp	Intact ancient machinery. The Dominion executes anyone holding this.
Leviathan Ivory	4,000 gp	Bone from a Leviathan. The Silk Houses view this as extreme heresy.
Refined Aether-Plasma	5,000 gp	Weapons-grade energy. Selling this invites the wrath of the Grand Inquisitor.
Mind-Flayer Brains	7,500 gp	Used for horrific alchemical experiments.
First Captain's Blood	10,000 gp	A vial of true myth. Priceless to the right buyer, a death sentence if discovered.

2. Heat & Notoriety Mechanics

Trading Tier 3 and Tier 4 goods requires accessing a port’s Black Market (Requires a successful DC 15 Charisma (Investigation) check). However, smuggling comes with risks.

The ship tracks a Heat Score for the three major factions (Dominion, Consortium, Silk Houses). Heat starts at 0 and caps at 100.

- Selling Contraband: +1d10 Heat with the faction that outlaws it.
- Attacking a Faction Ship: +2d10 Heat.
- Sinking a Faction Ship: +4d10 Heat.

Heat Thresholds

Heat Score	Consequence
1-25 (Suspicious)	Faction patrols are twice as likely to stop and search your ship.
26-50 (Wanted)	You are denied entry to any port controlled by this faction. Bounties are posted.
51-75 (Hunted)	The faction actively dispatches Hunter-Killer squadrons (CR 8+) to track you down.

Heat Score	Consequence
76-100 (Public Enemy)	A Faction Leader or Dreadnought is deployed specifically to destroy you. Surrender is no longer an option.

Reducing Heat: Heat naturally decays by 1d10 every month. Players can also reduce Heat rapidly by bribing corrupt officials (1,000 gp per 1 Heat reduced) or by completing dangerous loyalty quests for the faction.

3. The Pirate Base: Upgrades, Retainers, & Upkeep

Players can establish a Hideout (a secluded island cove, an abandoned Silk House structure, or a hollowed-out sea stack). Establishing the basic infrastructure costs 5,000 gp.

A basic Hideout provides Safe Harbor, a Drydock (repairing Hull points for 10gp each), and a secure Stash.

Expanding the Hideout (Tier Upgrades)

The Hideout has a Tier level (starts at Tier 1). Upgrading to the next Tier increases the maximum number of Retainers you can hire and the passive benefits the base provides.

- Upgrade to Tier 2: Costs 15,000 gp. Takes 1 month. Max Retainers: 3.
- Upgrade to Tier 3: Costs 35,000 gp. Takes 2 months. Max Retainers: 6.
- Upgrade to Tier 4: Costs 75,000 gp. Takes 3 months. Max Retainers: 10. Can survive a direct assault by a Dreadnought.

Hiring Retainers

Players can hire highly skilled NPCs to staff their base. Retainers provide powerful mechanical benefits but require a monthly salary. If the salary is not paid, they leave (and might sell your base’s location to the Dominion).

Retainer Type	Monthly Salary	Benefit
Master Shipwright	500 gp	Ship repairs cost 0 gp at the Hideout, requiring only Scrap Wood.
Black Market Fence	800 gp	You can buy/sell Contraband directly at the base. Generates 2d100 gp passive income per month.
Aether-Mage	1,000 gp	Can identify any magical item. Halves the time and gold cost

Retainer Type	Monthly Salary	Benefit
		required to craft magic items at the base.
Information Broker	1,200 gp	Automatically reduces Heat with a chosen faction by 1d10 every month. Provides early warning of Faction blockades.
Master Gunner	1,500 gp	Upgrades the base’s defenses. Grants the Hideout 4 Heavy Cannons (+8 to hit, 4d10 bludgeoning damage) that automatically fire on intruders.
Alchemist	1,000 gp	Generates 1d4 random Potions (up to Rare quality) every month.

Monthly Upkeep

Running a pirate empire is expensive. At the start of every in-game month, the crew must pay Upkeep from their Stash. - Base Upkeep: 500 gp x the Hideout’s Tier. - Retainer Salaries: The sum total of all hired retainers. - Ship Maintenance: 100 gp per ship owned.

If Upkeep is not paid, Retainers desert, the Hideout degrades by 1 Tier, and CrewMorale plummets (see Chapter 32.5).

Chapter 32: The Game Master’s Toolkit

To truly bring the Shattered Expanse to life, a Game Master must constantly inject unpredictability into the campaign. This chapter provides exhaustive, biome-specific roll tables to generate encounters, dynamic rumors, and bizarre black-market loot on the fly.

1. Biome-Specific Maritime Encounters

When the crew is sailing, roll 1d20 on the table corresponding to their current environment.

A. The Shallow Seas (Coastal & Trade Routes)

1d20	Encounter
1-3	Clear Skies: No encounter. The crew makes good time.
4-5	Consortium Convoy: 3 Merchant Cogs guarded by a Corvette. They are paranoid and heavily armed.
6-7	Dominion Customs Check: An Ironclad Cutter demands to board and inspect cargo.
8-9	Rival Pirates: A Free Captain galleon flies a false flag, attempting to get close before firing.
10	Floating Bazaar: A neutral, multi-ship raft city where players can trade cargo or buy rare items.
11-12	Kelp Forest: The ship enters a massive Sargasso sea. Speed is halved, and 1d4 Sentient Kelp Masses (CR 6) attack.
13-14	Reef Graveyard: Sharp coral. DC 15 Water Vehicles check or take 4d10 hull damage.
15	Distress Signal: A lifeboat with 1d4 starving sailors. (50% chance it is a trap by Abyssal Thralls).
16	Merfolk Traders: Friendly aquatic nomads offering to trade pearls for hardtack.
17	The Governor's Yacht: A lavish, lightly defended ship carrying a corrupt official and a fortune in gold.
18	Kraken Hatchling: A juvenile, but still massive, squid tests its tentacles against the hull.
19	Smuggler's Drop: A buoy marking a sunken chest. Contains 1d4 units of Tier 3 Contraband.
20	The Flying Dutchman: A cursed, legendary ghost ship attacks. It cannot be sunk, only outrun.

1d20	Encounter

B. The Deep Abyss (Uncharted & Dangerous)

1d20	Encounter
1-3	Eerie Calm: The ocean is black as glass. No wind. Silence.
4-5	Silk House Ambush: 2d4 Drow Deep-Weavers board the ship at midnight from beneath the waves.
6-7	Ghost Ship: An abandoned vessel drifting aimlessly. Dinner is still warm on the table.
8-9	Bioluminescent Swarm: Millions of glowing jellyfish. Beautiful, but highly acidic to the hull.
10	Precursor Spire: A metallic obelisk juts from the ocean. Emits a low hum that causes minor headaches.
11-12	Whaling Fleet: Highly skilled hunters chasing a massive beast. They offer a bounty if the players help.
13-14	Abyssal Trench: The water pressure inexplicably shifts. The ship is violently pulled toward a whirlpool.
15	Dominion Dreadnought: A massive warship (CR 15) searching for precursor tech. Run and hide.
16	The Deep Mother's Blessing: The ocean turns black, and all damaged ships are instantly repaired (hulls turn to bone).
17	Leviathan Sighting: A true Leviathan breaches miles away. A tidal wave forces a DC 15 Dex save to avoid 4d10 damage.
18	Mind-Flayer Nautiloid: A crashed alien ship floating on the surface. Contains bizarre tech and psychic horrors.

1d20	Encounter
19	Sunken City Rise: For 1 hour, a block of an ancient city rises above the waves before sinking again.
20	Lesser Leviathan Spawn (CR 10): A direct attack by an apex predator.

C. The Aether-Storms (Magical Fallout Zones)

1d20	Encounter
1-3	Green Lightning: All magic spells cast for the next hour trigger a Wild Magic Surge.
4-5	Gravity Inversion: The ocean water floats upward. The ship is lifted into the air for 1 hour before crashing down.
6-7	Blood Rain: Toxic rain falls. Any creature exposed outside takes 1d4 acid damage per minute.
8-9	Time Dilation: The ship sails for what feels like 10 minutes, but 3 days have passed in the outside world.
10	Aether-Rift: The sky tears open. The ship is instantly teleported 1d100 miles in a random direction.
11-12	Crystal Formations: Jagged Aether-Crystals grow rapidly on the hull. Must be chipped off carefully (DC 15 Dex) or they explode.
13-14	Shadow Copies: The storm creates hostile, shadowy duplicates of the crew that board the ship.
15	The Silence: All sound ceases to exist for 24 hours. Spellcasting with Verbal components is impossible.

1d20	Encounter
16	Rogue Aegis Automaton (CR 7): A precursor machine, activated by the storm, descends from the clouds.
17	Memory Fog: Visibility drops to zero. Crew members must save vs Wisdom or forget the last year of their lives.
18	Storm-Lords: Elementals of pure Aether clash in the sky above. Their stray attacks might hit the ship.
19	The Golden Wind: A miraculously beneficial storm. The ship's speed is tripled and all crew heal to maximum HP.
20	The Eye of the Gods: A massive, unblinking eye opens in the storm clouds and stares directly at the Captain. Gain 1 permanent madness, but learn 1 cosmic secret.

2. Dynamic Rumor Generator (1,000 Combinations)

Instead of a static list, roll 1d10 on each of the three columns below to generate a unique rumor heard in a tavern.

1d10	Who (The Subject)	What (The Action)	Where (The Location)
1	The Grand Inquisitor	was secretly assassinated	in the dungeons of Port Vengeance.
2	A Silk House Matron	discovered a massive gold hoard	beneath a dormant volcano.
3	The Consortium CEO	is building a super-weapon	at the edge of the map.
4	A legendary pirate ghost	summoned a Leviathan	inside a floating bazaar.
5	The Governor	is smuggling Aether-Crystals	in a sunken precursor ruin.

1d10	Who (The Subject)	What (The Action)	Where (The Location)
6	A mutinous crew	awakened a sleeping god	disguised as a merchant cog.
7	A Mind-Flayer	is trading secrets for blood	at the bottom of an abyssal trench.
8	The King's bastard son	stole a Dreadnought	right under the navy's nose.
9	A crazed Aether-Mage	opened a portal to the Abyss	inside the belly of a dead whale.
10	The First Captains	are returning from the dead	to reclaim their lost armada.

3. Modular Black Market Loot (1,000 Combinations)

Roll 1d10 on each column to generate a bizarre, highly illegal item found for sale (Cost: 1d4 x 500 gp).

1d10	Condition	Item	Quirk / Flaw
1	A blood-stained	Consortium Trade License	that smells faintly of sulfur.
2	A perfectly forged	vial of Leviathan blood	that whispers when you hold it.
3	A glowing blue	nav-compass	that only points toward danger.
4	A skeletal	Aether-Rifle	that requires HP instead of ammo to fire.
5	An intricately carved	set of loaded dice	that causes minor earthquakes on a 6.
6	A precursor-metal	spyglass	that lets you see 1 minute into the past.
7	A violently vibrating	jar of medical salve	that heals wounds but turns skin transparent.

1d10	Condition	Item	Quirk / Flaw
8	A heavily restricted	ledger of blackmail	written entirely in a dead language.
9	A surprisingly heavy	parrot (living)	that constantly insults the Dominion.
10	A still-beating	heart in a jar	that can revive one dead creature, once.

Chapter 33: The Living World

To surpass standard roleplaying campaigns, the Shattered Expanse must feel alive. The world does not wait for the players to act. The factions are actively fighting a war, the crew has their own psychological limits, and the depths of the ocean hold infinitely changing horrors.

This chapter provides three advanced GM frameworks: The Faction Turn, Crew Morale, and Procedural Precursor Ruins.

1. The Faction Turn

The Faction Turn occurs between game sessions (or at the start of every in-game month). The GM resolves this turn to simulate the active war between the Crimson Dominion, the Silk Houses, and the Consortium.

Faction Assets & Action Points

Each major faction possesses a pool of Action Points (AP) equal to 1d4 + 2 each turn. The GM spends these points to take actions that actively alter the game world.

Faction Action	AP Cost	Effect
Establish Blockade	2	The faction blockades a specific port. All cargo buy/sell prices there are Doubled, but entry requires sneaking past a CR 10 fleet.
Bounty / Inquisition	1	The faction targets a specific NPC or the Players. Bounty hunters (CR 6+) are dispatched to their current location.

Faction Action	AP Cost	Effect
Technological Leap	3	The faction upgrades their fleet. For the next month, all their ships have +2 AC and deal +1d10 damage on broadsides.
Covert Sabotage	1	The faction damages a rival's infrastructure. One randomly chosen port loses its Shipyard or Black Market for a month.
Major Offensive	4	The faction launches an all-out assault on a rival territory. Resolves via a contested 1d20 roll between the factions. The winner claims the port.

By using the Faction Turn, the GM ensures the map is constantly shifting. A port the players relied on for cheap Aether-Coal might suddenly be occupied by the Dominion, forcing the players to adapt.

2. Crew Morale & Mutiny

The crew of a pirate ship is a powder keg. Instead of treating them as mindless robots, the GM tracks a ship-wide Morale Score, ranging from 1 to 10 (starting at 5).

Modifying Morale

The Captain's actions directly impact the crew's psychology.

Morale Increases (+1) when: - The crew is paid a bonus (at least 100 gp per crew member). - The ship wins a major naval battle without taking Hull damage. - The Captain successfully defies or embarrasses a major faction.

Morale Decreases (-1) when: - The crew's Monthly Upkeep is not paid. - The ship retreats from a battle. - Over 25% of the crew is killed in a single encounter. - The ship spends more than a week in the Aether-Storms or Deep Abyss.

Morale Effects Table

Morale Score	Crew State	Mechanical Effect
9 - 10	Fanatical	The ship gains +2 to Initiative and all Cannon attacks have

		Advantage.
7 - 8	Confident	The ship gains +1 to Initiative.
4 - 6	Neutral	No effect.
2 - 3	Disgruntled	The ship suffers -2 to Initiative. Actions in naval combat take twice as long.
1	Mutinous	At the start of the next day, the crew attempts a Mutiny.

The Mutiny Event

If Morale drops to 1, the Quartermaster and Bosun lead an armed uprising. The players must either fight their own crew (using Swarm mechanics) or the Captain must make a highly contested DC 20 Charisma (Intimidation or Persuasion) check to talk them down. If the players lose, they are marooned on the nearest uncharted island, and their ship is stolen.

3. Procedural Precursor Ruins

The Shattered Expanse is littered with the sunken husks of an ancient, hyper-advanced civilization. These are not standard dungeons. GMs can generate an infinite number of these “Aether-Ruins” on the fly using the modular system below.

Step 1: The Ruin’s Function (1d6)

Determine what the crashed spacecraft was originally used for. This dictates the visual theme. 1. Dreadnought: Heavily armored, filled with inactive weapon silos. 2. Medical Frigate: Sterile white hallways, terrifying biological experiments in stasis. 3. Terraformer: Overgrown with bioluminescent, alien flora. 4. Prison Barge: Cell blocks holding mummified things that should not exist. 5. Aether-Refinery: Highly volatile. Green plasma arcs across the corridors. 6. Command Nexus: Filled with holographic maps of galaxies that no longer exist.

Step 2: The Anomaly (1d6)

Precursor ruins are broken. The laws of physics do not apply normally inside them. 1. Zero Gravity: Players have a fly speed equal to their walking speed, but all melee attacks are made with disadvantage unless anchored. 2. Time Loop: Every 10 minutes, the dungeon resets. Doors close, traps re-arm, but enemies retain memory of the players. 3. Flesh-Blight: The metal walls are covered in breathing, organic meat that tries to absorb the players. 4. Absolute Darkness: Magical light only illuminates half its normal radius. Non-magical light is instantly snuffed out. 5. Magnetic Fluctuations: Anyone wearing heavy metal armor has their movement speed halved. 6. Silent Protocol: No sound can be produced in the ruin. Spellcasting requiring Verbal components is impossible.

Step 3: The Guardian (1d6)

Something survived the crash, or something moved in after. 1. Rogue Aegis Automaton (CR 7): Still following its original security programming. 2. Aether-Lich (CR 12): An undead precursor captain fueled by raw green energy. 3. Abyssal Hive: 4d6 Abyssal Thralls have turned the engine room into a nesting ground. 4. The Mimic-Ship: The ruin is not a ship. The entire structure is a colossal Mimic (CR 15). 5. Holographic AI: A mad computer that controls the ship’s internal defense turrets and blast doors. 6. First Captain Revenant (CR 10): A legendary pirate who died trying to loot this place, now cursed to guard it.
